Americans in Cuba.
Russia and the Vatican.
Beware of Land Sharks.
Canal-Building Family.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

AMERICAN and British citizens, held unlawfully in Cuba, create a situation disturbing to Cuba, to this country and to England especially. Under the Monroe Doctrine, the United States must protect British citizens, or, failing that, permit England to take necessary measures.

It is to be hoped that Cuba's good judgment will be able to deal with the situation.

ROME REPORTS that the Vatican, at Mussolini's suggestion, is negotiating with Soviet Russia for a modus vivendi which would make friendly relations possible through fair treatment of Roman Catholics in Russia.

Mussolini proposes friendly and business relations with Russia, and appreciates the importance of arrangements acceptable to the Vatican, Italy being overwhelmingly Catholic.

RUSSIA IS building a plant to produce one hundred and fifty million meters of moving picture film a year. It is to be surrounded with gardens, insuring cleanliness, and workers will take a shower bath and put on silk overalls before going to work. Dust is fatal to good film manufacture.

Russia appreciates the value of moving pictures; in education, and in violent energy, at least, Russia sets an example to old-fashioned countries, forever predicting Russia's downfall. What Russians want, they proceed to make.

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE warns you against land sharks seeking to swindle investors in connection with so-called "Muscle Shoals investments."

You are told that nothing is contemplated that would increase Muscle Shoals land values. Don't buy land that you have not SEEN, or pay $1,000 a lot for land that may be worth $40 an acre, or less. Look, investigate, question.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is expected to put through the canal linking the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean and give the farmers of the Middle West and the Mississippi Valley cheap water transportation for their products to the East and to Europe. You may reasonably hope that each Roosevelt as he comes to the presidency will build his own memorial canal.

Theodore Roosevelt set the example with the Panama Canal and will always be thanked for it. If Franklin D. Roosevelt follows now with the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways the precedent will be established and each of the future Roosevelts entering the White House may be expected to dig a fine canal somewhere, and soon make the nation "water-conscious."

THE COUNTESS of Oxford and Asquith, widow of the former prime minister of England, although she has fallen out with David Lloyd George, still thinks him "the most nimble-minded, spontaneous, fascinating man" she has ever met. She says so in a new book.

Lloyd George is a great deal more than all that. It is well to remind the not-too-grateful British nation, occasionally, that if there had been no Lloyd George, there might now be a "former British empire," ruled by one of the Kaiser's sons.

Lloyd George and Clemenceau, best fighting types of the Nordic and Latin races, won that big war. It would have been lost without them.

A GENTLEMAN, who says he "represents America's domestic servants" and can be located in any important employment agency, asks:

"Why don't you say something to help the domestic servants that are the miserable slaves of the rich?'

Some of the rich imagine that they are the "miserable slaves of domestic servants." Both sides may be wrong.

Kind-hearted ladies have planned a servants' NRA code, under which domestic servants would get $30 a month. The majority of "domestics" will not thank the ladies for that. In any employment agency if you should offer one of the well-dressed ladies $30 a month you would see registered such scorn as few Hollywood ladies could register.

RAILROADS will issue mileage books charging two and seven-tenths cents per mile. Compared with the basic rate of three and six-tenths cents, that is progress. But the price is not low enough to compete with passenger automobile travel.

This writer lent one small sedan to a friend, who drove from Southern New Jersey to Niagara Falls and back by a round-about way. The trip of more than 1,000 miles cost, for gas and oil, $12.40 for a party of five, or about one-quarter of a cent per passenger mile.

FOUR EMPLOYES, bound for California, wanted to see the country, and the writer lent them a sedan of another make. Going by way of Tucson, Ariz., the trip of 3,000 miles cost, for gas and oil, less than fifty dollars. The car would have carried five, for the same cost.

That one round trip saved more than the retail cost of the car in railroad and Pullman costs. The same car has made that trip twice since, plus two round trips to Miami. Other small cars can do as well.

But railroads, when management wakes up, employing Diesel engines and light equipment, at

U. S. TO BACK HUGE RAIL PURCHASE PROGRAM

Business to Gain By Plan; Corporation Heads Called

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt today called in the heads of four steel companies to talk business on a reduction in the price of steel rails, with a view to facilitating employment in the steel industry by the placing of orders by the railroads.

President Roosevelt expected that the price of steel rails would be reduced to make it possible for the railroads to buy heavily on federal loans, thus furnishing without delay a new stimulus to business recovery.

UNLIMITED LOANS

The administration is planning to proceed under a section of the Industrial Recovery Act which empowers it to aid in financing "such railroad maintenance and equipment as may be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission as desirable for the improvement of transportation facilities."

There is no limitation in the law on the amount which the government may allocate to this purpose from the total of $3,300,000,000 appropriated for public works, and indications today were the administration was prepared to make the advance as substantial as the condition of the railroads will permit.

LEADERS CALLED

Reduction of rail prices has been under discussion between administration leaders and steel men for some time. Negotiations are understood to have come to a head about the time of last week's meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute in New York with NRA officials.

Government economists regard revival of "capital goods" industries as essential to recovery.

'BUY NOW' PLAN PUSHED BY NRA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—As a new idea today stimulated President Roosevelt's campaign to provide needed credit for NRA industries and raise the former's income to the price level of things he must buy, Gen. Hugh S. Johnson was reported to have canvassed thoroughly every phase of the campaign for industrial stability.

Gen. Johnson expects to return to his desk tomorrow and, as one of the early moves, to call for a gigantic buying campaign under the Blue Eagle to support employers in their efforts to raise wages and increase employment.

This appeal to the country to buy "to the limit of prudent needs" has been promised industry by the administrator, but it has been delayed until he believed the time opportune.

Officials indicated the plea for greater consumption would go out about October 1.

PICKETS BALK 'HOLIDAY' END

The first move of miners "on holiday" to return to work in the Pittsburgh district, was blocked today by pickets.

Three hundred and fifty diggers of No. 3 mine, of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, at Mollenauer, following a meeting yesterday, were ready to enter the pit at 6 a. m. today when they were persuaded to remain out by hundreds of pickets from other mines.

Meanwhile Patrick T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers, and Philip Murray, international vice president, returned from the code hearings at Washington prepared to wage an intensive campaign to induce the men to go to their jobs by Octo-

Kerr Asks Council For $750,000 Loan

City Controller James P. Kerr today requested Council to borrow $750,000, not to extend beyond 1933, to meet immediate demands. The city's financial condition is "very good" the Controller stated in a letter accompanying an ordinance authorizing the loan, but owing to lack of tax payments, a "temporary emergency exists."

Lewis Says Action to Mean Recognition Of Union

Today's developments in the miners' "holiday":

1—NRA announces H. C. Frick Coke Company has entered negotiations to sign coal code. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, sees recognition of union if code is accepted by Frick.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—NRA officials today said negotiations were under way for the adherence of the H. C. Frick Coke Company to the coal code and that a definite announcement would probably be made shortly.

Employes of the Frick company's mines in Western Pennsylvania have been on strike almost two weeks, demanding that the company sign a contract with the United Mine Workers of America.

NRA officials said there was no disposition on the part of the Frick concern, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation and producing coal for the corporation's mills, to fight against joining the coal industry under the Blue Eagle, but the company was seeking an understanding with the

Girls Seek Record Held by Mrs. Thaden

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Viola Gentry, of Brooklyn, and Mary Sanson, of Hartford, Conn., announced today they would attempt to break the women's record of eight days and four hours for refueling endurance flight. They said they would take off from Floyd Bennett Airport on October 7, or as soon thereafter as the weather is favorable.

The women's refueling endurance record is held by Frances Marsalis and Louise Thaden.

2nd Tragedy Strikes Giant Star's Home

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 25—(AP.—Mrs. Johnny Vergez, wife of the New York-Giants' third baseman, was reported by her physician to have "a fair chance" for recovery here today after losing her second child, an infant daughter.

The baby, Dr. William Mills, attending physician said, died at birth yesterday. The first child, a boy, died at the age of one month about one and a half years ago.

NAB EX-CHIEF IN FRAUD AS WIFE TELLS

'Other Woman' Among Six Held Here in Insurance Hoax

Charged with defrauding insurance companies of $2,750 through fake claims, Ray Platt, former police chief of Ben Avon, three other men and two women were arrested today when Platt's wife turned informer because of another woman.

Those held beside Platt are William O'Dowski, 22, of 298 Thirty-ninth street; his brother, Herman, 21; his sister, Esther O'Dowski, of 7415 Brighton road, Ben Avon; Bernard Christensen, 39, and Mrs. Helen Christensen, 32, of 7415 Brighton road, Ben Avon.

They were arrested by Inspector Frank R. Boyd and Detectives George Brubach and Andrew Carciere after Mrs. Platt had accused her husband to District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

'THEN HE'S MINE!'

Brubach said Mrs. Platt informed him that her husband had been keeping company with Esther O'Dowski. When she complained, Brubach says, the O'Dowski girl told her:

"I'll give you one week to win him back. If you can't do it in that time, then he's mine."

Mrs. Platt failed, then went to the District Attorney's office.

Inspector Boyd said all those involved had confessed that they had faked an accident in Lowries Run road early this year. Of $2,500 paid in claims, Esther O'Dowski received $1,700 and Mrs. Christensen $800, according to Boyd.

LOSES 4 TEETH

The only remuneration Platt received was the loss of four teeth when he was bumped against the windshield of the car, he told the inspector.

Mrs. Platt accused her husband of having abandoned their car in December, 1932, and of having collected $250 after reporting it stolen, according to Boyd.

TURNER BREAKS FLIGHT MARK

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Col. Roscoe Turner, speed flier, hung up a new West-East transcontinental record today, racing his swift plane at times to 315 miles an hour to cross the country in 10 hours and 5½ minutes.

The wheels of Turner's ship touched the flying field at 11:43½ a. m. Eastern Standard time. The previous record of 10 hours and 19 minutes was held by James Haizlip.

A severe headache, coupled with rough and windy weather and fog, caused Turner to abandon his previously announced plan to attempt a return flight to the coast today.

Turner said he averaged 275 miles an hour and that he might have done better if he had not been compelled to alter his course several times because of storm and low ceilings.

Film Actress' Check Jails 2 Solicitors

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A hundred dollars solicited from Marie Dressler, the actress, caused the arrest of Edith Douglass and Edward Forester. They were held in $500 bail for hearing Thursday on a charge of soliciting funds without a license.

Miss Douglas, who received the check from Miss Dressler, told the actress the funds were to go to the "East Side free kitchen."

Payless Police 'Strike' In West Va. City

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—An invasion of panhandlers and beggars and the robbery of a house five blocks from City Hall were reported today after police refused to walk their beats because City Council suspended their pay.

Council says the city has no money for current needs as a result of a Supreme Court decision stipulating that old debts must be paid before money can be spent for expenses.

The police are remaining on duty at the station for emergency calls only. Firemen are still on the job.

Because the county is doubtful about having sufficient money to pay the cost of feeding its prisoners, Sheriff Charles T. Hickman released 14 who were serving sentences in the County Jail for minor violations.

Twenty-six remain in jail, exclusive of eight federal prisoners. This is the lowest number in many years.

On the Advisability Of Minding One's Own Business

PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT once said that Americans should always remember that there are two coasts to this country, the Atlantic Coast and the Pacific Coast.

Not only should our people always remember this, but other peoples—particularly our friends in Japan—should not neglect to realize it.

Gen. Araki recently complained that the American "Atlantic Fleet" was now located in the Pacific, and the General sought to construe this as a threat against Japan.

Gen. Araki is going far out of his way in a diligent effort to find something with which to disturb himself and to seek to disturb his people.

THE UNITED STATES has no Atlantic Fleet and has no Pacific Fleet.

It has a fleet—and a thoroughly inadequate one—which is sometimes in the Atlantic and sometimes in the Pacific oceans—sometimes patrolling one of our two coasts, sometimes the other.

It is not our policy to divide our small fleet.

We at least have rudimentary intelligence enough not to make our inadequate fleet still more inadequate by cutting it in half.

We keep it together to make it as impressive and effective as an inadequate and antiquated fleet can be.

WE EXHIBIT it sometimes on our East Coast and sometimes on our West Coast, not as a menace to any nation, but as an interesting and educational antique—much as Mr. Ford exhibits in his factory the primitive contraptions which antedated the modern automobile.

We take pride in the fact that our Navy really was a great and glorious Navy at one time, before the Republican Party, led by those doubtless well meaning but surely short sighted statesmen, Senator Borah and Justice Hughes ruined it to please our Pacifists, and satisfy those of our international bankers who are fiscal agents for foreign powers.

We feel a patriotic thrill in the ancient glories of our Navy, and we are a little sensitive about the fact that this arm of our defense which has always been our special pride and our sure reliance is now a good generation behind the times, and valuable chiefly as a historical relic.

WE INTEND to take such satisfaction as we can out of our honorable and venerable Navy, and to move it around to our West Coast or our East Coast as we please.

England does not mind when our Navy is on our East Coast. England only impudently objects to our building a modern Navy.

She does not care what we do with our ancient relic.

Even Sir John Simon has not the stupid effrontery to object to where we locate that or what we do with it.

So Japan must not mind either.

In fact, we sort of feel that even if we had a good modern Navy, fully equipped and fully manned, as Japan has, we would still be privileged to move it to our East Coast or our West Coast as we saw fit, thereby exercising our will and authority as an independent and not altogether inconsequential nation.

WHEREFORE, if we had such a good Navy and maneuvered it on the East Coast, and England objected, we would say with some emphasis that we were entirely within our American rights and such matters were none of England's business.

And if we had a good modern Navy and maneuvered it on our West Coast, and Japan objected, we would probably say very much the same thing politely but firmly to Japan.

In fact, we think that nations, like individuals, get along best by minding their own business—and

POLICE HUNT ELIZABETH CASHIER

Disappears After 17 Years of Service; 'Kind to a Fault'

For 17 years, Miss Hazel Weigel, "generous to a fault," was a welcome fixture at the State Bank of Elizabeth.

At 43, she was assistant cashier, popular with the bank's clientele and noted for her kindnesses.

Today she and $7,300 of the bank's funds were missing.

And a warrant for her arrest was prepared, based on an information sworn to by B. E. Wylie, president of the bank. Police throughout the state are watching for her. She is charged with embezzlement.

TOWNSPEOPLE AMAZED

In Elizabeth today the townspeople were amazed at the disappearance. They remembered the assistant cashier's many examples of generosity, of how she had taken care of her elderly mother, who died a few years ago.

And an audit of her accounts at the bank indicated that her generosity was expensive. Her bond covers the missing sum, Cashier L. M. Beatty said.

Bank accountants were examining the books last Friday when Miss Weigel announced she was going to the postoffice to collect a package of currency mailed the bank.

DEPARTS IN AUTO

The package contained $3,000. She receipted for the sum at the postoffice and soon after was seen leaving town in her runabout in the direction of Pittsburgh, the authorities reported.

Besides the $3,000 collected at the postoffice, $4,300 was missing at he bank, Beatty said. This money was taken from time to time in small sums, it was said.

Miss Weigel lived alone in a modest house in Pangburn Hollow, two miles from Elizabeth. Of her President Wylie said:

"Her trouble, I believe, was kindness. She had quite a reputation in welfare circles and she gave a good bit away. She was very kind to everybody."

'BUCK' CROUSE SETTLES SUIT

The $100,000 suit of Albert (Buck) Crouse, former boxer, against Louis A. Park, wealthy Sewickleyite, was settled today for $2,000.

Crouse alleged that Park had promised him $100,000 if he would give up the ring and serve Park as a physical instructor and companion.

Remarks made by Crouse in the courtroom resulted in a mistrial when the case was tried two months ago. While a jury was being picked for another trial today, Park's counsel, T. F. Ryan, settled the case, because, he said, it was "cheaper than a trial."

Senator Copeland Robbed in Erie

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 25.—(INS.)—United States Senator Royal S. Copeland reported to police today that a sneak thief took $400 from him and $65 from his secretary while he slept in his hotel suite here last night.

The thief took Senator Copeland's trousers, but dropped them in the hallway of the floor below.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS OPEN NEW DRIVE FOR INFLATION

GROUP CALLS ON ROOSEVELT, WALLACE

President Declared 'Co-operative' By Leaders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A program for rehabilitation of agriculture, including restoration of the farmers' dollar to help pay their debts, was placed before President Roosevelt today by a group of farm organization leaders.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who headed the group, said:

"We found the President very co-operative."

O'Neal previously had told newspapermen, after the group called on Secretary Wallace, that the delegation favored "inflation without delay to help the farmers get fair prices."

After calling on the President the group said in a formal statement:

"Farmers do not ask for 'cheap money,' but they do protest against the unfairness and continued injustice of 'dear money,' and they do demand 'honest money' so that, in the words of President Roosevelt, 'those who have borrowed will, on the average, be able to repay that money in the same kind of money which they borrowed.'"

Government Starts Series Of Relief Measures

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(INS.)—The administration today started a series of emergency relief measures surpassing anything except those of war days.

First came the details making effective the program of cotton loans. While the government is prepared to take up the entire 8,000,000 bales of cotton in the hands of growers, there were definite indications that it hopes this program may be curtailed.

Should cotton prices go beyond the government offer of 10 cents a pound, the problem will automatically solve itself. Growers would sell their crop on the market for the larger price.

Should cotton fall below the hoped-for sale, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace admits the government will be left "holding the bag."

OPERATIONS EXTENDED

Meanwhile, without definite official announcement, the extension of government operations to other major agricultural products, looking to normal prices, was under way.

The last of the government purchases of hogs will be disposed of by the end of the week. Already consideration is being given to some form of curtailment of future hog production. Coupled with it is expected some announcement for government intervention in the corn market.

To relieve the enormous surpluses now on hand, of various agricultural commodities, at least two specific moves have been made.

1—Recognition of Russia, on a distinct commercial basis by which the government could dispose of some of its stocks, or aid producers to do so, became definitely possible, in the near future.

2—The government, on an even larger scale than before, plans to allocate the surplus stocks it has acquired, among the state relief agencies, as it has done with its pork purchases.

CUBA NEARING SETTLEMENT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

HAVANA, Sept. 25.—Cuba's political problems neared a solution today as President Grau San Martin and oppositionists approached an agreement on a compromise government.

International News Service learned exclusively from a high authority that the government demands retention of Grau San Martin in the presidency, but is willing to divide cabinet posts with opposition elements.

'REBEL' APPEARS

Meanwhile Juan Blas Hernandez, veteran revolutionary leader who had been sought by government troops in Camaguey and Santa Clara provinces, unexpectedly put in an appearance at the presidential palace today, accompanied by his three sons.

Blas Hernandez denied he had led men in revolt against the new Cuban regime and said that on the contrary he unqualifiedly approves the administration of President Ramon Grau San Martin. He laughed at reports circulated earlier that he was being brought to Havana in chains.

'BUY NOW' PLAN GIVEN IMPETUS

was evolved at a White House conference attended by Mr. Roosevelt's financial advisers, but none would disclose the elements of the plans agreed upon. Secretaries Woodin, Wallace and Attorney General Cummings headed the group that gathered in the President's study last night, exchanged notes, and then worked out the new line of attack.

With the increase in farm prices lagging still behind the cost of commodities the farmer must have, it was indicated that methods of releasing funds in the closed state and national banks of rural communities furnished an important topic of the White House discussion.

Behind this lay the weeks-old problem of inducing the banks to extend loans to commercial enterprises operating under the Blue Eagle. The whole subject was reviewed in detail with the result that the administration, in effect, today told the bankers that the government's billions were ready to help banks give the industries of their communities the credit needed to increase employment.

It was learned authoritatively that the late night gathering discussed at length the co-ordination of four prime federal agencies into a systematic plan intended to release deposits tied up in closed banks and place banks already operating upon a sound basis.

Under this scheme the RFC would rehabilitate a bank's capital structure by purchasing new issues of preferred stock; the farm credit and home loan administrations would replace slow real estate mortgage assets with their readily salable bonds, and the Deposit Guaranty Corporation would guarantee the funds of new depositors.

Meanwhile, the public works administration, promising renewed pressure for greater cash expenditures, announced that it had approved projects which would provide 1,300,000 man weeks of quick-direct employment. It said $1,600,000,000 of its $3,300,000,000 had been allotted, though only $59,139,756 has been drawn from the Treasury for real expenditure.

Pittsburgh Stores Report Big Increase in Sales

Sharp gains were reported in dollar retail sales of almost all groups in Pittsburgh during August, according to the Bureau of Business Research, University of Pittsburgh.

August sales of 504 stores were 33.9 per cent above July and 36.1 per cent more than August, last year. Sales of 10 Pittsburgh department stores exceeded July by 55.2 per cent, and bettered August a year ago by 46.2 per cent. A 10 per cent increase in August over July was reported by 57 local wholesalers. This represented a 53 per cent gain over August of last year.

N. J. EXCHANGE BAR DENIED

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Vice Chancellor Alfred J. Stein today denied application of the City Centre Corporation for a permanent injunction restraining the city of Newark from leasing the Centre Market to the New Jersey Stock Exchange.

The decision clears the way for work, already begun, to prepare the market building for use by the exchange October 3.

Meanwhile in New York stock exchange members were making preparations to transfer part of their business to the New Jersey Stock Exchange.

It was also suggested in Wall street that if the city cancelled or modified its tax emergency program, as it applies to Wall street, the plans for flight to New Jersey might be abandoned. Mayor O'Brien was scheduled to hold a final hearing this afternoon on the brokers' taxes and make known the city's decision.

VOTE MACHINE QUIZ TO OPEN

The committee investigating the partial failure of voting machines at the primary last Tuesday will hold its first meeting tomorrow, its chairman, Senator Frank J. Harris, announced today.

The committee will be organized in the County Commissioners' conference room at 1:30 p. m. and will hear as its first witness Maj. William T. Rees, director of the Department of Elections.

Mechanics from Rees' department will be called to tell what mechanical defects, if any, they found in the machines.

The committee has full authority to fix responsibility, Senator Harris said.

A state inspection of the voting machines by a committee appointed by Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish will begin October 3.

P. S. C. INQUIRY GIVEN OFFICIAL BURIAL

Probe Caused Pinchot Fight With G. O. P.; Data Returned

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The Senate Public Utility Investigation, center of a three-year battle between Gov. Pinchot and Republican organization leaders, was formally buried today.

Franklin Spencer Edmonds, chief counsel, presided at the obsequies, returning to individuals and corporations the huge stacks of exhibits deposited with the committee.

KILLED BY VETO

Injunction suits halted the committee's hearings last year and, after several informal sessions this year, the investigation was killed when Pinchot vetoed a Senate resolution which would have continued it.

Created to inquire into Pinchot charges that the Public Service Commission was the "cat's paw" of utility companies, the investigation was pursued by several groups amid the turbulence of recurring charges and countercharges by Pinchot and Senate leaders.

The principal result of the inquiry was the McClure act, passed by the 1933 Legislature and signed by Pinchot, strengthening the State Public Service company law and giving the commission greater control over utility rate increases, securities, holding companies and appliance sales.

OUSTED KING

In the midst of the dispute, which began as Pinchot started his second term as Governor in January, 1931, the Governor obtained control of the commission. Five of his appointees are now members—Chairman C. Jay Goodnough, George Woodruff, P. Stephen Stahlnecker, Frederick P. Gruenberg and Herman J. Goldberg. None has been confirmed by the Senate which, under a recent Supreme Court decision, is expected to accept or reject the appointees at the special legislative session to be called in November.

At the climax of his fight for control of the commission, the Governor obtained a Supreme Court ruling ousting his former friend and right hand man, Dr. Clyde L. King, from the chairmanship to which Pinchot had named him. In other high spots of the drive, the Governor forced the resignation of former Chairman W. D. B. Ainey and Commissioner Emerson L. Collins.

Edmonds, who directed the dispersal of the investigating committee's documents, succeeded Oliver K. Eaton, Pittsburgh. Eaton resigned early this year after clashing with Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, over resuming hearings and extending the scope of the investigation.

SUNDAY SPORTS LAW FACING COURT TEST

Sabbath Association Says Act Violates Constitution

International News Service.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Sunday sports in Pennsylvania, a legislative bugbear for more than a century, faced a gauntlet of court litigation today.

Challenging the constitutionality of the act which makes Sabbath baseball and football almost a certainty after next November 7, officers of the Huntingdon County Sunday School Association filed a bill in equity here, demanding an injunction to restrain County Commissioners from printing and distributing ballots to determine the will of the electorate in the issue.

The action constitutes the first test of the law's validity.

VOTE IN NOVEMBER

The act, approved by Gov. Gifford Pinchot last April 23, permits the two Sunday sports in municipalities where the majority of the voters give approval. It provides that the question shall be submitted to referendum at the coming election.

The plaintiffs cited five reasons why the act violates the Pennsylvania Constitution, chief among them being the allegation that it comes under the classification of a local or special law which the General Assembly has no right to enact.

It is further contended in the complaint that the Sunday sports act is unconstitutional and void because it constitutes "a delegation by the Legislature of its law-making power" to the electors of each political subdivision apart from another.

CITE CONSTITUTION

Other citations of its unconstitutionality were:

"1—No law shall be revived, amended or the provisions thereof extended or conferred, by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revived, extended or conferred shall be re-enacted and published at length.

"2—No bill, except general appropriations, shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title."

The plaintiffs contended that as taxpayers they "would be illegally subjected to great loss and irreparable injury by reason of their being required to make payment of money in taxes in order to make payment of the cost and expense of the printing of the ballots."

Judge Thomas F. Bailey will preside at the hearing when the date is fixed.

VET SHOW HELD IN WILKINSBURG

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Wilkinsburg held another show in the Rowland Theater yesterday in defiance of the blue law of 1794 and its new champion, Acting Burgess John H. Rhodes.

Burgess Rhodes, who caused the arrest of Richard Brown and four assistants two weeks ago, said he hadn't decided what he intended to do about it. He indicated he was awaiting a decision from Justice of the Peace George B. Shields, before whom the theater employes were arraigned. That decision was expected today.

The enforcement of the blue law is the outgrowth of Wilkinsburg's heated primary in which Rhodes and William P. Yocum, former commander of the veterans, were rival candidates on the Republican ticket.

Rhodes won the nomination but Yocum, also a Democratic candidate, received that party's nomination.

PINCHOT FLYING TO FAIR

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—Before departing by airplane this afternoon to participate in the Pennsylvania Day celebration at the World's Fair tomorrow, Gov. Gifford Pinchot expressed satisfaction with the results of the primary election last Tuesday. He said:

The Governor, his secretary, Duncan C. McCallum, and Publicity Director John R. Hood, were to soar into the air from Middletown Airport on the longest airplane trip the Chief Executive has attempted. The plane will make a short stop at Pittsburgh and go directly from there to Chicago.

A 19-gun salute will greet the Governor upon his arrival at the fair tomorrow. He will review federal troops before a luncheon during which his speech will be broadcast between 2:30 and 2:45 p. m. (Pittsburgh time). A tour of the exposition will follow.

The Governor's party will return to Harrisburg by airplane Wednesday.

SENATOR DAVIS' ORDERS CITED AT TRIAL

Approved Methods of Raising Funds, Witness Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Testimony to the effect that United States Senator James J. Davis approved of the means by which the Loyal Order of Moose raised funds through charity balls was offered today in Federal Court, where Davis is on trial for alleged violation of Federal lottery laws.

The government called Rodney H. Brandon, Illinois public welfare commissioner, to relate the details of a luncheon held on New Year's Day 1931, at Mooseheart, Illinois, site of the Moose Orphans' Home. Brandon was then supreme dictator of the Moose.

TURNED OVER CHECK

He testified that Davis, at the luncheon, turned a check for $150,000 over to Theodore G. Miller, head of the Moose propagation department, who also is on trial. The check represented Mooseheart's share of the proceeds from a Moose charity ball conducted in 1930.

Brandon said that Davis congratulated Miller on the success of the charity ball and instructed him to carry on the work.

Brandon was asked by Louis Mead Treadwell, assistant United States attorney:

"Did he say that he approved of the methods by which the money was raised?"

Brandon replied:

"Everything he said was in approval."

The prosecutor brought out through Harry A. Shanor, dictator of the New York lodge, the details of a prize drawing which he said took place in New York on the steamboat Priscilla, on New Year's Day, 1932. He said:

"A list of lodges was called and as each was called a package of ticket stubs was put into a large barrel."

WINNERS PICKED

He said the name on the first stub was declared the winner of $50,000, the second $25,000.

Treadwell asked:

"How did you happen to go on the boat?"

He replied:

"I received a letter from the Propagation Department."

"Signed by whom?"

"I believe by Mr. Miller."

He said Miller appeared to be in charge of the drawing.

He also testified that the local lodge received for its general fund, $5 from every book of 40 tickets sold, the tickets costing 50 cents each. He said:

"This general fund went to sick benefits and Mooseheart."

"But it was not ear-marked in any special fund?"

"No."

After a long huddle of attorneys at the bench, the court ruled that evidence to connect Senator Davis with the alleged lottery of 1931 would have to precede any evidence respecting the alleged lottery of 1930.

MISS STARK, sent to Persia by the Royal Geographic Society of England, brings back interesting pictures of the stronghold near Naishapur, where Hasan, the boyhood friend of Omar Khayyam, maintained for nearly 200 years his establishment for murder, housing his band of murderers on a great impregnable rock.

Murderers employed by Hasan and his successors were called hashishin, because Hasan, before sending them out to kill, drugged them with hashish.

That happened long ago, and now, nearly one thousand years later, our boss gangsters are alleged to drug their murder agents with cocaine to make them indifferent to danger and consequences.

U. S. Turned to Religion By Crisis, Pope Told

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The hope that the lessons of the crisis will not soon be forgotten by the peoples of the world was expressed by Pope Pius today in an audience with Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston.

The Pontiff said he sincerely trusts the people of the future will be more careful to preserve the fruits of prosperity, will avoid luxury, and will accustom themselves to pay as they go.

Pope Pius commented thus following the Cardinal's observations that the depression seemed to have brought religion home to the American people as never before.

Following the audience, which lasted an hour, the Cardinal said the Pope disclosed astonishing knowledge not only of economic conditions in the United States, but also of the monetary situation.

FEUD WITH ALICE ONLY MIRAGE, DOLLY SAYS IN BOOK

JUNGLE WOMEN STORY FUNNY TO MRS. GANN

'Tells All' About Life In Capital Society And Politics

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The famous Alice Longworth-Dolly Gann feud was "a mirage," "no war at all," but "the outcome of the controversy never was in doubt among those who knew the rules."

So says Mrs. Gann herself in "Dolly Gann's Book, Life in Society and Politics," which is the first literary venture of former Vice President Curtis' sister.

There is a whole chapter on "A Tempest in a Teapot," which Mrs. Gann describes with Kansas downrightness. Dolly, whose book will be published October 4, writes:

"Just how it came about that Alice Longworth's name first appeared, I don't know. If she ever said anything about it, then or later I never heard of it. We had known each other for years. We know and like each other still—at least I like her, and I hope she likes me.

'JUNGLE WOMEN'

"The uninformed reader of the dispatches would have thought that Alice Longworth and myself, as venomous as two jungle women, were poised to strike at each other's throats."

Nevertheless, says Dolly, she had more laughs out of the situation than annoyance, and apparently came out with her admiration for Alice unscathed.

Still, there is a shade of caution in the praise, for the book goes on:

"Long before it became the proper thing for women to smoke, she would light a cigaret whenever she felt like it. I used to say to myself: 'My, that girl's independent.'"

Besides smoking, Mrs. Gann does not approve of drinking—for an American.

The pages are full of references to "Billy," who is Edward Everett Gann, her husband, a Washington attorney and a Democrat, and "brother," who is the former Vice President. Mrs. Gann tells how she went to political conventions to help make "brother" Vice President, although when she started working for him she thought he'd be President.

BILLY AND BROTHER

She tells how she and "Billy" and "Brother," the trio that upset Washington social life at the beginning of the Hoover administration, entertained and what they ate and what they wore.

Other figures flit through the pages: Calvin Coolidge—"How he could talk when the notion struck him!" says Mrs. Gann; Mrs. Coolidge, whose smile, it was said, was "worth a million votes to the Republicans," President Hoover—"No wonder women like President Hoover. He understands them;" President Harding, who, "had he lived to complete his term, would have had an administration remembered as among our safest and most conservative periods."

Urschel Kidnap Trial Frees 2nd Defendant

Bailey, Bates and 8 Others Must Face Jury, Judge Rules

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught today freed Peter Valder, one of the Twin Cities defendants in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping trial. A defense demurrer against Valder's indictment was sustained.

The demurrer of Isador Blumenfeld, of Minneapolis, was overruled.

Judge Vaught in a brief review of the government case against Valder declared, "There is not sufficient evidence to find the defendant Valder guilty beyond a reasonable doubt." He did not review the evidence against Blumenfeld.

Last Saturday the court freed Charles Wolk, Minneapolis transfer man. Five of the Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants, alleged to have handled a small part of the $200,000 ransom paid for Urschel's release, remain on trial.

Besides Blumenfeld they are Sam Kronick, Sam Kozberg, Barney Berman and Clifford Skelly. Their defense is that they knew nothing of the kidnaping conspiracy and that the money was handled in a liquor deal.

Albert L. Bates, identified as one of the men who entered Urschel's home, and Harvey Bailey, gang killer, also must face the jury, the judge has decided in over-ruling demurrers offered by their defense counsel.

R. G. Shannon, on whose Texas farm Urschel was held prisoner, took the stand in his own behalf.

His wife, Ora, and his son, Armon, also were to testify.

MARIE, CAROL RECONCILED

International News Service.

SINAIA, Rumania, Sept. 25.—A royal reconciliation on a large scale occurred today as Dowager Queen Marie, for the first time since King Carol's return to the throne, reassumed the role of hostess at a gathering of the royal family.

Queen Marie, whose strained relations with her son until recently have been an open secret, substituted as royal hostess for Princess Helen, King Carol's estranged wife.

Principal actors in the dramatic reconciliation, aside from Queen Marie and the King, included his younger brother, Prince Nicholas, former Queen Elizabeth of Greece, daughter of Marie and the late King Ferdinand, Princess Ileana and her husband, Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, and the King and Queen of Jugoslavia. Prince Frederick of Hohenzollern was also present.

The gathering was marked by pre-war pomp and ceremony as the long-conflicting members of Rumanian royalty buried the hatchet of discord for outward friendliness.

The royal event occurred simultaneously with the Little Entente conference now in progress.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Despite a jail sentence of one year for obscene dancing, Sally Rand continued today to present her fan dance at a Chicago theater and at a Century of Progress hall.

The case has been appealed.

The manager of the theater said:

"Jail is for criminal, not dancer. Three million persons have seen the dance this summer and none has complained. While she wears no clothes, she is covered by two large fans.

Several other fan dancers have appeared recently, but only Sally has been arrested. She has been served with warrants scores of times, once four times in one day."

Here's the secret: she wears her clothes for the nude dance sewed and glued on.

Policewoman Bessie McShane, who was present when Sally dressed, told police about it today. She declared:

"The fact is that Sally pays $42 a week for the pants she wears. I know. She wears a new pair for every appearance. They are made of maline—which is a net. They are sewed on tight and pasted down.

"Over her breast she wears similar material, pasted on—so that no strap shall show when she turns around. She spends more time dressing for the stage than she does in dancing. And when she takes the costume off it hurts."

SERGE 'GIGOLO,' MARY'S REPLY TO PRINCE

Opera Singer Denies Charge Involving Samuel Insull

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. — Mary McCormic, who sky-rocketed to fame in the Chicago Civic Opera Company, today denied the charge of her husband, Prince Serge Mdivani, that she was unduly friendly with Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities magnate.

Asserting that her estranged husband is the "world's greatest gigolo," Miss McCormic rose to defend herself and the aged Insull who is in Athens, Greece, resisting extradition attempts in connection with the collapse of his $100,000,000 utilities empire.

SINGER'S CHARGES

Miss McCormic said:

"He's only bringing Mr. Insull into this to hurt me. I'll prove to the world at the trial that he has tried to use my friendship with Mr. Insull and others to advance his own financial interests.

"It's all absurd. Serge never had a red cent I didn't give him. And he says I embarrassed him by getting drunk. It's just the reverse. He was the one, and I had to object to his going around to other tables in restaurants talking to strange women."

CHARGES CAUSE STIR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Injection of the name of Samuel Insull, who fled to exile in Greece following the crash of his huge utilities empire, into the stirring marital troubles of Prince Serge Mdivani and his wife, Mary McCormic, beautiful opera star, created a stir today.

Attorney Kenneth K. Wright, representing the prince, announced that Insull, former patron of the arts and opera in Chicago, was named in a complaint which he would file for Prince Serge in the Superior Court today.

REPLY TO SUIT

The complaint, according to Attorney Wright, is a suit for divorce in reply to Miss McCormic's filing last June of a suit for separate maintenance against her titled husband.

The divorce complaint lists a number of asserted meetings between Insull and the famous opera singer in 1931 and 1932, when Insull was at the heighth of his power.

Mother in Court Slaps Son Confessing Theft

A mother, incensed at her son's admission that he had stolen, interrupted his testimony in Morals Court today to give him a resounding slap.

Mrs. Mary Marvij, of 2317 West Magnolia street, listened intently as her son Rudolph, 16, confessed before Magistrate T. D. Jones to stealing tools belonging to the Braun Baking Company, 1712 Island avenue. Then she interjected.

"Oh, you did, did you?"

The blow followed.

The mother was ejected from the courtroom as the son struggled to keep back the tears as he continued his testimony.

The youth and four others were held for court on larceny charges while one was held on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Representatives of the company testified that during five months bread, pastries, uniforms of drivers and tools, valued a $500, had been stolen.

Those held on larceny charges, after admitting participation, in addition to the Marvij youth, were Joseph Sinkovich, 21, of Said street; Joseph Manoravich, 16, of Roller street; Joseph Saltis, 18, of Juniata street, and Steve Stankovich, 17, of West Magnolia street. Jack Baker, 18, of Richardson avenue, was held on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

C. F. DAVIS, UNION LEADER, ADDRESSING THE OSAGE (W. VA.) MINERS' MEETING. . . . . DECISION: "NO STRIKE"

MINER STONED BY PICKETS AT EDENBORN

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Miners and operators marked time today while district leaders of the United Mine Workers of America, returning from Washington, sought to formulate a policy for ending the "holiday" and getting the rank and file membership back to work.

Two minor disturbances occurred on the picket line at the Frick-owned Edenborn mine this morning. State police intervened, but no arrests were made.

Shortly before 7 o'clock, according to state police, John Shiffbauer, stable boss at the mine, attempted to drive his automobile through the pickets, numbering nearly 3,000. When he failed to stop a brick was thrown from the crowd and an unidentified man riding with Shiffbauer was cut slightly. Shiffbauer, becoming excited, increased his speed and crashed into the rear of an automobile loaded with troopers. He was escorted through the lines to safety.

PICKETS THREATENED

A few minutes after the picket line broke up, the troopers were called to company property where a crowd of more than a dozen Negro non-union men were reported to have threatened pickets returning to their homes. One of the Negroes had a shotgun and several others had pistols, the pickets said. State police dispersed the crowds and the trouble subsided.

Meanwhile the threatened sympathy walkout of West Virginia miners failed to materialize, due in a large part to the timely intervention of district officers who met with the men yesterday in a tumultous meeting at Osage, Scott's Run.

Three of the largest operators of this region announced today they have signed contracts with the United Mine Workers and stand ready to resume operations immediately. They are W. J. Rainey, Inc., Hillman Coal and Coke, and the South Union Coal Company.

FIRM ON FRICK

Holiday leaders, however, reiterated their determination that not a single man will return to the pits until the H. C. Frick Coke Company and every other captive mine in Western Pennsylvania has signed the code. The attitude, leaders declared, is the same throughout the Western Pennsylvania field and includes Districts 3, 4 and 5.

William Feeney, president of District 4, returned to his home in Charleroi from Washington last night. He had nothing to say except that he was "highly pleased" with the results of the Washington negotiations. He declined to discuss the Frick situation.

D. D. Dodge, vice president and general superintendent of W. J. Rainey, Inc., declared:

"We stand ready to resume operations just as quickly as the men decide to return to work."

'Holiday' Extended To Clearfield Mines

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Despite all efforts by recognized mine union leaders to place a quietus on the bituminous coal holiday, the movement spread today from the Fayette-Westmoreland County region into the more northerly Indiana-Armstrong County field.

Mass marches by holiday pickets from the southern field resulted in the closing down of operations at several mines of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company in Southern Indiana County.

Y.M.C.A. Prepares To Draw Up Code

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The National Council of the Young Men's Christian Association reported yesterday the appointment of a special committee to draw up an NRA code.

A national hearing on the proposed code will be held in New York on October 10, after which it will be submitted to the NRA. It will affect 1,500 associations. Officials said that although social agencies are exempt from the provisions of the Recovery Act, the action was taken "to encourage the purposes of the act."

Buckman Candidate For Watson's Seat

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—State Senator Clarence J. Buckman is a candidate for the congressional seat in the Bucks-Lehigh District made vacant by the recent death of Henry W. Watson, Pennsylvania's veteran representative in the national House.

Buckman, a follower of former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, yesterday confirmed reports current in political circles that he would contest the seat.

Cambria Awaiting Invasion of Strikers

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Invasion of Cambria County by Fayette County striking miners, urging others to join them in their walk-out holiday, was anticipated by peace officers here today. Sheriff Homer George was apprised that a motor cavalcade of 340 machines had arrived at Blairsville over the William Penn Highway, with the announced intention of going on to Nanty-Glo, Cambria County.

this applies to the United States quite as much as to other nations.

If Japan wants to build a Navy, big or little, and to barge around off her coasts and possessions with it, that is her business and we register no complaints, file no protests, offer no objections, as long as we are allowed absolutely equal privileges.

And whether we are allowed those privileges or not, we intend to exercise them.

WE KNOW moreover that Japan's Navy it not going to be a little Navy, and is not going to be an ancient out-of-date relic either.

And now that we have an intelligent, patriotic President, we know with deep satisfaction that our Navy is no longer going to be antiquated and inadequate.

It is going to be ample and thoroughly up-to-date, and quite equal to the complete defense of our great nation—and defense is all we want a Navy for.

All of these simple propositions and plain facts need not disturb Japan as far as they relate to the United States, nor the United States as far as they relate to Japan, nor any other power, European or Asiatic which is properly intent on minding its own business.

In fact, these circumstances ought to increase mutual respect for one another among nations, and by increasing mutual respect promote mutual friendship—Gen. Araki and Sir Simple Simon to the contrary notwithstanding.

ber 2, when the coal code becomes effective.

MEN WARNED

Notices were posted at No. 3 Saturday by the company:

"You are hereby notified to remove your tools from No. 3 mine. The mine will be examined and you may enter the mine for the purpose of removing your tools between the hours of 7 a. m. and 11 a. m. Monday, September 25, 1933."

The notices were signed by John P. Kelly, mine superintendent.

The men interpreted the notice to mean the company was planning to give their jobs to others, and yesterday at a meeting in Polish Hall, 100 men voted to return to work.

Today, however, as the men were about to enter the pit, pickets arrived from Renton, Montour No. 10, Newfield and other mines of the district and persuaded the men from entering.

RETURN TO HOMES

After holding a meeting the men returned to their homes and picketing ceased. All mines of the district continued down with no attempt to operate.

President Fagan, of District No. 5, said he planned to devote the entire week to have the mines opened by next Monday.

Fagan, following conferences with union officials from District 5 today, said special efforts are now being made in the Allegheny Valley district to complete agreements with the operators.

He stated that the West Penn Power Company and Duquesne Light Company, with captive mines in that district, have practically agreed with the unions with the exception of a few minor details which he expects will be worked out soon.

Fagan is not in sympathy with the movement that is keeping the men from the mines until "Frick signs the code." He said:

"Frick can be handled, but that isn't the way."

Nor is the United Miners in sympathy with the invasion of Pennsylvania Miners into West Virginia, which has resulted in a strict border patrol by West Virginia deputies and state police, Fagan said. He added:

"West Virginia is another field altogether, and has nothing to do with the situation here. Those mines are under contract, and should not be molested."

TO MEET WAGES

E. T. Weir, chairman of the board, National Steel Corporation, today asserted he believed most of the steel companies owning "captive" coal mines will pay wages equal to those provided in the code signed by the commercial producers, and institute similar hours and working conditions.

SOVIET PAPER ACCUSES JAPAN

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Izvestia, official organ of the U. S. S. R., today charged the Manchurian delegation participating in negotiations at Tokio on the Chinese Eastern Railway, with procrastinating in order to prepare for a forcible seizure of the property.

The article asserted reliable information was in the hands of the Soviet government indicating seizure would be accomplished by the arrest of Soviet employes of the railroad and the appointment of a Manchurian assistant manager superseding the Soviet administrator.

PICKETS BEAT NORTH SIDE CLEANER

Fighting broke out today in the cleaners and dyers strike.

On the North Side the operator of a dry-cleaning plant was beaten. He was reported in serious condition in Presbyterian Hospital with a probable fracture of the skull.

Morris Foster, 67, told police a half-dozen picketing strikers pushed down a door to his plant at 1819 Federal street extension. When they refused to leave he tried to shove them out and was beaten, the police said he told them.

ARRANGE MEETINGS

While the strikers' committee of the cleaners' union today sought to open negotiations for a truce with individual plant owners, two meetings were called to seek new means of reaching agreements.

Plant owners, through committee members, will appear before a tailors' meeting at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Hotel Henry. Strikers have been invited to attend. The operators will outline their offer to the striking union.

McKeesport plant owners and strikers were meeting late this afternoon to carry on independent negotiations for settling the walkout in that district. Mayor George S. Lyle has called both sides together, and Watson McKee, secretary of the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce and NRA chairman in the district, was to preside.

UNION STANDS FIRM

The employers' committee, through W. J. Mooney, chairman, today issued a statement that unless an immediate settlement is made, plants will be reopened.

Agreement with a number of individual concerns accepting the cleaners and dyers' union demands was anticipated today by Selig Morov, president of the strikers' committee.

He said unless there is a compromise every shop in the city will continue closed.

Cleaners Submit Code With Increase in Pay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Estimating their code would increase wages 20 per cent and employment 6 to 23 per cent, the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners today asked NRA approval of a charter for that trade.

N. J. Harkness, director of the association's Recovery Executive Committee, gave the employment and wage increase estimates. He said his organization together with the National Association of Retail Tailors, which also approved the code, represented more than 95 per cent of the volume of the trade's business. He asked approval of unfair trade practice restrictions, primarily price cutting.

The code would establish a 45-hour week maximum and minimum pay ranging from 33 cents per hour in northern cities of over 500,000 population to 20 cents per hour in the South.

FRICK PREPARES TO SIGN CODE FOR COAL

NRA to meet the situations of captive mines.

They pointed out that the steel industry was under a code of its own. They also said Frick officials were desirous of being exempted from those provisions of the coal code having to do with price-fixing and marketing agencies.

As the captive mines do not sell their coal commercially they do not wish to be compelled to share the expense of the division authorities and sales agencies which are to be set up.

The object of the present negotiations, NRA officials said, is to reach an agreement by which the Frick Company will maintain prevailing wage and hour scales in its district and accord its employes the same working conditions as the commercial operators without being tied down to the sales provisions of the code.

10 Million a Month N. Y. Relief Need

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Solomon Lowenstein, chairman of the executive body of the Welfare Council's committee on unemployment, notified city officials today that $10,000,000 a month would be the minimum relief needs here during the winter.

Unless the municipal relief budget is increased to that figure from $6,500,000, he said, suffering would be widespread.

State Troopers Hurry To Anthracite Mines

TRUCK WALKOUT MEDIATED

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Successful federal mediation sent approximately 12,000 truck drivers and helpers back on the road today after a week-long strike that for a time virtually paralyzed motor freight transportation in the Philadelphia area.

Food trucks have been operating by mutual consent since police warned the strikers against interference with them, but tons of other merchandise have been accumulating in warehouses since the strike went into effect September 16. Violence incident to the picketing was recorded.

Settlement of the strike was effected late Saturday during conferences between Edward F. McGrady, assistant Secretary of Labor, the operators and union officials. Under the agreement, the Brotherhood of Transportation Workers, which called the strike, will be chartered by the American Federation of Labor.

FORD PROTESTS GO TO CAPITAL

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The local NRA board in suburban Dearborn was advised officially today that any complaints against the Ford Motor company must be forwarded to Washington and that the local compliance board will be without authority to consider them.

A. J. Barnaud, district manager of the United States Department of Commerce, told William L. Mills, who revealed the existence of the complaints, that local compliance boards have authority only to consider cases arising under the President's re-employment agreement and that where an industry operating under an accepted code is concerned, the matter must go to Washington.

While the Ford company has not accepted the automotive code and has not obtained a Blue Eagle, the automobile industry is under an accepted code. For this reason, Mr. Barnaud said, the authority of the local committee is limited to forwarding to Washington any complaints it may receive.

O'BRIEN WINS NEW BEAMISH BRIBE TRIAL

Justice James B. Drew in State Supreme Court today handed down an opinion setting aside the conviction of George O'Brien, of Philadelphia, for an alleged attempt to bribe Richard Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and ordered that O'Brien be granted a new trial.

O'Brien, former appraiser of the port of Philadelphia, was convicted in Dauphin County CCourt of offering Beamish $20,000 to influence the award of a contract for voting machines in Philadelphia in 1932.

CITES ERROR

O'Brien was sentenced to pay a $5,000 fine and to serve a year in prison. His appeal to the Superior Court was rejected.

Justice Drew held:

"We are of the opinion that serious and fundamental errors in the charge to the jury require that a new trial be granted.

"Mr. Beamish, upon whose testimony the case of the commonwealth depended, testified that the defendant in an interview with him in his office had said to him that 'there will be a nice present in it for you if the Shoup machine gets the award and there will be $20,000 in it for you if the Shoup company gets the award.'

QUESTIONS BRIBE

"In reviewing this testimony the learned trial judge told the jury that Mr. Beamish had said that the defendant would give him $20,000 or the Shoup Company would give him $20,000 if he would award the contract to that company."

Justice Drew found the discrepancy between the testimony and the trial judge's recounting of it sufficiently serious "to prejudice the interests of the defendant and deprive him of a fair trial."

He added:

"It certainly was for the jury to determine the probability of whether a man in the defendant's indigent situation, without any connection whatever with the Shoup Company, could or would have offered a $20,000 bribe."

'BIBLICAL LIVES' HIT BY DEAN

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—"Whatever confidence we may place in the good faith and substantial accuracy of the Synoptic Gospels, it remains true that we cannot construct a biography of Jesus Christ," declares Dean William Ralph Inge, of St. Paul's, in the foreword to "Jesus the Unknown," a book by Rassin Merezhkovsky published today. The dean declares:

"These 'lives' are most of them unsatisfactory. They are all steeped in the national character of the countries in which they are written and express the ideas and the ideals prevalent in the generation in which they appeared. Seeley's 'Ecce Homo' is the work of a contemporary and fellow-countryman of Tennyson; a fine book, but Jesus Christ was not an Englishman nor did He live in the reign of Queen Victoria."

GIRL INJURED IN PARTY LEAP

Police today were still trying to learn why Echie Chalmers, 19, of Turtle Creek road, Turtle Creek, leaped out of a second-story window during a party in the home of Sam Rizzo, 5427 Howe street, late Saturday night.

Miss Chalmers is in Homeopathic Hospital with a broken right leg and ankle, while police lodged a disorderly conduct charge against her.

Rizzo's explanation to police was that he and Lazerio Racca, of 504 Hamilton avenue, were entertaining Miss Chalmers, Ona Rodgers, 20, of Catherine street, Duquesne, and Margaret Besek, 20, of Library. The Chalmers girl, police said they were told, leaped out the window before any of the party could prevent her. With the exception of the Chalmers girl, no arrests were made.

WAR MENACING WORLD, LEAGUE HEAD WARNS

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A warning by Premier Johan Mowinckel of Norway, that a possibility of war hangs menacingly over the world startled the League of Nations Assembly today at its opening session.

Dr. Mowinckel, president of the league council, declared further that the four-power peace pact recently signed by Germany, Italy, France and Britain can aid considerably in a "torn and divided Europe, where liberty of thought and personal liberty are not everywhere secure."

Dr. Mowinckel said the position of the league had not improved since a year ago. He declared:

"Fifteen years after the close of that fratricidal crime, the Great War, we find to our shame that we have made little progress toward a better understanding, a purer atmosphere, and a healthier mentality among peoples.

"On the contrary, the thought of war and the possibility of war are ever present, hanging over the nations as a constant menace."

He emphasized the disillusionments resulting from the Disarmament Conference and the World Economic Conference, and said to discuss unemployent undoubtedly would contribute to political dissensions and would have a negative result.

The World Economic Conference, he went on, made the world public increasingly pessimistic and this adversely affected the League.

A surprise was occasioned by the election of Charles te Water, South African high commissioner in London, to be president of the assembly. He defeated Francisco Castillo Najera of Mexico.

A large audience saw the German delegation enter the hall in compact formation with Reichsminister Joseph Goebbels in the center.

American Ambassador-at-Large Norman H. Davis planned to confer today with Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath of Germany regarding disarmament.

Germany to Fight For Armament

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Universal Service.

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—Germany is going to put up a dogged fight for a specified number of combat airplanes, tanks and heavy guns in return for her acceptance of a disarmament treaty in which must be written the pledge of other powers to disarm drastically after a "trial stage" of three or four years.

This was learned following a conversation between German Foreign Minister Von Neurath and British Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon.

The German foreign office head, it is understood, clearly indicated that the Hitler government cannot sign a convention which permits other nations to retain their present armaments, merely promising to disarm in the future, but giving Germany nothing.

French Concessions In Arms Revealed

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Universal Service.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—First word of the armament concessions France is willing to make in order to have her arms-control and four-year trial period included in any Geneva disarmament treaty came today to Universal Service from high diplomatic sources.

The concessions Paris is willing to make, diplomatic sources understand, include:

1—France is ready to accept a reduction in the service period of her conscript army, to take place simultaneously with conversion of the German professional army (Reichswehr) from a long-term enlistment to a conscript army as provided by the British disarmament plan. France is ready to make this reduction during the first or "trial" period of disarmament.

In France, this is considered a "remarkable concession." In reality, it is a brilliant stroke on the part of France, since after 1935 France will be faced with a shortage of conscripts owing to the falling of the birth rate due to shortage of men after the World War. The new generation, however, will be due for conscript service before many years.

FUMES FATAL TO AUTOIST

The efforts of police failed to save the life of John A. Fenn, 59, who was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes as he worked on his car in the garage in the rear of his home, 901 Brookline boulevard, last night, according to a coroner's report.

Fenn was found unconscious by members of his family, who investigated his failure to return from the garage, where he had gone to charge his battery.

Police, who were called, worked with an inhalator but were unable to revive him. Dr. H. H. Heinrich pronounced him dead.

DR. SUZZALLO, EDUCATOR, DIES

SEATTLE, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Dr. Henry Suzzallo, 58, president of the Carnegie Foundation for Advancement of Teaching and a former president of the University of Washington, died at the Seattle General Hospital early today from a heart attack.

The nationally-known educator, who was taken to the hospital upon his arrival here a week ago, had lapsed into unconsciousness several hours before, although during the previous 48 hours he had shown signs of rallying. His illness was first considered slight, but complications later developed.

His widow, the former Miss Edith Moore, of Chicago, to whom he was married in 1912, and a nurse were at his bedside at death.

Dr. Suzzallo was president of the University of Washington from 1915 until 1926, when he was dismissed after Roland H. Hartley, then Governor of Washington, removed the board of regents and appointed new members to the board. The action followed a long period of disputes over university administration and financing.

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

The consecration of Bishop Hayes at the Cathedral last Saturday unleashed a flood of memories for Mrs. Louise Duggan, Thomas boulevard, the mother of Councilman Frank Duggan.

Bishop Hayes was the fifth bishop whose consecration services she attended in St. Paul's Cathedral.

When a young girl she attended the consecration services for Bishop Tuigg, of Erie. That was back in 1875, in the old, the second, St. Paul's Cathedral edifice. Then there were Bishop Phelan, Bishop Canevin, Bishop Boyle, and now Bishop Hayes.

Lewis McIntyre, traffic engineer, points out that five out of the nine traffic fatalities during last August resulted from collisions with fixed objects, between the hours of 2 and 3 in the morning, and at locations where street lighting conditions were above the average. He says that this proves that they were not accidents, since they were not unavoidable.

One of the Traffic Committee's slogans is, "It takes two to make an accident."

Perhaps their most arresting statement is, "Children should be seen and not hurt."

"I USE HYDRAULIC BRAKES 600 TIMES A DAY!"

AN INTERVIEW WITH JOSEPH PREHER, DIVISION CIRCULATION MGR., LOUISVILLE (KY.) HERALD-POST

"No more of the old kind for me... after owning a PLYMOUTH"

NINETY-FIVE news-stands wait eagerly for Joe Preher to come rushing around every time a new edition hits the street.

He's got to make time . . . keep a split-second schedule . . . slam on the brakes 600 times a day.

Working his brakes so hard on his former car cost him plenty for adjustments and relining. But with Plymouth's hydraulic brakes, it's a far different story. For they're always equalized. They stop faster . . . evenly . . . and make brake linings last so much longer!

Brakes are not the only thing that must stand up on Joe Preher's cars. For he puts 50,000 miles a year on the speedometer.

He's found that Plymouth can take all the punishment he'll give it. His car is still "tight as a drum" at 12,000 miles. Floating Power engine mountings helped to do that by cutting down vibration.

It stands to reason, too, that you avoid rattles with a welded safety-steel body that has no joints to work loose. And a rigid-X double-drop frame that's 10 times sturdier than the ordinary type.

Look at the things that make a car stand up when you look at "all three" low-priced cars. If you do, we think you'll soon be driving a Plymouth.

"RAIN OR SHINE," says Joe Preher, "I've got to get my papers around on time! And I have to make at least 600 stops a day!"

"I WAS ALWAYS running to the garage with brake trouble on my old car. But not any more. These hydraulic brakes are great!"

"I'VE GOT TO GO PLACES in a hurry, but I've never had an accident. If I ever do have one, there's plenty of protection in that safety-steel body!"

CHINESE REBEL DRIVE NEARS PEIPING

PEIPING, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The irregular army of Gen. Fang Chen-Wu was reported tonight to be within 20 miles of Peiping, and it was expected that the ancient capital would soon be attacked.

Gen. Fang is heading a force of bandits and former leaderless soldiers, variously estimated at 5,000 to 50,000 men. He has announced that his purpose is to "free North China of the tyranny of the Nanking government," and has declared that within a few days he will be at the gates of Peiping.

One group of his force is reported to have started toward Tientsen, ostensibly to capture that port city.

JAPS SCOUT FORCES

Japanese aviators were busy today flying over the supposed demilitarized section of North China, seeking to learn the strength of the rebels and their positions.

Meanwhile the Chinese authorities were pleading with the Japanese for permission to dispatch a punitive expedition against the rebels. But the Japanese, despite the claims that China was entitled to sovereignty over its own territory, insisted that the JJapanese army must dispose of Gen. Fang.

The Japanese indignantly denied they were supporting the renegades, although there were consistent Chinese reports to the contrary.

Chinese spokesmen asserted the Japanese had disarmed the Chinese police at Miyun, midway between Peiping and the Great Wall. They declared this act was inexplicable, as the police had been sent to Miyun in accordance with the Tangku armistice of last May. The Japanese are reported to have replied that the uncertainty of the situation required that the police give up their rifles.

Chinese reports from various parts of the demilitarized zone indicated the area was seething with disorder and banditry.

SOVIETS ARRESTED

TOKIO, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatch from Harbin today said that Manchukuan police there had arrested five high Soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway on charges of breach of trust.

Russian notes delivered to Tokio last week protesting against Japan's alleged intention to disregard Russia's rights in the conduct of the Chinese were understood here to have referred to these arrests.

RAIL OFFICIAL GRUDGE VICTIM

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., Sept. 25. (AP.)—A mountain man's smouldering grudge against the wealthy Easterner was blamed by officers today for the slaying of Thomas Price, 65-year-old rail executive of New York.

Riding horseback along a trail on his 1,200-acre estate near here with two mountaineers yesterday, the secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad was halted by several men. In a burst of gunfire that followed Price was shot to death and his friends were wounded.

Shortly afterward Dewey Potter surrendered here and was quoted as saying he shot Price. His brother, Clarence, 35, and Eric Ledford, 22, came into town with him and also were jailed. Wayne Potter, Dewey's 14-year-old son, joined them in jail today.

Last Saturday Potter, who lived on an abandoned mining property next to the Price estate as caretaker, was fined $5 in Magistrate's Court for hunting on the New Yorker's estate without permission. Officers said this trouble was believed to lie behind the shooting.

According to police, Miss Truxell was attacked without warning by Albert Ryan, a sailor, of Wickliffe.

Reformatory Guard Slays Self by Gun

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Elijah W. Blankenship, 51-year-old lieutenant of the guards at the United States Industrial Reformatory here, committed suicide today by firing a 45-caliber revolver bullet into his head as he lay in bed.

STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT FAILS

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The Red army's project of sending three men on an exploratory trip into the stratosphere were called off yesterday after repeated attempts from dawn until noon failed to lift their balloon into the air.

The silver-blue "U. S. S. R."—boasted to be the largest in the world—could not gain height, presumably because engineers miscalculated the amount of hydrogen needed to elevate the heavy gondola.

Low hanging clouds completely obscured the sun as the ground crew, in the presence of 1,000 officials and soldiers, time after time was ordered to release the anchorage ropes. But the balloon merely slid horizontally across the field before a strong west wind.

A bad rip was made in the envelope when the crew jerked the valve releasing hydrogen to deflate the balloon. It was believed this would cause a delay of several days before another attempt could be made. Meanwhile another balloon was announced in readiness to take off Tuesday on a flight under the sponsorship of the Civil Aviation Society.

NEW LYNCHING BRINGS PROBE

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The second lynching in Tuscaloosa County within the past six weeks was under investigation by the Sheriff today.

Sheriff Shamblin ordered the inquiry yesterday after the body of Dennis Cross, Negro under bond on a charge of attacking a white woman, was taken from his home by men posing as officers and shot to death.

The sheriff said he was told the group of six or seven men appeared at the Negro's home and told Dennis it was necessary for him to go to Tuscaloosa and post a bond larger than that required when he was released on bail a week ago.

The slaying of Dennis followed by six weeks to the day the lynching of Dan Pippe, Jr., and A. T. Harden, Negroes under indictment on a charge of murdering the daughter of a Tuscaloosa County farmer.

BERWICK BLOCK SWEPT BY FIRE

BERWICK, Pa., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Fire destroyed one theater, damaged another and threatened several blocks in the heart of Berwick's business district early today.

Starting in the rear of the Strand Theatre, the flames leveled that structure with a loss estimated by J. M. Harry, receiver for the operating company, at $125,000.

The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered and spread to the adjoining Palace Theater, where damage was slight.

Firemen were summoned from Bloomsburg, Danville, Nescopeck and Shickshinny to aid the local department. Four firemen were overcome by smoke and treated at a hospital.

The business building owned by Dr. C. E. Sweppenheiser and housing a restaurant and offices of a printing concern, a telegraph company and the Berwick Gas Company, was damaged by smoke and water.

German Balloon Down in England

BERWICK-ON-TWEED, England, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A large German balloon, privately owned, was forced down here yesterday, causing injury to one of its occupants, who fell out of the basket, landing on his head.

The balloon left Duesseldorf Tuesday. As it drifted ashore, a number of people caught the drag rope and helped bring the bag to rest on a golf course.

Difference in Height Should Not Worry Sweethearts

She loves him truly—and he loves her—

But—

And there's where her Big Tragedy walks right in, without even knocking.

Why hasn't she said yes? Is he a tramp? Is it a case of No Job? Are Cruel Parents throwing sand in the gears?

Nope. It's none of those things. He's a Grand Guy. They could be married tomorrow, if it weren't for the fact that he's—

But read it for yourself. And don't laugh! It may sound funny to you, but it's serious to Anxious!

Dear Miss Robinson:

I never dreamed that I would be coming to you with a problem, ever. But such is life, I guess—and so here I am. Will you help me?

And please don't think I am just a silly youngster. I am not. I'm 26, and I've been around quite a bit, too.

I've been in love several times. At least I thought I was. But generally after I had gone with a fellow for some time, I eventually got bored with him, or something else came up to stop me from marrying him.

But now, for the past nine months, I have been "going steady" with a certain young man, and the more I see of him the more I want to see him. We both like the same things—sports, social activities, and just about everything else. I know I am in love with him, and he has told me that he is simply crazy about me. He is a grand fellow, and everybody likes him. There is nothing to stop us from going out and getting married tomorrow.

TALLER THAN SWEETHEART

"Well," I hear you say "Why don't you marry him, then?"

And the answer to that is—because I am taller than he is, by about half an inch.

That sounds silly, doesn't it? Maybe it is silly, but it preys on my mind. Whenever we're out together and notice a nice-looking couple—the man is generally a head taller than his lady friend—I wish I could duck the Boy Friend and go home alone. It generally puts me in a nasty mood, too, and before we know it we are quarreling over nothing at all.

Do you think, if I really did love this fellow, that a half-inch in height, would make such a difference? What is wrong with me, anyway?

Please give me a bawling out, and tell me what a sap I am, and why, I won't give him my answer until I hear from you. Do you think I should marry him? .. .. ANXIOUS.

THROWING AWAY VALUE

Should you marry him?

And then kick him around because he stopped growing?

No indeed, lady! It wouldn't be fair to him. He's entitled to a break, as well as you; and you have no right to mess up his life by tying up with him, unless you can readily appreciate his fineness, and accept him As Is.

But I'll say right here that, for throwing away value, you take the hand-crocheted bathtub! You are a sap!

Why are you? Because you've never learned to look for real worth, sister. You're all eaten up with worry about The Way Things Will Look, instead of worry about what things really are.

Plenty of Gorgeous Girls have married short men, and lived joyously with them. But that's up to you. If you just must wait for a six-foot nicknack, regardless of his other qualities, instead of a real man, you'd better move out on this boy and let him look around for some Regular Girl.

And while you're going, take this thought with you. He lacks a half-inch in physical stature. How Much Are You Short in Mental Stature?

Given in Marriage

A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Proceeds to Spike Avis' Future Operations

I drew a long breath of relief as Avis Arlen finally admitted that she had opened and read and kept my letter to Philip Veritzen, telling him the date of Noel's forthcoming marriage to Mary. I had thought at one time that I would never get the admission from her—so necessary in my future dealings with her.

For I had no illusions concerning Avis Arlen. She had the tenacity of an ignorant, unscrupulous and obstinate nature. She had set what passed for her heart and her mind upon Noel Veritzen. That she had failed utterly in her attempt to break up the attachment between Mary and Noel would not deter her in the least from making further essays in Noel's direction. I was sure, also, that in her code breaking up a marriage was no whit worse than separating two betrothed lovers.

I needed sorely the weapon which she had just put into my hands, if I hoped to guard the marital happiness of Mary and Noel from the machinations of this unscrupulous girl.

"I am glad you have finally decided to tell the truth, Avis," I told her, and stopped there, knowing full well the value of suspense in dealing with her.

"What are you going to do with me?" she whispered.

"That depends upon yourself," I answered promptly.

PRETENSE OF POVERTY

"I don't know what you mean," she said sullenly.

"Oh, yes, you do!" I said, "and you have just 30 seconds to decide upon your course. If you promise me that you will make no further slightest attempt to interfere with the happiness of Mary and Noel either before their marriage or afterwards, I will say nothing about this letter, and all you will have to do is to keep silent. If Mr. Veritzen ever questions you upon the subject, deny that you ever saw it or knew anything about it.

"I should not give this counsel to a girl not used to falsehoods, but I know that the utterance of this one will give you no qualms whatsoever."

She flushed a brick red beneath her makeup.

"You are very harsh," she said.

"Perhaps," I answered, "but your conduct gives me no alternative. Come! The 30 seconds are almost up. Do you promise?"

"What else can I do?" she was subtly dramatic. "You are taking away my last chance of happiness, but I have no choice. I must agree to your terms, because I must keep my position with Mr. Veritzen, on account of my mother."

Hugh's strictures came back to me, and I suddenly found myself agreeing with him. I did not believe in this pretense of poverty.

AVIS WARNED

The corollary was plain. If she did not fear the loss of her position, she would not fear the consequences of breaking any promise made to me. But I had no recourse now. I had given her my word, and I must be abide by it.

"Then you promise," I said again. "I want your solemn word of honor."

She hesitated for only the fraction of a second.

"Word of honor," she said then, "I promise."

"See that you keep your word," I said sternly. "As long as you do, I shall keep this letter inviolate and tell no one of its theft from Mr. Veritzen's mail. But if I ever know of your doing the least thing to interfere in any way with Noel and Mary, I shall consider myself released from the promise I have just given you, and shall publish your despicable action. Under any other circumstances you need not worry. I think that is your train coming in."

I opened the door to see Hugh rapidly advancing toward us, ticket in hand.

"Your train is just pulling in, Miss Arlen," he said. "Hurry!"

He slipped the ticket into her hand and motioned her ahead of us.

When she had skimmed ahead of us he spoke to me quickly.

"If that man starts to get on this train," he said, "I am very sure that he has been sent out by Philip Veritzen to follow her. If he does, do you want me to warn her? What shall I say to her?"

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am living with my brother's mother-in-law and shall have her announce my wedding. Is this wording correct?

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Powers
of your presence
at the marriage
of their daughter
Mary Leigh
to
Mr. Lafayette Thomas Ruston
on Saturday, the fourth of November
One thousand nine hundred and thirty-three at nine-thirty o'clock
in the morning
United Church
Two University Place
Chicago

As my last name is different than hers (she has been like a mother to me, though) I have inserted my last name instead of my middle name.

My husband-to-be is an engraver, and he thinks, too, that this is very proper, but asked me to ask your opinion.

READER.

Even if the relationship is so close and dear to you, I think that it would be inappropriate for you to use "their daughter" in the third line of your invitation. I suggest that, instead, you use only the words "at the marriage of."

Also, under the circumstances, I suggest that you use the title of "Miss" before your name. This is usually done when the last name on the first line differs from the last name of the bride. Also, if you wish, you might use your full name:

Miss Mary Elizabeth Leigh

Too, in the first line, be sure to spell out the names:

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph
Everett Powers

And it is not usual, in the invitation, to use the year. We include the year in the announcement, but not in the invitation.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Keep Close Watch on Moles

Dr. Copeland

Moles, warts, tumors and skin pigmentations are common skin afflictions. Too often they are accepted as ordinary things and of no importance. This is unfortunate, for a harmless looking mole or tumor of the skin, if irritated, may suddenly develop into something serious.

As a rule, moles are congenital, being present at birth or acquired soon after. The common mole is round or flat and is brownish in color. This is the type which need cause no alarm.

Occasionally the mole is elevated above the surface of the skin. It may have hairs growing from it. This is the type of mole that is easily irritated or infected and should never be neglected.

Moles vary in size and shape. They may be as large as several inches in diameter, or as small as a pin head. They grow steadily in size until about the thirteenth or fourteenth year, when they become stationary.

Sudden increase in size or rapid growth of any pigmentation of the skin should arouse suspicion. Consult with your physician immediately. If an operation is advised do not delay.

I am often asked whether all moles should be removed. Since they vary greatly in size, color and shape, no definite rule can be made about moles. Some authorities advise the removal of all large pigmented moles. Others say that the pigmented mole is dangerous only when it increases in size.

It is always advisable to remove a mole or skin tumor when it is located in any portion of the body that is subject to constant pressure or friction. This may lead to inflammation infection, or even cancer formation.

Not all skin moles need be removed by surgical measures. In cases where cancer is suspected, the afflicted person receives beneficial results from X-ray, ultra violet treatment or deep therapy treatment. Under no circumstances should one resort to salves, ointments or other exploited remedies that are claimed to remove moles. In most instances the ointment proves irritating to the skin, and in no case is it a cure.

Never pick at a mole. If infected, cleanse it and consult with your doctor.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Permitting a Ruff With a Singleton

Most players defending a contract are reluctant to permit a singleton trump in Dummy to make a trick, and as a general principle this reluctance has a sound foundation in fact. However, like almost all rules, it has its exceptions, and the notable exception to which I wish to call attention today is that if the singleton trump in Dummy is a high honor it is usually much better to force it out by leading high cards of the suit which can be ruffed rather than by leading trumps.

A hand illustrating this interesting principle was sent to me recently by Mr. R. William Erwin, of Toronto, Canada. It was played in a Duplicate match by officials of the Canadian National Carbon Company, Ltd.

West, Dealer.

East and West vulnerable.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| | ♠ J 9 2♡ K 5◇ 8 7♣ K J 9 8 7 2 | |
| ♠ A K 7 6 5 3♡ 6 3◇ K 6♣ Q 10 3 | NorthWest EastSouth | ♠ Q♡ Q J 8 7 4◇ A Q 9 5 4 2♣ 4 |
| | ♠ 10 8 4♡ A 10 9 2◇ J 10 3♣ A 6 5 | |

In this instance West was the Declarer at a contract of four spades, and North elected to lead from his minor tenace in clubs inasmuch as South had supported that suit in the bidding. South, of course, won the trick with the Ace of clubs, and where he obeyed a more or less natural impulse to remove the trump in Dummy by leading a trump, North and South made no more tricks. Actually, this is a very bad play. The correct return is not a trump but a club. In the first place, it assures North and South of a trump trick if North holds so much even as the Knave, and in the second place, it cuts communication to some extent between the open and closed hands. The return of a club, as will be noticed, prevents the making even of four-odd, as North and South must later win another club trick, a trump trick and two hearts.

While, as a general rule, it would be a losing defense to permit it by leading trumps, the modification of the rule here stated should commend itself to thoughtful Bridge players.

Today's Question

Both sides vulnerable. A and B part-score of 60. What is the correct bidding of the following hands?

| A | B |
|---|---|
| ♠ A | ♠ K J 10 6 4 |
| ♡ 9 8 5 4 | ♡ A Q 7 6 3 |
| ◇ A K 9 5 | ◇ 8 2 |
| ♣ A K J 4 | ♣ 9 |

Answer: The correct bidding is:

| A | B |
|---|---|
| 1 ◇ | 1 ♠ |
| 2 ♣ | 2 ♡ |
| 4 ♡ | 6 ♡ |
| Pass | |

With a part-score of 60, B's bid of one spade is a semi-forced response. When he bids two hearts over A's two-club bid, he bids over game and consequently shows that his hand is of some value. A holds a very nice fit in hearts and is justified in making a double Jump Raise in that suit. Obviously this is a strong Slam try which should be readily accepted by B.

Household Hints

Furs should be brought out in the sun twice or thrice during hot weather and beaten lightly with a cane—unless, of course, you have stored them in moth-proof bags or taken other special precautions.

Paint brushes which are very bad may be made fit for use again. Heat vinegar to boiling point, allow the brush to simmer in it for half an hour, and wash in strong soap suds.

The brush will then be as good as ever—but beware of the brush with hairs glued in.

If cakes stick to the tin when you take them from the oven, stand the tin on a wet cloth for a few minutes.

When boiling rice, a few drops of lemon juice to the water helps to keep the grains apart and whitens the rice.

CUDDLE TOYS FUN TO MAKE

CUDDLE PILLOW AND TOYS PATTERN 514

By LAURA WHEELER

Every child loves soft toy animals. What tiny tot would not be delighted with this cuddly dog pillow that makes a nap something to look forward to instead of to evade? The dog can be made of any soft, white, or light-colored, plain material, with a pert ear in a figured material. The pillow measures 15x15 inches. The bunny, with ears that are made to stand nice and stiff, would certainly meet with loud approval, as it is about 8 inches tall without the ears, and so is a good size for tiny hands to hold. The little elephant appears amused at being covered with a gay print instead of a thick, leathery hide, and he is just as soft as he looks, and measures 8 inches in length when finished. Pattern 514 comes to you with a transfer pattern of the pillow and the two small animals, and complete directions and yardages for making them.

Send 10c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Departm Eighth avenue, New York City.

The first week brought in hundreds of recipes and, as they are published in the daily Sun-Telegraph from day to day, they will be found to be a valuable service to the women who have the problem of preparing and cooking the daily meals for the family. Prudence Penny suggests that as these prize-winning recipes are printed that they be clipped out by the readers and saved. In the end they will undoubtedly make a marvelous cook book.

Through the Sun-Telegraph Prudence Penny is paying $5 in cash prizes every day for the best recipes submitted. There is a $5 prize each day and 10 $1 prizes. Here is the list of prize-winning recipes selected for today and the names of the winners who submitted them:

MRS. ROBERT E. CHEW,

Mrs. Chew says: "The following recipe never fails to please guests, so it may interest you and your readers."

HAM AND PINEAPPLE CIRCLETS

Melt one-half cup of brown sugar, four tablespoons butter, and the juice from can of pineapple. Cover bottom of baking pan with this mixture. Place thick rounds of ham, with a large slice of canned pineapple on each round, on top of mixture. Bake in medium oven for half hour with lid on baking pan—remove lid and let pineapple brown. For decorative purposes you may put a large marshmellow on top of each round when you remove the lid for browning. The ham flavors the pineapple and the pineapple flavors the ham, and it's a delicious combination. Makes a good-looking meat course, too.

TEN PRIZES OF $1 EACH

—With—

Patricia Pitt

Pittsburgh is to be deserted this afternoon for a most important wedding, that of Mary Franklin Robinson, the older daughter of the William C. Robinsons, and William D. George, Jr., son of the William D. Georges, which is to take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Franklin Farms, the Robinsons' Sewickley Heights place.

Late autumn garden flowers against a background of lofty old pines form the setting for the out-of-door ceremony, with the bride's uncle, the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, as officiant.

The bride, to be given in marriage by her father, is to wear a strikingly simple gown of rich ivory satin, sheath-like to below the knees, and then flared. The sleeves are long, and tight-fitting at the wrist, and the train is of the satin and exquisite old lace. A wreath of orange blossoms is to hold her ivory tulle veil in place. She is to carry lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Her attendants, including her sister, Althea Robinson as maid of honor, and Mrs. Myron H. Wilson, (the former Peggy Milligan, as matron of honor, are to wear autumn-colored gowns—apricot and burnt orange velvet.

Sister Attendant

The maid and matron of honor are to have gowns of burnt orange velvet with apricot velvet for accent, and the bridesmaids are to wear similar gowns of apricot velvet with burnt orange for accent. Their hats are to be smart, small affairs of the velvet, and their flowers are to be varied shades of African daisies.

The bridesmaids are Mrs. William H. Trimble (Margaret Rose), Mrs. Henry Oliver, Jr. (Emily Frew), Mrs. William A. Gordon III (Madelaine Alexander, cousin of the bride), Mrs. Frank B. McKown, of New York (Helen Pendleton) and Mrs. Henry Marvin Dodge, Jr., of Toledo; Elizabeth George, sister of the bridegroom; Rebecca Doyle, Sewickley, and Amelia Overall, St. Louis.

Ledlie W. Young is to be best man, and William Christopher Robinson, Jr., and Alexander Laughlin Robinson, brothers of the bride; William L. Standish III, Henry Oliver, Jr., Thomas E. Rhodes, William H. Trimble, Rowland Erving, of Sewickley and Pittsburgh; Leighton H. Stevens and J. Ripley Bigelow, New York; Waller B. Booth, Jr., Philadelphia, and Dan P. Caulkins, Englewood, N. J., are to be ushers.

Wedding Ushers

A reception at Franklin Farms will follow the wedding, one of the most outstanding of the year.

COSTUMES FOR THE CAMPUS ARE SMARTLY STURDY AND SIMPLE

YOU ALL know the story of the sad-faced freshman who made the mistake of bringing velvets and furs and fancy feathers to college, when it was sweaters and skirts, classic sports dresses and ulster-type coats she needed instead. Since then, thousands and thousands of words of propaganda have been written every day to warn her friends not to commit the same mistake. If they do, it is open admission that they never bother reading the daily newspapers. Advertising departments as well as newspaper fashion writers have preached against this folly long and well this season.

IF SHE knows her P's and Q's, she'll arm herself with dashing out absolutely correct sports clothes, the kind seen on old-time collegians the world over—from London to Washington Square and Northampton, Mass.

BUYING THE topcoat is one of the first requirements to consider. For these, a certain well-known American manufacturer of fine woolen fabrics has just perfected a series of new woolens in stone colors that are simply divine. His winter color chart reads like a geological collection. Iron-quartz (brown), caramine (old gold), azurite (blue), cinnabar (red) malachite (darkish green), serpentine (bright green) and many other equally effective stones have been duplicated. With costumes of these woolens, clips and brooches of matching stone jewelry will turn any young girl's heart.

THE SAME dyes that color the heavy tweeds are used to dip soft crepey woolens for dresses to be worn under the coats. The slight gradation of tone that comes from putting two weights of the same color together is surprisingly chic.

* * *

SINCE FATE forces you to be a bit practical on the campus, then get a good heavy topcoat of the type sketched at the left. This doesn't mean a plain topcoat with a slice of fur sitting somewhere near the neck in the old way. It's either lots of fur, or none. That's why we chose the untrimmed model in the sketch. Such a coat, with contrast offered by appliques of tucked fabric, is smart enough to go anywhere in the daytime after classes are over.

ALL THE fabrics resembling suede seem to make a firm bid for popularity too. A raincoat manufacturer sent his own daughter off to school in the brown suede raincoat sketched at the right. She'll probably wear it, rain or shine, or even pray for rain occasionally! Raincoats inspire you that way, this year.

Barbara's Prince Absolved in 'Lack Of Generosity'

PARIS.—Archbishop Jacob, of the Russian Church in Paris, has absolved Prince Alexis Mdivani of "tardy payment and lack of generosity" at the time he married Barbara Hutton, heiress daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn L. Hutton, of New York.

Though Prince Alexis paid 8,000 francs for decorations, he requested postponement of payment to the clergy for laying the carpet used only for royalty.

Church officials were politely dunning Alexis for several thousands of francs this week, but today Jacob told Barbara's father, who presented himself at the church:

"Alexis Mdivani made a donation of 20,000 francs on the day of the wedding. We no longer expect anything but the sum which his generosity dictates when he returns to Paris."

When Alexis "returns to Paris," then, his absolution may come up for ratification. One Paris newspaper reports that Hutton telephoned his son-in-law on the Riviera, and that Alexis denied not paying his church bills.

Through the Spyglass
Viewing the New

With a low bow we humbly lay this new offering in your laps . . . and hope you'll like it! On the left behold us, spyglass clutched in fist, leaning from our tower to see the new "newnesses" as they appear 'round the shops. For any information on where to find the items mentioned here, phone Grant 6500, and ask for the Spyglass, or send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here's a thought . . . a Westinghouse heater thing . . . a sort of toaster-looking affair with adjustable rack, which can be raised to a reasonable height, and from which stockings and gloves and baby panties can all be hung to dry. Small enough to tuck into a cupboard shelf when you're through. $1, the price.

And now just to be as much like the walrus as possible (shoes, ships, cabbages, and what-have-you) let's talk about hats! Please note the bonnet our friend wears at the top... his name is Cuthbert and the hat is after the fashion of all good little hats these days!

In fact, when we wriggled into the holy of holies of a hat department here in town, we saw such beautiful fur velvets that we promptly brought one back for Cuthbert. Lovely furry, shimmering ones in the jewel shades and black . . . exactly what Paris has been shouting itself hoarse about! (Suedes, too.) Styles and prices are too varied to even begin to go into here. Just go in and LOOK at them yourselves.

Flat on your back in the middle of the rug! That's where you'll find yourselves when you get this new business which is laying the town by the heels (literally!). It's the Stretch-A-Way . . . a harmless little jigger consisting mainly of a toehold and elastic thong to grab on to. The idea is, you stretch back and forth . . . practically gambol all 'round over the floor, and get a "figger" that will cause people to remark that they "knew you when"! The Stretch-A-Way is $2.95.

Which wanderings lead us to the inevitable maze known as accessories! But oh, this is a mere suggestion along the accessory line (we're promised more for later) Anyway, never mind "manana," but pay a little attention to the matching up of gloves, bags, belts, and even flowers which is being done nicely by one store. For you can get things like rings which have one big, bulbous button on them . . . in two-tone effect.

Nextly . . . our gambling spirit being up . . . we focus our spyglass on some seven-come-elevens which took our fancy in a shop. Two dice . . . forming a lamp to shed light on a number of matters! White gloss, black dotted, and priced $1.19!

* * *

When juggling your wardrobe to fit fall needs, be sure some of the balls you have in the air are balls of Glaconouer yarn for the mak- of sweaters! The cost of one of these super-super-special assistants to ANY wardrobe is about $3 . . . which simply screams savings when compared to machine knit ones found all over the landscape.

Parachute Jumper Drowns After Leap

DERBY, Vt., Sept. 25.—((AP.)—Robert Keating, 30, parachute jumper, of Springfield, Vt., drowned yesterday after he had leaped 1,900 feet from a plane during an air circus and landed in the waters of Derby pond as more than 3,000 persons watched.

Writer Says Women Should Fight Crime

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—As Mary Roberts Rinehart sees it, it's up to American women to "throttle the crime situation." The novelist said yesterday:

"Hand the job over to the women, now that men have had a chance, and once the women see their responsibility they will straighten out the situation."

Drawings to Illustrate Federation Conclave Program Booklets

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Although by no means voluminous, the illustrations for the State Federation convention programs will lend considerable interest to the booklets. They will consist of three drawings, the work of Mrs. O. G. Leichliter, talented member of the Wilkinsburg Women's Club and of the convention program committee. The front cover will carry a drawing of the Allegheny Observatory, which, as you know, is to be included in one of the convention play day tours.

A second sketch will be of the Old Stone Manse in South Park where luncheon will be held on play day. And on the back cover there's a map showing the Point and the route to the Wilkins Farm in Warren County. This is especially significant, since the burning of the $6,500 mortgage on the property is to take place on Thursday morning of convention week, October 8 to 13.

The 160 acres was bought four years ago by the State Federation and presented to the Federal Forerst Service to be added to Hearts Content in Allegheny National Forest.

As the Wilkins Farm was cleared land and the Forest Service's appropriations may be used only for the purchase of wooded land, the women bought the property to prevent its being developed commercially. The state board appropriated $500, made an initial payment of $1,500 and the mortgage has been cleared by subscriptions from individual clubs and club women. A history of the farm will be included in the printed program for the convention.

Health Education Demonstration at 'Y' Tomorrow

Among events of special interest at Central Branch Y. W. C. A.'s "Come and See" night, from 5 to 10 tomorrow night, will be demonstrations of activities in the health education department.

In the swimimng pool a novel formation swimming and diving program will be seen, special underwater lighting making this an unusually attractive feature.

In the gymnasium, girls will present a program of tumbling, badminton (the English game that has become so popular in this country), folk dancing by a group of Polish girls in costume and two creative dances, "Struggle," representing the period through which the country has just come, and "N. R. A.," representing the response of the people to the New Deal.

A luncheon and card party will be held tomorrow at Spear's by Triumph Chapter, No. 136, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. R. Rosenfelder and Miss Dorothy Rosenfelder are in charge.

'BUTTONS' GIVES MORE PRIZES

"Buttons" is on the "go" again today. He's starting out with $15 in his pocket to give to the fortunate readers of the Sun-Telegraph whose names are "paged" in the Want Ad sections of today's Sun-Telegraph.

"Buttons"

"Buttons" really needs no introduction. He has been calling on homes in the Pittsburgh area for three weeks, and when he rings a doorbell, he leaves a present of actual cash.

Attired in the natty red and blue uniform of a page, he has become familiar as the Sun-Telegraph's ambassador of the "Spend a Dollar . . . Make a Job . . . Buy in September and Save" campaign.

"Buttons" makes it possible for 11 Sun-Telegraph readers to participate every day in this campaign on the spending side, because one of these 11 is handed $5 in cash and the other 10 are given $1 each. He may call at your home tomorrow. You can find out whether or not this happy messenger is going to ring your doorbell and give you a surprise by reading the Sun-Telegraph every day. If your name is printed in the list on the Want Ad page it means that "Buttons" has been given a cash award to deliver to you at your home.

Watch the Sun-Telegraph for your name, and then listen for the doorbell to ring and get the thrill of receiving a cash reward from "Buttons."

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Mr. Driscoll says you can't do anything about that phony clipping that chump—all you can do is run a blind line that you have no connection with any magazine—maybe that'll help . . . Judge Bushel phoned. Said that the reports elsewhere about Rudy Vallee settling $150,000 on his wife aren't true . . . Betty Real is married all right, but something's happened . . . Nelson Robins, president of the Newspaper Club says it is being reorganized . . . Surviving kin of the late Alan Dale wish you would help stifle the impostor on the coast who masquerades there as the critic's son . . . Edna Leedom (Mrs. Frank Doelger), gave a party at her estate—and her guest of honor was her ex-husband D. Stamper!

They expect trouble during the run of "Thunder Over Mexico"—anybody coming with a package must check it at the door . . . A "constant reader" phoned. Wants to know where he can place 2 Gs on La Guardia to win . . . Desk wants to find out if the manager of Loew's Lexington Theater is the son of the late Earl of Lathom, who was Lord Chamberlain to Queen Victoria . . . Natalie Carpenter in "Bridges to Cross" is Jean Harlow's cousin. The reason the police made the press dep't for "Berkeley Square" remove that neat gag for advertising from all Times Square lamp posts was one of the newspapers, which grunted about it, for some reason or other . . . Jack LaRue's last name isn't Lo Bue—which is mother's maiden name. His correct name is Gasper Biondohillo, too many readers want you to know . . . Prince Mike Romanoff had Boston police trouble, again.

A new governing power will move into one of the theatrical producing offices soon. Vincent Astor, who will back it—and Owen D. Young will govern . . . Paul Kelly has been signed for a long spell by 20th Century Productions after impressing most favorably for Zanuck . . . A new opera company will tenant at the Manhattan Opera House in a few months . . . Frank Hawks is authoring the aviation chapter of the new American supplement for the encyclopedias . . . When Dorothy Parker went down to the Bowery and came home tattooed—it was Ben Wasson, the literary agent, who went with her—and had pink elephants put on his chest! . . . The publishers of "The Last Round Up" argue that it isn't an old cowboy classic, at all. It is from the composer of "Cabin in the Pines"—Billy Hill, who feels glum over the statement.

Simon and Schuster hope that their newest game will replace cross-word puzzles, etc. They call in "Snap Judgment"—a series of photographs of people with reps. The big idea is to recognize them in less time than the others playing with you. In sum, a new public enemy of ennui. . . Nelda Kincaid is in the hospital—append trouble. Heard this—England has a law demanding that scenery of a show must be destroyed or shipped out of the country at the expiration of the run. It cannot be used, again—labor laws, I think . . . When "Champagne Supper" closed, Charlot shipped it to A. C. Blumenthal here. Blumey refused to accept it and sent it back to Charlot—who is stuck with the freight charges, etc. . . . And if Blumey goes to London he will be sued or something. Laws are like that . . . Sex Science is the newest of that type of magazine—nothing smuttle about it, either. By the way, it might please your ego to know that the State of Washington recognizes "blessed event." Judge Millard in his opinion in the Hart vs. Hogan case said: "Respondent and wife, to whom several children had been born, expected another blessed event on June 15th, 1930."

The American Railway Ass'n is hurt over the crack that Britain had fewer accidents in 1932 and that "U. S. Railroads might copy the fact" . . . They forward the record that for the same year only one passenger lost his life here . . . Peter Dixon, the radio critic, is a little different from the bunch—because press agents for stars have dined him all these years—he turned around and gave all the exploiters a banquet last week . . . Girls who let themselves gather too much tonnage are recommended to the charm of Molly O'Day, who has thinned down plenty . . . Milton Berle is dickering for the master of ceremony post at the Vanity Fair Club, due to reopen—a good bet . . . William Gaxton has invested his jack in a new perfume . . . Ben Washer resigned his critic job . . . General Hugh Johnson's recent remarks against a certain phase of local financial houses was aimed directly at a group headed by an utility king, who is considering spending the Winter abroad—not far from Athens, Greece—get it?

Rochelle Hudson won't have to spend her time on the Fox lot posing with soap, creams and tomato cans—she finally got a part—a big one in the Will Rogers' movie . . . Douglas Fairbanks has been so completely damned by the stories of British citizenship—United Artists have taken his name off everything, including the stationery . . . Paul Moss and Jerry Wald may be $10,000 richer this week—their "inside" radio fable almost being peddled to the studios on the coast . . . Vonnie Sheldon, who went to Majorca to "get away from it all," is five minutes away from the old heart . . . The talk had it that Jock Whitney went for $40,000 at Saratoga—but the dice houses titter at that—claiming Jock had some marvelous nights . . . In what way does the NRA code affect radio stations that have so many sustaining artists, who work for nothing? . . . Bob Reud finally connected with a hookup here—he has an affable tone about him . . . William Rowland has a broken wing . . . The Jackie Heller-Ruth (Paradise) Greeley wedding is slated for next month.

Vivien Denton, who has given up her Greenwich Village manner, has written a novel, "A Daughter Weeps," and wants a break . . . The Wisconsin boys consider you New Yorkers just so much dopes. Some of them were amused because it was reported Janet Gaynor was there incog. She concealed herself at all Saturday night dances at Trout Lake, it appears, disguised in flaming Hollywood pajamas—frightening the simple folk there . . . Alex Gallion, a bartender at the Nut Club, was once the baritone lead at the Metropolitan Opera House . . . Estelle Adler, the actress, has invented a new face-lifting method sans the use of surgery—a muscle chart trick or something plus a cream, of course . . . Harry Bannister, ex of Ann Harding, is back—and will act, again—instead of directing . . . James Collins, formerly with Horace Liveright, is setting up his own publishing biz—his first book is by Sally Chase . . . The movement is on to make the waltz the "smart" dance this winter . . . Dorothy Fields has pleurisy . . . I have a headache, the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting used to it.—Your Girl Friday.

Fans Ask Max How Garbo Looks

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 25.—Here's one for the sillies who've been hinting that Greta Garbo may not be so hot a drawing card after her year-and-a-half's absence from the screen.

Since the story broke about Max Baer crashing the "Queen Christina" set, the beau brummel of fisticuffs has received 3,800 letters and telegrams from motion picture fans asking every conceivable question about the glamorous Swede.

Max Baer

They plead to know how Max got on the set, how Garbo was dressed, what color her hair is, what kind of a voice she has off-screen, did she recognize him and what did she have to say.

Reflected glory is something new to this buckaroo of boxing, but Max has conscientiously hired a secretary to answer all the queries.

The inscrutable Marlene Dietrich sails for America and refuses to state why she never visited Germany during her trip.

Josef von Sternberg, her director and mentor, doubted if it had anything to do with the Hitler regime.

"No one ever stays in Berlin in the summer-time," he said. "In Miss Dietrich's case there were special reasons, because her mother was in Switzerland, her husband was working in Paris and her friends were in Vienna. As far as I know, her program would have been just the same if Hitler hadn't been in power."

I'm going to let you in on a little trick Doris Kenyon has been playing on her friends. The star has been secretly singing on local radio programs under the name of Margaret Taylor. She hit upon the idea to get a radio audition with minimum nervousness and to find out what kind of program the public wants. Since everything was satisfactory, she plans to go East and sign up with a national network as soon as she finishes her part in Universal's "Counselor At Law."

Miss Kenyon

No wonder Dr. Francis Griffen kept postponing his departure from Hollywood. Now Irene Dunne has finished her picture and can make the trip with him. It will be their first time to cross the continent together, and Irene has the studio's permission to spend three weeks with her commuting husband in New York.

The cardinal sin at a movie studio is to take a visitor on the process stage where they make trick shots. Fox officials almost fell in a dead faint when Will Rogers calmly ushered in 100 visiting English sailors from H. M. S. The Dragon . . . Not only Charles Farrell and George O'Brien, but numerous other stars, and at least, one director, contributed money to send representatives of the motion picture extras to the code conference in Washington . . . Remember Gladys McConnell, Wampas baby star of a few years ago? She's the mother of a seven-pound baby boy, born Friday at the Benedict Hospital. Gladys is married to A. Ronald Button . . . Bruce Cabot really needn't worry about that option, because the head-man, Merian C. Cooper calls him "the Gable of R. K. O."

Did you know: That Boris Karloff was trained for the British consular service?

Mr. Rogers.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

As frequently occurs, the honor of a world premiere of an important play will come to the Nixon tonight. However, the coincidence of a first performance of a new work and the opening of the legitimate season is not so frequent as a premiere alone, for Pittsburgh often has been the scene of such an event. Mention above to the importance of the play may seem premature, inasmuch as tomorrow may reveal it to be inconsequential, but today it is a matter of prime interest because it was written by Eugene O'Neill. Mr. O'Neill has written a lot of piffle, and he scarcely can be called a disciple of noble emotion, but he never yet has written a thing that one may contemplate passively. And he has garnered many laurels. Personally, I think he is the foremost living dramatist, and certainly he is the leader in the American theater, at least. For that reason any new play from his pen is important until it has been proven otherwise. Another reason why tonight looms big is the fact that George M. Cohan, one of the few really adept comedians we have left, is at the head of a Theater Guild acting company that has the responsibility of interpreting whatever thought—great or trivial — Mr. O'Neill may have. And it is cryptically called "Ah, Wilderness."

Next week the Nixon will present a photoplay version of one of last season's New York stage hits, "Dinner at Eight." It will be given twice daily with an all-star cast, Marie Dressler, John and Lionel Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Edmund Lowe, Lee Tracy, Madge Evans, Billie Burke, May Robson, Phillips Holmes and others. George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber wrote the play. Seats will be on sale Thursday.

Odds and Ends

FROM A correspondent who neglects to sign his name, comes the rather silly story of the American wrestler who was lured to Europe by the promise of big money and jolly times. The jolly times didn't materialize and, more important, neither did the money. And before he quite realized what had happened, our hero was stranded in Germany.

He wanted nothing more than to get back to America as quickly as possible, but he lacked the necessary cash for the journey. There were no wrestling bouts to be had, so he looked around for something else. He finally hit upon the idea of doing a turn in vaudeville as a strong man.

At the first show, he stepped confidently upon the stage and bowed to his audience. Nonchalantly, he picked up a 100-pound weight and lifted it above his head. There wasn't a ripple of applause.

The American looked at his audience, shrugged his shoulders and picked up a weight of 200 pounds. He swung this one above his head, and looked out in anticipation. It was as if he had done nothing at all. There wasn't so much as a ripple of applause.

"My gosh," he muttered to himself, "what does a guy have to do to get a hand here? Well, I'll show 'em!"

He stooped over and picked up a weight of 300 pounds. It was a tough assignment for him, and the veins in his neck stood out like cords. But he managed it—and once more he looked to his audience for a hand. There wasn't any. It was strictly a dead silence.

Thoroughly enraged, the wrestler dropped the weight and walked down to the footlights.

"Say," he cried, "is there anyone here who speaks English?"

"Yes," replied a voice from the balcony, "I do."

The fed-up Samson scowled mightily.

"Well," he yelled, "you—for one—can go to hell!" . . .

A FINAL check-up on the Joe Green contest that I started so innocently in this space some time back, reveals the fact that 7,112 customers submitted columns to this office in one form or another. I must apologize again for my tardiness in announcing and printing the winning columns, but I honestly cannot move any faster.

Entries came in from all over the nation and, to be fair to everyone, I must read each and every one. I judge that it will take me from seven to ten more days to complete the lot, and I will then announce the winners immediately.

It strikes me, incidentally, that if I used all the columns submitted in the contest, I wouldn't have to work for twenty years.

"You mean," said my secretary when I told him, "for another twenty years."

SOME years back, when I was exposing minor rackets in my column, a contributor sent me a loud squawk about a certain newspaper correspondence school. He had spent some $50, he explained, in order to learn to be a crack newspaperman—and the only thing they had sent him was a fake police card with "reporter" printed on it.

He enclosed the fake card, and plenty of data to prove the fact that he had been sadly gypped. I employed the information in a short article and promptly forgot about it. But the contributor didn't. Through the years, he has been writing and requesting me to return his phony police card.

The other morning, he finally reached me on the phone. He demanded his card.

"I'm sorry, buddy," I explained patiently, "but I have no idea where that card is now. Besides, what good is it? I printed your story and exposed the racket, didn't I?"

The contributor was very much in accord.

"Sure," he replied, "And I'm glad you did. Because any outfit that sends out phony police cards deserves to be exposed. They're just no good and they ought to be ashamed of themselves."

He paused.

"But," he added, "I'm sure sorry you lost my card. I had a great racket getting through police lines and into movie houses for nothing!"...

SOME time ago, I wrote a long story about Jacob Methusaleh Minas, of the island of Bali. Minas is known as the uncrowned king of Bali, and has lived there for some 20 years. It was strictly through Mina's efforts that Bali became publicized, and that "Goona-Goona" land is today known all over the world.

When I was in Bali, Minas was my host. There are some 600,000 women on the island, and it seemed to me that Minas knew them all. If ever a white man was in a spot to command a harem, Minas was that bird. And if you've seen any of the motion pictures that were made in Bali, you'll know that some of the damsels down there are plenty easy on the eyes.

Yesterday, a letter arrived for me from my old friend, Frank Van Horn, of Java. In it, Frank gave me news of Minas. It seems that Minas has finally taken a six months' vacation from the island he loves so dearly.

And where do you think he has gone? You're wrong again. He is traveling thousands of miles up into the interior of his native Persia in order to find himself a wife! . . .

ENLIST PINCHOT FOR HOUSING

A request that Gov. Pinchot include housing in his call for a special session of the Legislature, expected about October 1, was made in a letter to the Executive from John Ihlder, director of the Pittsburgh Housing Association yesterday. The letter read in part:

"We understand that you are considering wording the call for the special session in such a way that it would include legislation of any kind designed to assure effective co-operation with the federal government in promoting economic recovery. Such a wording unquestionably including the housing would fully meet our desires."

4 ON HIGHWAY KILLED BY AUTO

ELKINS, W. Va., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Four homes in this section were in mourning today as the aftermath of an automobile tragedy in which a coupe loaded with young people plowed into a group of pedestrians on the road to Belington, Saturday night.

Junior Myers, the driver, son of a Philippi doctor, told police he was forced to drive into the pedestrians to avoid hitting another car on a curve.

Pauline Glendening, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Glendening, of Gage, was killed outright. Hartzel Skidmore, of Weaver, and Frankie Baisi, of Norton, died en route to an Elkins hospital, and Londy Abrogast died in a hospital.

SEVEN ARRESTED IN SECURITIES RAID HERE RELEASED

HILL SEARCHED FOR KNIFE SLAYER

Two Suspects Held in Killing, Result Of Insult

With two men under arrest, sleuths continued to scour the Hill district today for the Negro who, according to a police report, fatally stabbed Edward McNamara, 22, in front of his home, 1910 Webster avenue, early yesterday, while his sister and a half dozen of his friends looked on.

A knife thrust that pierced his heart met McNamara when he caught up with four Negroes he pursued after one of them voiced an insult, police were told.

According to information, the remark was passed as McNamara was sitting in the rumble seat of an automobile with his sister, Mary Rita McNamara, 17, and a half dozen other young men and women.

McNamara leaped from the car and ran after the Negroes. When he overtook them a short distance away a knife was wielded, McNamara fell dying, and the Negroes fled. With them, it was reported, were some Negro women, one of whom goaded her companions to attack McNamara.

None of McNamara's companions knew the identity of the assailant, they said, but they were to be asked today to view Benjamin Menser, a Negro, of Devilliers street, arrested in the vicinity yesterday by Center Avenue police on suspicion.

The second suspect, Zellous Woods, 36, Negro, of 1536 Webster avenue was taken into custody after he was said by police to have boasted in a Negro cabaret that he had "cut a white man."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 25. To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

"Iowa Farmers' Holiday Association will strike if the President don't guarantee passage of the Frazier mortgage refinincing bill."

Will Rogers

How in the world can Mr. Roosevelt guarantee what Congress will do? There is not even a fortune teller would dare predict.

They will meet, and from then on we just got to put our trust in the Lord. I am not trying to advise the "holiday farmers," for I don't know what a holiday farmer is, but it's a tough time for any one group to start making demands, for I think you will find this fellow feels he owes allegiance to the eater, as well as the raiser.

The farmer deserves a profit, but the guy that's not eating deserves a meal more. The stockholder deserves his dividend, but the unemployed deserves his job more. I can think of nothing more unpopular than a strike, a strike of anything. Yours, WILL.

When You Visit N. Y. Take Your Own Soap Box

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

If you haven't been mentioned for mayor of New York City it is because the letter got caught in the mail chute.

There's a three-cornered struggle going on. The Democrats own the wagon, the Republicans claim the mule and nobody can find the whip.

The fusionists have allied with the Republicans against Tammany. The old guard has lined up with the Democrats against the fusionists. If anybody is running on an independent ticket it is only because nobody will talk to him.

Brooklyn broke loose from Tammany last week and is running wilder than a turpentined cat. There is mutiny in the Bronx and insubordination in Manhattan.

The most prominent candidate is head and shoulders above the crowd. That's because he is standing on a soap box.

We invite visitors to get into the struggle. We know you can't be mayor if you don't live here. But that will not stop you from voting.

Rebuilt Bridge to Get New Lease on Life

Before snow flies, Pittsburgh, the home of aluminum, will own the first bridge in the world partly constructed of strong aluminum alloys, according to Edward G. Lang, director of Public Works.

Reconstruction of the Smithfield Street Bridge, now under way and scheduled for completion by November 1, includes a new floor of aluminum structural plates, shapes, and beams, he explains.

The Smithfield Street Bridge was built in 1883, three years before Charles Martin Hall discovered a process for manufacturing aluminum cheaply in commercial quantities.

Recently city engineers examining the aging bridge, shaken every minute of the day by the pound of heavy street car, automobile and truck traffic, gave it only five more years to live. Then they began to figure on aluminum.

Use of strong aluminum alloys, lightening it of 850 tons of dead weight, they believe now, will add 30 years to its life. And the city taxpayers, it is declared, will save $70,000 a year, or a total in 30 years of $2,100,000 counting finance charges if a new bridge were built now, Lang estimates.

Sabbath School Body To Ballot on Codes

The convention opened yesterday with Dr. Daniel Webster Kurtz, president of Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, as the principal speaker.

Dr. E P Westphal, of Philadelphia, director of adult education and men's work for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, addressed the assembled delegates today. Dr. Kurtz also will speak at tomorrow's morning and afternoon sessions.

More than 1,000 persons attended the opening session yesterday.

Conversation About Gangster Leads to Important Clue

CHAPTER XVI.

"It will be interesting, won't it?" laughed Durant.

He picked up the suitcases and walked across the room. At the door he paused and looked back. Crelliman's hand was at his shoulder again and Durant knew how the man's fingers must itch to touch the gun undoubtedly concealed in a holster inside his coat.

"I wouldn't do it, Crelliman. It's a rap you'd find it hard to beat."

He dropped one suitcase on the floor, opened the door, picked up the bag again, stepped across the threshold and kicked the door to behind him. He walked to the elevator, set his burdens down and pressed the bell. Then he wiped his forehead with a handkerchief.

Synopsis

Jackson Durant, young lawyer, has alienated his society friends and lost his fiancee, Sue Leonard, because of his success as the "mouthpiece" who won the acquittal of the notorious Tony Gazotti. Miss Leonard then becomes engaged to Tom Siddall, youthful broker. Shortly afterwards Siddall is arrested, charged with the murder of Mimi Montagne, who was shot dead on the terrace of a penthouse owned by Jim Crelliman. Sue begs Durant to get busy in Siddall's behalf. Durant believes the broker is innocent and secures the aid of Gazotti, who introduces him to Gertie Waxted, closest friend of the murdered entertainer. The lawyer takes Gertie to his apartment for questioning. She agrees to help Siddall's defense. Durant borrows her ring and visits the pawnshop of Levitoff, pawnbroker, who told police he sold a gun to Siddall. Shortly afterwards Levitoff is found shot to death. Durant suspects Crelliman. Later Crelliman offers to make the attorney his partner and send him abroad with a $200,000 retainer, but Durant refuses and is threatened.

Now Go On

Well, he hadn't been too smart, had he? He cursed himself fluently though silently. Why hadn't he temporized with Crelliman? Then he shrugged his shoulders. Crelliman wouldn't have believed him had he pretended willingness to accept the gangster's bribe, had he simulated fear at threat. Crelliman wouldn't be any more opposed to him because of the blow he had received, and delivery of that blow had been soothing to Durant's self-esteem.

This man had had the insolence to utter threats; he had dared in some way to poison Sue's mind. Hitting him was slight repayment for the things he had done. Also, rage and humiliation would make Crelliman less cautious, and any weakness in his opponent would be of vital aid to Durant.

Besides, and his thin lips widened in a grin, he hadn't socked anyone on the jaw in years; it was a pleasure to learn that he still packed a punch. He was still smiling as he stepped into the elevator.

Returns Home

The hallman took his suitcases from him as the elevator reached the ground floor and Durant followed the man to the sidewalk. He glanced warily up and down before stepping into the taxi called for him. Crelliman had proved to be a coward; at least, he showed more self-restraint than brave men usually show. And cowards are usually attended in matters that may involve violence.

It was not like a big shot like Crelliman to walk even from his own apartment door to the Oklahoma Building half a block away without an escort. But if any of Crelliman's followers lurked near by, Durant could not recognize them as such among the casual pedestrians. So he tipped the hallman and got into the machine. Ten minutes later, unmolested on the way, he had arrived at his own apartment.

"Thought you'd never come back," said Gertie. She still wore his pajamas and her tiny feet were thrust into a pair of his slippers, absurdly large for her.

"Been places, doing things," he rejoined.

SCIENCE CREED PREACHED HERE

"Christian Science; the Conquest Over Wrong Thinking," was discussed by John Randall Dunn, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, yesterday.

Speaking under the auspices of the First, Second and Third Churches of Christ, Scientist, of Pittsburgh, in the Stanley Theater, Dunn said:

"The teachings of Christ Jesus appeal to the thinker. Two of his cardinal precepts are, 'Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free,' and 'This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent.' Here is a statement of law—that freedom and eternal life can be experienced as one knows the truth about God and His reflection.

"Notice that a stronger word than thinking is used here. The Master did not promise deliverance and freedom to the one who merely thought about the truth, but to the one who knew the truth. Here really is the point of distinction between Mary Baker Eddy and the philosophers and thinkers who preceded and followed her. They may have glimpsed the spirit of the metaphysical aspects of being; but she perceived, that is, knew, the truth, and demonstrated that she knew it by solving both for herself and others all manner of human problems.

"She healed sickness, sin, appetite, lack, unhappiness, and human anguish as they have not been hearled since the days of the Master and his apostles. To aver that the healing which Mrs. Eddy taught and practiced is just a form of mental suggestion that she learned from a magnetic doctor and therefore that she is not the genuine author of Christian Science, is as vain as would be the assertion that Columbus was not the discoverer of the West Indies, because, perchance, someone once told him that there must be land beyond the horizon!"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug store. NRA

STUDENT HERE HELD IN WEST AS KIDNAPER

When young Thomas A. Davis had an argument with his family, he sneaked out of his home at 2956 Banksville road in the middle of the night and headed west. That was last Thursday.

Today, Davis, 19, and a senior at South Hills High School, was in real trouble in Kansas City, Mo. He had been wounded in the arm and he was accused of stealing an auto and kidnaping the three occupants, two of them women.

The police said the boy had told of stealing an auto near Pittsburgh and abandoning it near Peoria, Ill. Then, so the authorities quoted, he seized one in which Mrs. Fred Heffern, her daughter, and Charles Church, of Lewistown, Ill., were riding, forcing them to accompany him for several miles before they were ejected on a highway.

The youth had a revolver, police said, which, he told them, he had taken from a deputy sheriff and had fired at the officer, but didn't know whether he was wounded.

Davis was in jail today. He was reported to have been shot in the arm when he refused to pay for gasoline at a filling station at East Peoria, Ill. He was arrested in Kansas City after he had gone to a physician for treatment.

BYRD'S SUPPLY SHIP SAILS

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—(AP.)—The Bear, first of the two ships, which will carry Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition to the South Seas, cleared port today amid the shouted farewells of wellwishers.

Admiral Byrd, himself, was aboard and accompanied the old sealer as far as the outer harbor.

The Bear, supply ship of the expedition, was expected to reach Dunedin, New Zealand, the base, in about 60 days. There cargoes will be shifted and the sealer will head South into the ice of the Bay of Whales for Byrd's frozen homestead, Little America.

Three persons from the Pittsburgh district are sailing with Byrd. They are Finn Ronne, of this city, in charge of skis and dog teams, Alton Lindsay, of West Newton, one of the biologists aboard, and Vernon D. Boyd, a member of the crew, who hails from Turtle Creek.

M'KEE TO RUN, FRIENDS INSIST

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Friends of Joseph V. McKee, who became acting Mayor of New York when Walker resigned, were so confident today that McKee will announce this week his candidacy for Mayor on an independent ticket that the names of prospective running mates were taken under consideration.

McKee, who during the Walker regime was president of the Board of Aldermen, continued to maintain an adamant silence. He adhered to his policy that he is out of public life and is not a candidate for office.

Nevertheless, the movement to draft him had gained such impetus today, striking its roots deep in The Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens, that some of his close friends made elated predictions of his early acceptance of the impending call.

FAMOUS BOOK PUBLISHER DIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Horace Liveright, who deserted bonds for books and became widely known publisher of belles-lettres, died yesterday of pneumonia in his fiftieth year.

With Albert Boni, he founded the "Modern Library" in 1917 and watched it become one of the world's most popular series of reprints. He was called the first publisher to take an active interest in Eugene O'Neill, and he lent encouragement to Theodore Dreiser, Ernest Hemingway, Ben Hecht and many others.

After early schooling in the mining town of Osceola Mills, Pa., he became an office boy for a Philadelphia broker and later a successful securities executive in New York.

But his real passion was literature, and he turned to publishing. His rule about young authors, his friends said, was always to give their first books a chance because their second might be good.

Burial will be in Philadelphia tomorrow.

Repeal to Revive Soup-and-Fish, Arbiter Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Maurice Rentner foresees America donning its soup-and-fish suits to savor the return of legal liquor.

Rentner announced yesterday that the Fashion Originators' Guild, of which he is chairman, had written to 3,000 department stores and specialty shops urging that they plan now to market more formal clothes.

He said prohibition killed "restaurants and lobster palaces to which people came to see and be seen." He said repeal will bring a new era of sociability, with profit to the formal clothes trade.

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Third Base Series Hoodoo. •Donlin Colorful Fighter. Giant Handican Old Story. Doubt Ruth-Tiger Rumors. Several Substitutes Shine. Teaching Irish Grid Style.

MANY SHIFTS AT HOT CORNER FOR DERBY

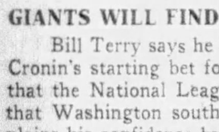
With Johnny Vergez ordered to attempt nothing more strenuous than a coaching or pinch-hitting role in the approaching title debate between the Giants and the Senators, while Travis Jackson fills in for him at third base, the situation in the Terry camp recalls that the third sack has been the scene of more shifts and changes for world series competition than any other position on the field. It started in 1906, when George Rohe had to be placed at the hot corner for the White Sox so that Lee Tannehill could move over to shortstop to replace the ailing George Davis.



Johnny Vergez

In 1908, the Tigers started out with Germany Schaefer at third, switched to Bill Coughlin for two games and then back to Schaefer. In the final game of the 1909 series, Bobby Byrne suffered a sprained ankle and Tommy Leach had to be called in from center field to cover the bag for the Pirates.

Just before the end of the 1914 season Red Smith went down with a broken leg, and Chuck Deal, of Wilkinsburg, filled in at third for the Braves in the derby. During the 1920 series, Jimmy Johnston was hurt and Tommy Sheehan plugged the hole for the Dodgers. In the final game of the 1921 stakes the Yankees sent Home Run Baker in to replace Mike McNally.

LINDSTROM SHINES ON SHORT EXPERIENCE

Heinie Groh was lost to the Giants for the 1924 classic, and Freddie Lindstrom, though serving only his first season in the big show and having played only eleven major league games at third base, jumped in and shone through the entire series. For part of the same title struggle Ossie Bluege shifted to shortstop and Ralph Miller went to third for the Senators. In 1925, the same club lifted Bluege in favor of Buddy Myer and then sent Bluege back again.

The third-base hoodoo also forced Pie Traynor to go into the 1925 series for the Pirates with a severely injured finger wrapped in bandages, but Pie fought his way through despite the handicap. In 1928, Gene Robertson relieved Joe Dugan in two games for the Yanks. In 1930, Andy High supplanted Sparky Adams in one game for the Cards, and in 1931 the same club used three men at the jinx position during the series—High, Adams and Jake Flowers. Strangely enough, in some instances the emergency third-sackers have performed so brilliantly as to rank among the series stars, notably Rohe, Deal and Lindstrom.

GIANTS WILL FIND WHITEHILL IMPROVED

Bill Terry says he has no great fear of Earl Whitehill, Joe Cronin's starting bet for the world series, and does not figure that the National League champions will be stopped dead by that Washington southpaw. Terry explains his confidence by saying that the Giants saw plenty of Whitehill on spring trips with the Detroit club, while the left-hander was pitching for the Tigers, and never had any real trouble with him.

Earl Whitehill

It might be well for the New York manager not to take too much for granted in that direction. The Whitehill of today is far different from the one of Tiger times. According to American League men who have observed him closely this year, the southpaw changed his style radically after he was traded to Washington and is 50 per cent better than when he was hurling for Detroit. And even more important than his mechanical improvement is the fact that Whitehill has lost the inferiority complex or second-division mental handicap that hampered him as a Tiger.

DONLIN ONE OF GAME'S FIGHTING PLAYERS

A standout of baseball's fighting days and a former Pirate has passed in the death of Mike Donlin. Turkey Mike, who started his major league career with the St. Louis Nationals in 1899 as a southpaw pitcher and then became an outfielder, was one of the greatest hitters of his time and splashed enough color to paint a battleship. Few games were dull when Donlin was in the lineup. He hit well over .300 nine times, his top mark having been .356 in 1905.

Donlin jumped from St. Louis to the Baltimore Americans in 1900 with John McGraw, Wilbert Robinson and Willie Keeler; joined the Cincinnati Reds in 1902 and reached his heights later with the Giants, for whom he played center field in the famous all-shutout world series of 1905. Pittsburgh figured in a three-cornered deal that sent Mike to the Giants, the Reds trading Mike to New York for Harry McCormick, and then trading McCormick to the Pirates for Jimmy Sebring. Donlin dropped out of baseball for three years to go on the stage after marrying Mabel Hite, but returned to join the Boston Nationals in 1911 and played for the Pirates during 1912.

DOUBT THAT RUTH WILL SUCCEED HARRIS

Rumors that Babe Ruth will be the man to succeed Bucky Harris as manager of the Detroit club are not readily credited in baseball circles. Col. Ruppert isn't likely to turn the Bambino over to a rival club without a lot of thought. New York fans might not take kindly to the release of Ruth before he has been given a managerial chance at home.

Harris' statement that he felt it was time to step down and let somebody else try to get better results with the club, makes nice reading, but many fans believe there was more than that behind his resignation. Conditions have not been overly pleasant for Harris in Detroit for the last year or two, it is said.

CHANGING TEAM TO IRISH STYLE NOT EASY

It is no easy task that confronts a former Notre Dame football player when he becomes head coach at another college and starts converting the team to the Irish style of play. At Fordham, for instance, Jimmy Crowley finds that for the present he can expect nothing more than a close approximation as he endeavors to supplant the straight-charging, straight-ahead attack of the late Maj. Frank Cavanaugh with something more deceptive.

Jimmy Crowley

Crowley says he has had no trouble installing the Notre Dame shift. That's easy — just a skip. But he has got to teach the linemen how to shoulder-block; he must get the backs spinning in order to give the plays the proper deception, and it is necessary to get the timing down more accurately. Crowley explains that the center is a particular problem. Special attention must be given to teaching the center how to pass correctly, as different types of Notre Dame plays require different types of passes, and a poor pass can ruin a play.

GIANTS' STAR BATTERY . . . . MANCUSO AND HUBBELL OUTFIELD ARTILLERY . . . . . JOE MOORE, GEORGE DAVIS, MEL OTT, HOMER PEEL, LEFTY O'DOUL (LEFT TO RIGHT)

Bill Terry's New York Giants believe they have both the pitching class and sufficient hitting strength to overcome the Washington Senators in the world series opening in New York one week from tomorrow. The star pitcher and the catcher who made the pitching staff a good one are pictured above, along with the heavy artillery, aside from Manager Terry himself, in International News Photograph Service pictures. Inset are clippings from the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph of last March 24, showing that our Charles J. (Chilly) Doyle was impressed by the Giants in their training games in California, and stole a prediction march on the other experts, who figured the New York team to finish in the second division. He said, among other things, that the Giants' morale and condition made them look like the money and all they needed to finish up there was some fair to middlin' pitching—and it was the pitching that won the flag.

DETROIT FANS SEEK RUTH AS PILOT

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The biggest name in modern baseball stood out today in speculation as to Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris' successor as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

From newspaper experts down to the bleacher fans there was one answer to the question as to who will direct Ty Cobb's old team next year. It was:

"Babe Ruth—if they can get him."

Frank J. Navin, owner of the club, who regretfully accepted Harris' resignation Saturday, had no comment to make on the popular choice of the home run king. He neither confirmed nor denied that he hopes to bring the Babe to Detroit, and indicated that it might be the middle of winter or later before a new manager is named.

OTHERS MENTIONED

Several other candidates are said to be actually under consideration, notably Harold (Muddy) Ruel, St. Louis Browns' catcher. Ruel, after talking with Navin yesterday, admitted he would like to have a chance as Tiger manager.

Others prominently mentioned as among the candidates are Gabby Street, Bill Killifer, Del Baker, assistant Tiger coach; Dan Howley, manager of the Toronto International League club; Donnie Bush, former Tiger shortstop and present manager of the Reds, and Jewel Ens, former Pirate manager, and Tiger coach.

RED SOX SEEK HARRIS

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Bucky Harris, who resigned Saturday as manager of the Detroit Tigers, may succeed Marty McManus as manager of the Boston Red Sox, it was reported here today.

Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston American League franchise, was in Detroit recently and had several conferences with Harris. It is reported here in ball circles that Harris and Yawkey will reach an agreement this week.

Cochet Defeated By Bill Tilden

PARIS, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—William T. Tilden, II, today defeated Henri Cochet in straight sets 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, to give the United States three matches and victory in a Franco-American professional tennis series. It was the first meeting between the former Davis Cup rivals since the Cup campaign of 1930.

Tilden's victory was the second for the United States forces today, Bruce Barnes previously having defeated Martin Plaa, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

With the series already won by Tilden's victory over Cochet, he and Barnes made the final result 4-1 in matches as they finished out the doubles match with Cochet and Plaa to win, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. The match was postponed yesterday because of rain with the Americans leading 4-1 in the third set.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—I see my old friend, Bob Quinn, has been appointed general manager of the Dodger Club. And, after 10 years with the Red Sox, he ought to feel right at home with the Brooklyns—until they get a winning streak.

Nick Altrock

And, speaking of that, the new owners of the Red Sox sure have courage where most of us have abdominal pains. With the team in the seventh place, the Boston management is shooting a $300,000 bankroll to jack up the ball park's capacity to 38,000.

Now those boys ain't doing that just to make the steel and lumber business good. They expect to fill 'em next season. It's just another bale of hay in the wind to prove the Hub City it a great ball town even when its clubs aren't draped in championship cheesecloth. So I say more power to 'em—about a billion killowatts of it.

OTT GOOD BET TO BE HERO OF SERIES

(This article, dealing with the outfielders, is the fourth of a series of five comparing the different departments of the Giants and Senators who will clash in the coming World Series).

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The majority of trained baseball men, including the active players of the sport, agree that man for man and collectively, the Senators' outfield is superior to the Giants' pasture patrol. Now that estimate probably is correct and it would be borne out if the two contestants were in the same league and meeting each other 22 times during a campaign. In a World Series, however, practically everything is different.

One little gent named Mel Ott, playing in his beloved Polo Grounds, is liable to knock the dope bucket higher'n a kite. Mel is just as good as any outfielder who will take part in the coming scraps under any conditions; in the Polo Grounds he's an absolute nuisance, and there are scores of National League players who will back up this statement.

ASK LINDY—HE KNOWS

Mel is what is known as a "pull" hitter and he has so much punch that the short range of the Polo Grounds is a setup for him.

The series schedule calls for two games at the Polo Grounds at the outset. Perhaps Joe Cronin will have a couple of southpaws ready to frustrate Ott, but even the lefties have to be careful or Ott will do enough damage to offset for any edge the Senator's outfielders have over the Giants.

Heinie Manush, a really great hitter, perhaps is the best of the outfielders on either club, on account of his dynamic bat. Leon (Goose) Goslin is a big threat at the plate, and 'tis said that Fred Schulte is one sweet ballplayer. Cronin has two valuable utility ball hawks in Sam Rice and Dave Harris.

MOORE UNDERRATED

Pirate players will tell you that in Joe Moore, the Giants have an unsung star who would be a standout player in any outfield. He hits to all fields, is a corking fielder and a great baserunner.

George Davis is a mediocre player, yet very steady. He plays a fine defensive game in center for the Giants. Frank O'Doul will be ready to swing at any righthand pitcher and Homer Peel will be in readiness for any emergencies.

Morgan-Tarleton Draw in Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 25 (Monday).—(AP.)—Tod Morgan, former junior-lightweight champion boxer from the United States, and Ned Tarleton, former British featherweight titleholder, tonight fought 15 rounds to a draw.

Morgan had all the better of the early rounds, flooring Tarleton for short counts in the fourth and seventh, but the British boxer rallied toward the end to gain the split verdict.

Morgan weighed 138¼ pounds and Tarleton 131.

STRONG TECH'S NEMESIS FOR THREE YEARS

By Howard Harpster

Carnegie Tech Football Coach
All-America Quarterback, 1928

As I watched Ken Strong, former New York University All-America halfback, fight his way through the Pittsburgh Pirate team as the New York Giants were defeating the local club at Forbes Field last week, memories were stirred of Strong's almost single-handed victories over Carnegie Tech teams of 1926, '27 and '28.

Howard Harpster

While playing for N. Y. U. Strong was the nearest approach to a perfect all-around backfield man that I have seen play. Standing 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighing 210 pounds, he was one of the largest and fastest backfield men in the country during his three seasons under Coach Chick Meehan. He was outstanding both as an outside runner and a line-smasher, was the greatest kicker in the East, and was a fine forward-passer and defensive player. In those days the saying was, "Stop Strong and you stop New York," but few teams were able to completely check him.

BEAT TECH WITH KICKING

My first glimpse of Ken was in the Tech-N. Y. U. game in 1926, and my first impression of him was, "What a man." Early in the game I got off a punt which carried some 55 yards in the air, and traveled over the heads of the New York backs. Well pleased with this effort, I was standing back in the safety position when Strong went back to his own 30-yard line to return the kick a few plays later. I doubt if I could have reached that first kick of Strong's with the use of a motorcycle, for it went so far over my head I didn't even start after it. The punt was credited with having gone 68 yards in the air.

New York won the game in the last half, 6 to 0, when Strong kicked two field goals.

The following year, Strong once more was the cause of a Carnegie defeat at his hands, and so, in 1928, when an unbeaten Carnegie Tech team met N. Y. U., in the final game at Forbes Field, we were out to avenge the previous setbacks. But Strong again was too "strong" for us, and local fans will remember Ken's great exhibition when he ran for two touchdowns and threw passes for two more to defeat us the third straight time, this score being 27 to 13.

NEEDS ONLY CONDITION

It is rather difficult to make a comparison between Strong's play in those games and his present effectiveness, playing professionally, because in his college days he was in perfect physical condition and the entire attack was built around him. Last week, however, although his play was splendid throughout the game, he showed plainly that he wasn't in playing condition, and he was decidedly overshadowed by Harry Newman's marvelous play.

Teamed up with Newman, Russell and Moran, Strong rounds out a backfield which would gladden the heart of even such a confirmed pessimist as Gloomy Gil Dobie, Cornell mentor, and, given a little more time in which to get in playing condition, it is my opinion Strong will give his illustrious backfield mates a merry run for the honor of being the outstanding player.

MOUNTAINEERS TO BE TOUGH FOR DUKES

By JESS CARVER

The betting is 100 to one that Earle didn't go for his eggs yesterday morning, but he'll go for his footballers this afternoon and don't you let anyone tell you he won't. Earle's address to his squad at today's practice will be a classic.

Earle is West Virginia's own Greasy Neale, head football coach, and a pretty good one, too. Earle's Mountaineers, which he had figured were going to go places and do things in a big way this fall, beating the Dukes and Pitt on their way, ran into one squarely on the beezer Saturday at Charleston when they played a very uncouraging (to judge from reports of the contest) tie with Wash-Lee.

TIE UNEXPECTED

The tie was totally unexpected. Coach Greasy didn't figure on beating the Generals by any great score, but you can bet the installment dough due on the radio that he counted on winning that ball game.

However, that tie isn't going to do the Dukes any good. Any vestige of overconfidence that may have existed in the Mountaineer makeup certainly has been knocked out, and it will be a grimly determined eleven that will battle the Dukes here Friday night.

Off hand, yours truly would like to be quoted as saying that the Dukes' chances of besting West Virginia dropped considerable as a result of that tie Saturday. Those Mountaineers will come here loaded for bear Friday, and in the absence of any grizzle meat, they'll be perfectly satisfied to chew large hunks out of the hide of the Dukes.

WESTMINSTER LOSES

And it hardly is likely that John Lawther, the well-known psychologist of New Wilmington, did much smiling yesterday. His Titans did a flip-flop against Slippery Rock, the well-drilled and aggressive Teachers erasing the United Presbyterians from the ranks of the undefeated pronto.

Curly Graham, the Titan publicity man, issued a bulletin sometime last week, in which he quoted Lawther as saying he was skeered of the Slippery Rockers. It looks like John was not talking through his derby.

Pitt's reserves, who have been giving the deah old varsity plenty of football in scrimmages of late talked out of turn on Saturday and were treated to a 27-0 switching by the varsity. Coach Sutherland mixed up his players more or less, but the first stringers had all the better of the going.

Oh, yes, Dutch Weisenbaugh was stricken with a bad case of fumblitis during the ball game. He'll undergo treatment for the ailment this week and don't think he won't.

A. M. A. MEETING TONIGHT

Officers will be elected and records approved at the annual meeting of the Alleghenv Mountain Association of the A. A. U. at the William Penn Hotel tonight. Misses Lenore Kight, Louise Clark and Anna Mae and Johanna Gorman, swimming stars, will be guests at the annual banquet in connection with the meeting.

SCHOOL GRID LEADERS VICTIMS OF UPSETS

E. M'KEESPORT, LEECHBURG SPILL DOPE

By JULIUS LEVIN

The members of the class AA division of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League today were nursing bumps and bruises sustained in a turbulent week-end of football upsets that descended into their ranks without warning.

Games, originally scheduled to serve as warmup affairs for the more important contests listed for later in the season, proved to be boomerangs for many of the top-notchers, who either suffered unexpected defeat or just barely managed to escape with victories by narrow margins.

The biggest upset of the past week-end was the downfall of the Norwin High School eleven, a class AA team, at the hands of East McKeesport, a class B contender, 12-6, at Irwin. East McKeesport was considered to be a mere setup for the Norwinites, but the scrappers, led by Coach Young, did not have their minds set on holding the score down when they took the field against their heralded opponents.

MONESSEN BEATEN

Norwin was not the only class AA school to be taken over by a team of lower classification, Monessen, another member of this group, bowing to Duquesne on Friday, 13-7. Three other double A schools were lucky to escape similar fates. McKeesport had to stage a last-quarter rally to eke out a 6-6 draw with Scott High on Friday night, while Turtle Creek Union and Wilkinsburg boast hollow victories.

A plucky Oliver High eleven gave Turtle Creek Union a real battle on Saturday and was defeated by a margin of a safety, losing a tough game, 2 to 0, while Schenley High, a member of the City League, surprised Wilkinsburg by holding the Carroll gridders to a 6-0 score.

Leechburg High School, a class B school, shares the spotlight with East McKeesport in furnishing one of the upsets in Saturday's duels, Forrest Ford's eleven handing Springdale High its first defeat in more than two years. Springdale, co-champion with Glassport in class B last season, was undefeated in 1931 and 1932, but Leechburg shattered that streak by scoring a 2-0 victory. It was a sad start for Herb Ripper's boys as a class A school.

STREAKS CONTINUED

Jeannette, co-champion in class AA, and Ambridge, defending titleholder in class A, continued their winning streaks without trouble. Jeannette swamped Scottdale, 24-0, and Ambridge crushed Allegheny, of the City League, for their eleventh successive victories. Both teams went through the 1932 campaign undefeated.

The Beaver Valley championship race got under way with a flock of close games marking the day's activities. Beaver High held Midland to a scoreless draw, while Rochester and Beaver Falls scored one-point victories over Aliquippa and Monaca, respectively, the scores in each instance being 7-6.

Butler, coached by Regis Heinzer and usually a strong contender for the class A championship, barely managed to defeat Vandergrift by a 7-6 score, while Glassport, co-champion with Springdale in class B last season, gave Donora, defending titleholder in the Monongahela Valley "Big Five" race, a real struggle before submitting to a similar defeat.

DERRY IS UPSET

Two class B schools scored victories over class A rivals on Saturday when East Huntingdon handed Derry Township its first defeat in an opening game, 7-0, and Mt. Pleasant triumphed over Connellsville, 7-0.

South High and Westinghouse, rated strong contenders for the Section I title in the City League, lived up to advance reports in their openers. South defeated Trinity High, of Washington, with ease, while Westinghouse scored a well-earned triumph over Braddock.

Uniontown, bumped around by Scott and Trinity in its first two games, got its bearings at the expense of Dunbar Township and rang up a 58-0 victory. New Brighton surprised its supporters by defeating a powerful alumni eleven, while Trafford succumbed before a similar team, 8-0.

Clairton, Washington, New Castle and Greensburg, class AA members, had little or no trouble recording victories.

(Reg. by U. S. Patent Office)

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: MYSTERIOUS IVORY BALL—A curious exhibit on view at the Believe It or Not Odditorium in Chicago is a unique Chinese ivory carving—26 balls in one, carved inside of one another out of a single piece of ivory. I purchased the carving in Canton, China, last year, at which I visited the workshop where it was made. A solid ivory ball is first drilled in a series of conical holes, which reach almost to the exact center of the ball. Then the shells of other balls are deftly carved with fine instruments, masterfully worked from the holes, leaving a series of shells daintily carved with filigreed figures. Each ball will revolve freely. The exact process was not revealed to me, as it is a carefully guarded secret of the ivory carvers.

TOMORROW: AN ODDITORIUM EXHIBIT.

DOYLES LOSE IN UPSET

The newly formed Paramount Club, of Woods Run, coached by Bud Devinney, former Duquesne University star, got away to a great start in Section III of the City League yesterday, defeating the J. J. Doyles, defending champions, by a 6 to 0 score at Edison Field.

Dezilla scored the touchdown in the third period from the five-yard line.

Other league games found Bloomfield defeating the Millvale Amici, 12 to 0; Allison Park stopping the Ambassadors, of Oakland, 6-0, and Broadway and Sto-Rox battling to a scoreless tie.

An exhibition game found the Scott Morgan team defeating North Braddock, 28 to 7.

In other games, the Snee eleven lost its first game in two years, bowing to Washington Traders, 18-0; Brookline Merchants topped the Brighton A. A., 26-0; Arsenal Ramblers tied the Glendale Tigers, 0-0; Oakland Ramblers defeated Beltzhoover, 9-0, and Christy Park nosed out the Etna Sycamores, 7-0.

The Rox Rangers won their second game of the season, beating the St. John's Scholastics in a hard-fought battle, 13 to 0.

Poll of Scribes Favors Nats to Win Series

By FRANK G. MENKE

(Universal Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Opinions offered by noted sports editors of newspapers taking Universal Service give the Washington Senators a margin of better than 2 to 1 to bat out the New York Giants in the oncoming World Series joust.

Those who picked the American League champions did so for one of three conspicuous reasons: (1) Greater batting power, (2) better fielding and (3) presumed superiority of the American over the National League, such conclusions being based somewhat on the outcome of the 1932 duel, when the Yanks took the Cubs in four straight.

Most of those who named the Giants did so because of a sublime faith in the pitching prowess of Carl Hubbell, the southpaw ace of the New Yorkers.

HOW THEY PICK 'EM

Here are some of the opinions:

HARRY KECK, Sports Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph—I like the Senators. I think their veteran pitchers will outdo Hubbell and Fitzsimmons, tough as the latter may be. With two young playing managers, we may expect better field action and less "master-minding." I think it will be a hard-fought series.

AL COTTON, Sports Editor, Jackson (Mich.) Tribune—I like pitching, but respect batting more. For that reason, I think the Senators should win—but hope not.

MARK KELLY, Sports Editor, Los Angeles Examiner—I'm picking the Giants in a close, tough series. Why? Hubbell—that's the answer. He will be the deciding factor in a well-pitched series.

BOB KENEFICK, Sports Editor, Syracuse Journal—Washington looks like the better bet. Cronin's boys showed class in beating the Yanks and Athletics. Giants had little to beat. I'm picking the Senators in five or six games.

B. A. BRIDGEWATER, Sports Editor, Tulsa (Okla.) World—Good pitching always decides a series. Carl Hubbell, pride of Meeker, Okla., will win this one for the Giants.

BOB CONSIDINE, Sports Editor, Washington Herald—I'm picking the Senators—of course. They have everything. They lead their league in hitting and fielding. The Giants are nowhere near the top in either in their own league. Giants' only hope is in the pitching, but even in that department I cannot accord them the edge. Washington does not figure to lose more than one game.

SEES SIX-GAME SERIES

SAM OTIS, sports editor, Cleveland Plain Dealer—The Senators have a great all-round club, and should win, despite the Giants' admitted powerful pitching staff, in about six games.

RALPH WAGNER, sports editor, Omaha News-Bee—Looks like a mighty close series. I think the Giants will finish on top. Terry's hurlers will quiet the Senators' heavy sluggers.

ED FRAYNE, sports editor, New York American—I think the Senators will win in about six games.

ROGER H. PIPPEN, sports editor, Baltimore News—The Senators should win. They have a better infield, more batting power and New York hasn't the pitching players to compare with Cronin and Kuhel.

BUD SHAVER, sports editor, Detroit Times—Superior batting power of the Senators should give them the edge over the Giants, but it will be a close series, going six or seven games.

CURLEY GRIEVE, sports editor, San Francisco Examiner—Washington packs too many heavy guns for the brilliant Giant pitching staff to silence. The Senators should win on hitting.

HAROLD SCHERWITZ, sports editor, San Antonio (Tex.) Light—From this distance, Washington looks good enough to win, although the Giants, who trained often in Texas are great favorites here and a New York victory would be very popular. The American League's clean sweep in 1932 cured this section of picking National League clubs. I join my Texas comaadres in giving Washington the edge, despite Terry and Hubbell.

HE LIKES THE GIANTS

TED STIENMANN, sports editor, San Diego Union—Washington has the better team and should win, despite the Giants' better pitching staff.

ROYAL BROUGHAM, sports editor, Seattle Post-Intelligencer—After seeing the Giants in spring training, I pick them to beat Washington. They looked so bad in March that any team which can improve as much as Terry's club did in six months will ride roughshod over the American League champions.

ROBERT T. PAUL, sports editor, Philadelphia Daily News—The Giants should defeat the Senators because of Hubbell's "screw ball." With sufficient rest between now and the end of the season, Hubbell can pitch three games in the world series and win all three. The Senators have had difficulty with the top-notch pitching all year, and in Hubbell they will see a better man than even Lefty Grove.

WARREN BROWN, Sports Editor, Chicago Herald-Examiner—As an oldtime Giant rooter, I'd like to see the Giants win. As a follower of the National League's fortunes in these annual affairs, I have come to the conclusion that the Heydler circuit wins only when there is a John (Pepper) Martin to demoralize the opposition. And John won't be with those Giants. Lastly, as a native son of San Francisco, I'd lose my franchise if I didn't string along with Joe Cronin, of the Senators. So I guess I'll just have to pick Washington.

Three Teams Remain In Polo Tourney

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—The field in the national open polo championships had been reduced to three today with the refending champions, Templeton, and the well-liked Hurricanes relegated to the sidelines.

Following the sensational 14-13 triumph Jock Whitney's Greentree four scored over Templeton, led by Winston Guest, in the opening game Saturday, the Hurricanes bowed to Seymour Knox's Aurora quartet, 8-7, and C. V. Whitney's Westbury entry conquered Sands Point, 11-7, yesterday.

Columbus Seeks To Even Series

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—With the first game of the little world series tucked away by the score of 7 to 6, the Buffalo Bisons, of the International League, sought today to make it two in a row over the Columbus Redbirds.

The American Association pennant winners, whose belated eighth-inning rally failed to tie the score yesterday, relied on Clarence Heise, leading hurler of the Association, in their attempt to square matters with the Herd. Either Wilson, or Gallivan, whose relief pitching stood out in the first game, were ready to take the box for Buffalo.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—The Pirates remained over in St. Louis today to play off with the Cardinals the part of Saturday's scheduled doubleheader prevented by darkness. The final contest of the season between the two clubs is likely to bring a slab duel between Hal Smith and Southpaw Bill Walker.

A Pirate victory today would go a long way toward clinching second place money for the Gibson Clan. It would mean that the best the Cubs could get by winning their remaining two contests would be a draw, and to permit of this, the Pirates would have to drop both of their unplayed games with the Reds.

The Pirates and Cardinals split a doubleheader yesterday. Larry French failed as he tried for his nineteenth victory in the opening game. Larry was relieved by Steve Swetonic in the fifth inning, Tex Carleton pitching the home club to a triumph. The score was 5 to 4. Arky Vaughan's single scored Pie Traynor to give the Bucs a tenth-inning victory in the nightcap. The same score prevailed, 5 to 4.

Woody Jensen's triple with the bases loaded and two out in the seventh was the big punch in the Pirate victory in the second game. Dean was the victim of a four-run drive of the inning that tied the score.

BALD, MILLER IN FINAL

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Ralph Bald, Mt. Lebanon ace, battles Bill Miller, hope of Taylor Allderdice High, in final contest of the eleventh annual Harvard Cup net tourney, carrying with it this year the interscholastic singles championship of Allegheny County.

The Crimson trophy in its initial decade of competition was never twice copped by any one institution. That remarkable record, however, must inevitably be cracked in the impending tussle, for both Mt. Lebanon and Taylor Allderdice boast earlier victories.

Dr. Dave and Dr. John O'Loughlin, P. A. A. pair, yesterday added top honors of the first Stanton Heights invitation men's doubles conclave to Allegheny County and Western Pennsylvania titular laurels, Flashing rather spotty tennis before quite a large Sunday gallery, the Winged Headers downed Frank Broida and McCook Reed, recently formed Edgewood outfit, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, to terminate nine days of dual competition on the Heights lot.

Wilfred Bost won the McBride Park singles title yesterday after battling through three rounds. He defeated Jack Raley, 6-2, 6-3, Harry Dugan, 6-4, 6-0, and Buss Noll, 6-2, 6-3 in that order to grab the title.

In the mixed doubles, Virginia King and Ralph Holt defeated Frances Elwell and Al Boravich, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3; Louise Deardorff and Francis Amedick won over Alice McCormick and Roy Davis, 6-1, 6-2; Mrs. Hallam and Charley Delahant downed Isabel Ritz and Bill Delahanty, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, and Mrs. Neff and Harry Duggan put out Elizabeth Jones and Clair Taylor, 6-2, 6-0.

PROS BATTLE AT WILDWOOD

By TOM BIRKS

Ohio and Western Pennsylvania golf professionals are battling it out this morning over the links of the Wildwood Country Club in the first inter-state tourney ever staged here. This morning the members of the paid brigade are clashing in a four-ball, best-ball event. This afternoon will find the boys meeting in individual matches, played in foursomes.

At Stanton Heights, the assistant professionals and caddie masters are playing in the qualifying round of their annual championship tourney.

A large delegation of women stars from this district is competing in the first annual Pennsylvania state women's championship in Philadelphia. Headed by Mrs. George L. Hays, president of the local Women's Golf Association, 13 competitors from the district started out this morning in the 18-hole qualifying round.

MIKE DONLIN MOURNED BY FANS HERE

The sudden death of Mike Donlin at Los Angeles yesterday was a shock to many of Donlin's Pittsburgh friends who today expressed deep regret over the passing of one of baseball's most colorful performers.

Mike Donlin

Part of Mike's career was spent with the Pirates and the city has hundreds of veteran fans who knew Donlin intimately.

One of Mike's closest friends was Honus Wagner. The outfielder like Honus, was a great batter and in one particular season Mike went down to the last week of the race in an attempt to wrest the batting crown from the "Flying Dutchman," but Honus beat him out by making five hits in a row against Mike's team, the Giants, while the Buccos pitchers were shutting out the ambitious Michael.

HONUS MOURNS RIVAL

Donlin and Wagner had a big reunion while the Pirates were in Hollywood last spring. At that time, Mike thought he had recovered his health to such a degree that he was playing ball for pleasure while not engaged at the motion picture studios.

Honus was shocked last night when he learned of his friend's death. He said:

"I thought Mike looked good when the Pirates were in Los Angeles. He was loaded with pepper, so much so that I was surprised as he had been in bad health."

GREAT DRAWING CARD

Wagner then dwelt upon the playing skill and appeal possessed by the scrappy Donlin. He continued:

"Mike Donlin was a great ball player and one that drew the fans into the park. He always had a wisecrack that was worth hearing and when the bell rang for the game he was trying to outguess you and he generally put his stuff over. He could hit, run and field and he was hustling every minute."

SOCCER TEAMS OPEN PLAY

Blummet's goal in the final minute of play enabled Harmarville to defeat Hillman in the feature game of the Allegheny Valley Soccer League yesterday afternoon at Harmarville, 1-0.

It was a hard-fought battle with the defenses of both teams dominating the play.

Other games in the league found Harwick defeating Garfield United 3 to 0, Tuscan downing the Valley Athletics, 1-0, and Tarentum stopping Renton, 6 to 1. The benefit game at South Park, featuring Heidelberg and Castle Shannon, drew a large crowd and finished in a tie, each team scoring once.

SING SING WINS, 36-0

OSSINING, N. Y., Sept. 25.—(INS.)—More than a dozen Sing Sing prison inmates swelled their chests today—they had made long runs without anyone taking shots at them. They were Alabama Pitts, Moon Byrd and other stars of Sing Sing's football team, who raced here and there Sunday as they won, 36-0, from the Holy Name Society team, of Williambridge, N. Y.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Heigh-ho for the happy days when a Pitt-Wash-Jeff or a Pitt-Penn State football game was something to stage a holiday about. . . . That was 10 to 15 years ago, before the wizardy of Pop Warner and Jock Sutherland built such powerful machines at Pitt that they simply stepped far out in front of the Red and Black and Blue and White and made setups of these opponents, to the end that now we have W. & J. opening the season here and State no longer on the card.

W. & J. will throw its all into that opener with Pitt at the Stadium next Saturday . . . It realizes that if it can't make a showing as even an opening game opponent it will have a hard time ever getting back on the Pitt schedule . . . A victory for the Presidents would be just about a signal to burn down the town, while any sort of a close game will be more or less of a moral victory and may lead to a revival of the glory that was Little Washington's.

West Virginia's scoreless tie with Washington and Lee on Saturday may be hailed with delight by some of the Duquesne University followers, but they are not the ones who know the inner workings of the sport . . . West Virginia may be counted upon to rebound from that stalemate with all the more fire in its system for the game with the Dukes here next Friday night . . . In almost any other sport a defeat or a tie where a victory was expected has the tendency to put a team down, but in football the reverse is true . . . There the hardest team to defeat is one that is fighting its way back from the depths . . . And its opponent is apt to underrate it on the strength of its showing the week before.

The second meeting of Jack Sharkey and Tommy Loughran, in Philadelphia, Wednesday night, brings back vivid memories of their first clash, in New York, four years ago. . . . That night, Loughran, one of the fanciest big boxers of all time, was holding his own for two rounds and then went out for the third to carry the fight to Sharkey. . . . He met Jack in the latter's corner and Sharkey wheeled about and was purposely short with a left hook, with Loughran against the ropes, and then got up on his toes and brought down an overhand right with all he had behind it to land solidly on the face.

Down went Tommy to the canvas, and back up again at the count of three, out on his feet. . . . Like a man walking in his sleep, he moved, with hands down, gazing at the stars, toward a neutral corner, where he asked Lou Magnolia, the referee, who died only a week ago, for his chair. . . . "I want to sit down," he said. . . . Meanwhile, Sharkey, who had retired to his own corner, came charging back across the ring, ready for the "kill." . . . Before he could deliver a finishing punch, which might have proved fatal under the circumstances, Magnolia pushed him back and stopped the fight. . . . Loughran, the master boxer, had fallen victim to a right hand "sucker punch." . . . Last week, in Chicago, Sharkey, himself a keen boxer, walked into a sucker looping right and went down in the first round of a bout with King Levinsky, a crude swinger. . . . He said he saw the punch coming, but couldn't get out of the way of it. . . . Ring age had crept up on him.

It will be interesting to note how these two veterans wage their resumption of war four years later. . . . Six months ago, while Sharkey still was the heavyweight champion, a return match with Loughran would have appeared a walkover for him; now, however, on the strength of Sharkey's new loss of form, Tommy is being conceded a good chance for victory. —HARRY KECK.

PITTSBURGH BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

BONDS REFLECT INFLATION RUMORS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Blown about by the winds of inflation, bonds during the past week suffered their worst casualties in more than two months.

For some time fixed income securities had been showing relative steadiness despite the feverish expectancy in speculative circles that the administration would be forced to utilize its wide powers for currency expansion. Bondholders, however, were inclined to entertain more conservative views and there was little pressure on prime investment groups.

The week started with growing doubts accentuated by the appeals of some Congressmen for immediate inflation, or dollar depreciation, as a means of reviving sagging commodity prices. Some important institutional selling appeared in the higher grade categories and the liquidating rush was on. All classes participated in the ensuing decline which, in the case of the rails, amounted to more than 5 points at one time. The industrials registered some resistance, but the utilities were nearly as heavy as the rails.

RALLY AT WEEK-END

Selling continued at a fast pace until Friday, when there was a revival of anti-inflation sentiment and all categories rallied sharply. Although Washington was silent as to its fiscal intentions, the belief grew that drastic currency expansion was not an immediate prospect. There were also indications that the administration was seriously considering the inauguration of a managed currency and that, in the meantime, all efforts would be used to materially broaden the credit field.

At its worst during the week, the Associated Press - Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate loans was only about a point ahead of this average in the same week last year. It was also around nine points under the 1933 high.

GILT EDGES RECOVER

While on Friday the most notable recoveries were in the secondary groups, which usually follow stocks, highest grade loans rallied impressively. Market observers, in seeking a clue to inflationary prospects, watch these low-yield maturities closely.

The industrial picture was a little blurred, with production showing declines in some quarters. Retail trade, though, continued to record healthy gains.

United States government securities were fairly firm at times, although they were subjected to occasional pressure. The Federal Reserve System's open market purchases for the week were virtually unchanged at some $35,000,000.

Foreign obligations were rather quiet, but highly irregular.

Union Coal Bond Tenders Requested

Speaker

DR. ELBERT R. MOSES

SCHOOL HOLDS EXERCISES

Dr. Elbert R. Moses, president and founder of the Pittsburgh School of Speech, will be the main speaker at the commencement exercises of the Pittsburgh School of Accountancy to be held Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the Schenley Hotel.

Dr. Moses plans to speak to the 53 graduates on the "Three Wise Fools." By the "Three Wise Fools" he refers to three internationally prominent men who have had to undergo much adverse criticism in their rise to the top of their individual fields.

Since personal contacts play a large part in success, he will also dwell on the part words contribute to present-day achievement. According to him, the progressive businessman must know what he is doing with his words and what his words are doing to him. He says:

"You are playing with fire when you play with words. Know what they are worth to you."

Rand Miners Ask 20% Wage Increase

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Labor troubles have cropped out at mines in the Rand district, Africa. The men are demanding a 20 per cent increase in wages and a 40-hour week. A joint conference between the Chamber of Mines and the trade unions is being held today, probably under chairmanship of the Minister of Labor.

Meanwhile, the unions are advising the men not to extend the strike.

World Consuming More U. S. Cotton

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Cotton spinners of the world last season increased their consumption of American cotton by 1,867,000 bales, of 14.9 per cent, says the New York Cotton Exchange service. Consumption of Indian cotton was the smallest in more than a decade, declining 9.8 per cent from the previous season to a total of 4,732,000 bales. Consumption of Egyptian was off 8.9 per cent.

BUSINESS

Lack of Capital Goods Demand Retards Industry

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE NRA HAS done much to stimulate demand for consumer goods, but it has done little up to the present time to increase the demand for capital goods. This statement was made recently by the chairman of the board of a leading steel company.

The things produced by our industries may be divided into two classes—those which are used up within a short time and which are known as consumer goods—those which are kept in use for a long time such as machinery and materials going into permanent structures and which are known as capital goods.

Food and clothing are typical types of consumer goods. The materials used to build houses, factories and railroads are examples of capital goods.

Both Types Needed For Real Prosperity

UNDER NORMAL conditions, a large share of our industrial activity is devoted to the production of capital goods. During depressions the demand for capital goods invariably slumps more sharply than the demand for consumer goods. The use of consumer goods drops off but even under conditions of extreme hardship there always is a fairly large volume of buying of consumer goods as the supply is depleted.

Even though the use of consumer goods has been increased this year, we can hardly expect general industry to be working at much over half of capacity unless something is done to stimulate the demand for capital goods.

This accounts for the attempts of the administration to push public works programs, to assist railroads in the buying of equipment and to lend the aid of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other agencies to free bank credit and to stimulate the use of capital goods.

Program of Particular Interest to Pittsburgh

THE SUCCESS of the move to stimulate the use of capital goods is of particular interest to Pittsburgh. A major share of this district's industries are primarily dependent on this type of demand.

The heavier steel products such as rails, structural shapes, plates and reinforcing bars are used for capital facilities. Even a large part of the tonnage of lighter steel products finds its way into permanent structures or equipment.

The electrical industry, particularly the plants here, are largely devoted to the production of capital equipment.

The railroad car builders also are producing capital goods. Most of the output of the flat glass producers may be put into the same classification. Cement is another commodity of this type.

EXCHANGE MAY HAVE FURTHER REACTION

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Last week's reaction in the stock market brought a decline which at the close left the averages three to five points under the close of the previous week. The railway stocks were relatively the heaviest losers.

Bond averages, despite the final rally, were off about $2 for the week.

The rebound of trading declined on these two days. The action of the market Saturday, in first running up and then reacting to close lower than at the opening, is not a favorable indication.

One would normally expect some secondary reaction today or tomorrow, and this seems likely unless some "shot" of favorable Washington "news" is administered (and that, no one can predict).

CRITICAL LEVEL REACHED

The market reached a highly critical level on the break last Thursday. Just to illustrate, U. S. Steel went below the July bottom and closely approached the trading range last May. The broader "averages" just about touched the lowest closing figures made in the July break, which are about the same as made on the June break.

It was from this June break that the market was run up to a wild speculative top which reminded everyone of 1929, with great public participation, swollen brokers' loans, etc. This condition was "corrected" by the July break, which came as the result of (1) overtrading and a very weak technical position, (2) fears concerning government interference in business, the labor problem, NRA costs, etc., and (3) the beginning of a flight of capital from the dollar.

BACK TO MAY LEVEL

Now the market has fallen back to the levels of late July and May. This probably constitutes a critical lower resistance area for many important stocks.

I do not think the market can be run from here in any sustained way without more of a public following. The public is not now "in" in any active way. What might bring it in again? Well, the big rise was based chiefly on inflation and depreciation of the dollar. The inflationary forces have been checked by the NRA program. Therefore if the market rise is to be resumed there must be more inflation and less NRA for the present.

If NRA, with its heavy burden of costs, is pushed now, profits may suffer, and the stock market may break below the critical level I have mentioned.

If, however, the inflation needle is again resorted to, it is difficult to see how higher stock prices could be prevented. Of course, I do not mean higher in terms of gold. But as measured in our credit currency.

MINING SHARES UP

In this connection, one notes that it is almost entirely the stocks which stand to benefit directly by a depreciated currency which have held up well. Many gold mining, sugar, oil and metal stocks are near their highs. These and the "can" stocks explain why the "industrials" are so high.

Utilities and bank stocks have shown a declining trend.

The rails have broken the July lows. In terms of gold, these groups have not held their own.

Signs are not lacking that the recent flight from the dollar has strengthened the opposition to inflation. The President seems to be hesitating, and has recently called such plays as cotton price-fixing "distribution of food."

But these things require "financing," and the easiest way to "finance" is to inflate. My present guess, therefore, is that this would eventually mean still higher quotations for more inflation, and it seems the same stocks which have been doing best.

INFLATION MAY SPUR STEEL

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—If the prospect for inflation should deepen this week, the magazine Steel said today, an investment in materials may appear more attractive than the conservation of cash.

A $2 per ton advance in plates and shapes and $3 in bars becoming effective September 30, fourth-quarter contracting for these heavy finished steel products is expected to be brisk this week, the publication's weekly review said.

"Accompanying this rise is a revision of terms calculated to make a contract for heavy steel as ironclad as a contract for pig iron long has been. Beginning immediately, producers will contract on the following basis:

"(1) For a definite tonnage to be completely specified in time for shipment before the last day of the quarter; (2) for a tonnage from which the buyer may deviate up 25 per cent or the mill down 25 per cent, and (3) for a stated percentage of a consumer's requirements within a specified maximum. It is possible also that mills will give protection on identified jobs for 60 days.

"During the past week, specifications against expiring contracts were so extensive the national steel rate sank only 1 point, to 40 per cent."

Forbes

Ups and Downs, But Progress Predominates

—By B. C. FORBES—

A BOYHOOD neighbor, a rural day laborer, frequently imbibed Scotland's most famous product too freely. Staggering home one evening, he was greeted by a friend, "Hello, I see you are stepping towards home."

"Sometimes!" the reeling drunk replied.

Mr. Forbes

Advances and recessions are occurring in America these days.

SENTIMENT has risen among ordinary folks; it has lately fallen in high financial circles, and much wealth is being transferred to Europe. Retail buying has increased; production in important lines has decreased. Last week commodity prices receded; in the week previously they moved upwards. Ditto stocks and bonds.

A week ago the country was led to believe that currency inflation was about to be unleashed; within the last few days the intimations were that nothing of the kind is contemplated. Earlier in the month steel production was declining; latest figures show modest expansion. Grains weakened, but another important farm product, hogs, reached the best price of the year. Brokers' loans are falling, but commercial paper volume is rising.

Quite recently, NRA officials were coercive in their attitude; now they proclaim they are all for co-operation. Big stick and boycott talk has given way to persuasive pleas.

NATURALLY — inevitably — many feel at sea concerning prospects. This is reflected by uneven movements in many directions. Foreigners are equally at sea in striving to analyze the American outlook. One day the dollar is marked down sharply (below 63¾ cents), but the next it is marked up. Reports of extensive selling of American securities by Europeans are followed by rumors of purchases.

WHAT IS the rational deduction to draw from all the multifarious and often contradictory fluctuations occurring here?

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York makes a sensible summing up, thus:

"The events of the last few weeks seem to support the belief that definite progress toward recovery has been made, and that the normal stimulating influences of the autumn season may reasonably be expected to bring further improvement.

"An encouraging feature is that the increased purchasing power, brought into being by the larger payrolls, and the more optimistic sentiment of the last few months has begun to assert itself in retail markets.

"Setbacks and controversies were recognized from the beginning as inevitable; and the contrast between present conditions and those that existed six months ago leave little room for doubt that a genuine upward thrust has occurred. If impatience can be curbed and dangerous political influence held in check, the outlook may be regarded as definitely favorable."

MEANWHILE, the administration is exhibiting a fresh outburst of aggressive activity calculated to stimulate business and higher prices.

The administration is urging municipalities, states and others to expedite construction plans calling for federal support. The sum of $75,000,000 has been provided for relief of the needy. Foodstuffs, cotton, etc., are being provided for distribution among the destitute unemployed. Plans under way to enable railroads to purchase equipment. Cotton raisers are to be advanced 10 cents a pound, to a possible total of $400,000,000, provided substantial crop reduction is carried out.

Ways and means are being sought to make federal funds available to Blue Eagle concerns in need of assistance, to meet higher labor and other costs. And, the Federal Reserve continues to pump some $6,000,000 every business day into member banks, thus putting them in a position to expand loans enormously, although so far bank lending continues restricted.

PATCHING-UP of the dynamite-laden coal dispute and the progress made in reaching agreements on other important codes inspire hopes that the NRA shortly will cease to excite as much uncertainty as heretofore.

If rumored plans for speedily reopening or reorganizing of crippled banks, thus releasing vast frozen assets, materialize and are swiftly and successfully executed, the effect should be most beneficial.

LOWER RATES, MORE COMFORT ON TRAINS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Universal Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The railroads of the country are rousing themselves from their long slumber, and beginning December 1 will revolutionize their passenger service.

Mr Rukeyser

The whole program includes making railroad travel more congenial and more reasonable, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the basic one-way passenger rate will be reduced from 3.6 cents a mile to 3 cents a mile, and regular round-trip fare will be one and one-third times the one-way fare. This will include service out of New York to the Middle West, as well as transcontinental service.

NUISANCE CHARGES GO

Furthermore, all nuisance charges, such as Pullman surcharges, and extra railroad tickets for special accommodations such as compartments and single bedrooms, will be eliminated. The present plan, however, is to charge a ticket and a half for a drawing room occupied by a single person. As a forerunner to this new policy, the Southern Pacific already allows one person to occupy a compartment on a single railroad ticket.

At present, the Pullman surcharge goes directly to the railroads, which are foregoing a great deal in the hope that lower rates will again attract travelers to the railroads. In the last dozen years, passenger revenue has been gradually slipping away. In the case of one of the great transcontinental carriers, passenger revenue is only one-third of what it was in the peak year of 1920.

The curse of transcontinental railroad traffic, especially in the summer, is dust and dirt on the overland route, and extreme heat through the desert. According to the new program, this will be the last summer that the traveling public will be thus inconvenienced.

WILL MAKE WEATHER

By next summer all the transcontinental lines, in co-operation with the Pullman company, will install thoroughly air-conditioned trains. Like the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio, all the railroads will embark upon a plan regularly to manufacture their own weather, and also to keep the cars immaculately clean.

The Pullman Company plans also to include similar service on all the principal eastern trains. Thus the obsolescence of the old-fashioned, non-air conditioned trains has been recognized.

The all-air conditioned service will be inaugurated next summer, but the reduced all-year mileage rate, and the elimination of surcharges and other extra imposts, will be inaugurated December 1. Some of the western roads, which have been most aggressive in fighting for these passenger reforms, wanted the new schedule to start on November 1, but this starting date has been definitely postponed. The chief eastern carriers had to be converted to the western viewpoint on rates.

Soft Coal Output Under Recent Rate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Production of bituminous coal in the United States during the week ended September 16 was estimated by the Bureau of Mines today at 7,170,000 net tons.

The total represents an increase of 660,000 tons over the output in the preceding week, in which the Labor Day holiday was observed, but fails to reach the level of other recent fulltime weeks.

Production during the corresponding week in 1932 amounted to 6,145,000 tons.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 25.—The market was due ⅛ cent lower to ⅛c higher. Opened ⅛ to ¼c up, and at 1:20 p. m. was up ⅛ to ¼c.

The market was ¼ pence lower to ⅛ higher based on sterling at 4.72¾.

PENNA. CRUDE RISE SEEN

Renewed strength characterizes the oil lubricant market. Gulf coast lubricants and paraffin oils have recently been advanced one cent per gallon and in the Pennsylvania territory wax is up ½ cent.

There is increasing difficulty in securing sufficient Pennsylvania bright stock and the trade is looking for a sharp advance in prices in the near future, which, of course implies a rise in Pennsylvania crude oil.

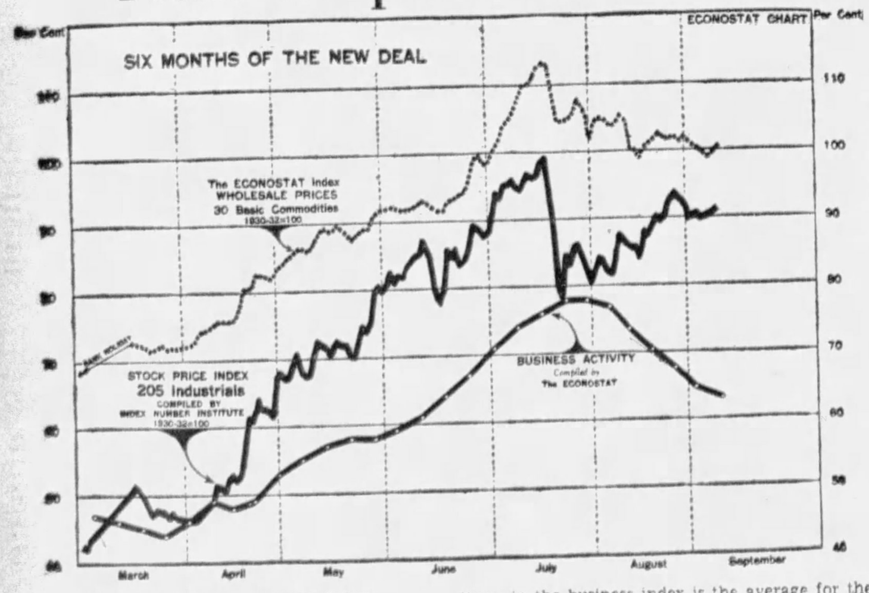
Major Factors in Economic Field Respond to New Deal



By JOSEPH STAGG LAWRENCE

Editor, The Econostat

The accompanying chart may be termed a graphic appraisal of the first six months of the new deal. It shows the three outstanding life lines of the business world. The broken line is the Econostat index of wholesale prices. This is based upon 30 commodities and is calculated daily. The average for 1930-1932 is taken as 100, and the daily fluctuations thereafter are expressed as a percentage of this base.

The heavy solid line shows the index of 205 industrial common stocks as compiled by the Index Number Institute. For purposes of comparison the stock index has been recomputed so that the base, or 100, is likewise the average for the period of 1930-1932.

The line with the white dots is the index of business activity compiled by the Econostat. This is based upon 17 component series taken from the three major fields of economic activity, finance, distribution and production. It is computed on a weekly basis and is corrected for seasonal and price fluctuations. Furthermore, some of the items, such as bank debits and electric power production, have a correction for normal growth. The base of most of the component items in the business index is the average for the period 1919-1931.

Bearing these three groups of data in mind it is possible to make a fair study of the course of recovery during the first six months of the new deal. The sympathetic evidence between these three lines is striking. Wholesale and security prices reached their peak during the third week of July. It is in that same week that the business index reached its high point and levels off during the fourth week of July.

However, since that turning point the three lines have not been in accord. Stock prices show distinctly more optimism than commodity prices or business activity. Commodity prices, in fact, show a distinctly declining trend from the peak.

Common stock prices, on the other hand, have bounded upward and touched a secondary but lower peak at the end of August. Business activity has been falling off steadily. In fact, the downward slope exactly matches the slope on the upward side.

It should be pointed out that these lines and this discussion are not prophetic in any sense, but simply attempt to evaluate what has already taken place. They are history and not prognostication.

MODERATE DIPS GENERAL IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Financial markets were the prey of inferiority complexes today with inflationary and non-inflationary impulses giving price movements a highly erratic appearance.

Moderate declines were general in stocks, bonds and grains as most traders, unable to form any definite conclusions as to near-future trends in the light of the administration's implied fiscal policies, either sought safety on the side lines or liquidated portions of their holdings. After the first hour stocks turned extremely dull. Wheat dropped some 2 cents a bushel at one time and cotton and other grains sagged. The majority of staples later pared their early losses under short covering inspired by improved sentiment. The dollar exhibited strength both against sterling and the European gold currencies.

Although the oil shares generally held their declines to unimportant fractions, most other groups recorded recessions of 1 to 2 or more points. United States Smelting yielded some 6 points.

Other losers of smaller amounts included American Telephone, Allied Chemical, United States Steel, Case, du Pont, General Motors, Loew's, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse, Western Union, Dome Mines, American Smelting, McIntyre Porcupine, Cerro de Pasco, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio.

While the rally of the dollar was a little disconcerting to currency inflation proponents, there was also a revival of recent rumors that some sort of a "sound money" statement might be forthcoming from Washington. In some financial quarters it was thought that such a statement probably would act as an aid rather than a deterrent to the national recovery campaign. Brokerage circles, however, were divided as to the effect such a development might have at this time.

The conference of the President with leading steel men regarding railway equipment purchases was being watched closely by market observers. Although the carriers, it is understood, are in a position and ready to buy some 500,000 tons of steel rails, the matter of prices still seems to be the principal impediment to the closing of contracts. With the Chief Executive in the role of an arbiter, however, hopes are being entertained of a price compromise which will be satisfactory to both the steel producers and railway managements.

The recent opinion in financial quarters that President Roosevelt would oppose monetary inflation at this time was strengthened by week-end developments, and the dollar rose sharply in early foreign exchange dealings. The pound sterling fell back to $4.73¼, off 5¼ cents, and French francs slid back .09½ of a cent to 5.96 cents, indicating a gold equivalent for the dollar of just under 66 cents.

Week-end business news showed little change, although reports on retail trade remained optimistic. The publication "Steel" placed ingot production for last week at 40 per cent of capacity, against 41 per cent a week earlier, but expressed the opinion that stiffening steel prices would prompt active contracting for fourth quarter delivery.

PAYROLLS RISE, OUTPUT DOWN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Increased employment and wage payments from July to August were reported today by the Federal Reserve Board, with an accompanying statement that the general level of industrial production declined in August and early September. The board said:

"Increases in employment between the middle of July and the middle of August, the latest date for which figures are available, were general in most lines of industry, and there were numerous increases in wage rates and reductions in working hours."

The period referred to was that in which the NRA first began functioning. However, the report asserted:

"The Federal Reserve Board's seasonably-adjusted index of industrial production, which had been rising rapidly for several months, declined from 100 per cent of the 1923-1925 average in July to 90 per cent in August.

"The principal decreases were in primary textile industries, in flour milling and in output of steel ingots, which declined somewhat from the level of July. There were increases during the month in production of petroleum, nonferrous metals and vigarettes, and output of lumber and coal increased seasonally."

Market Reacts to Rise In Exchange Value Of U. S. Dollar.

Having been educated to the idea of using fluctuations in the dollar as a guide to their market operations, traders naturally were influenced in their early dealings by the sharp recovery in its value in foreign exchange. With currency inflation apparently side-tracked in administration recovery plans, the dollar rebounded nearly 1½ cents in terms of other currencies and gold. Apparently seeing currency expansion only as a form of aggressive inflation, traders did not appear much impressed with the inflationary aspects of proposals put forth to further credit expansion in the Washington program.

The Trader, in Barron's Weekly, says in part: "While the argument over whether the administration is to indulge in inflation goes on, the realists find plenty of evidence of inflation already at hand. Consequently, rich men, who, under the burden of heavy taxation are more concerned with protection of capital than the amassing of profits, can see in equities not only protection against inflation, but the logical medium for a money market, which is being steadily depressed. Due to the constant switching from one group to another the market is full of cross-currents and it plainly lacks the sweeping, surging forces of early summer. But, under the surface, the fundamentals, then operative, except for seasonal influences, do not appear to have altered, and for that reason the long-range prospect of excessively low yields for seasoned equities, always characteristic of a credit country, is unchanged."

Following the recent of the dissolution of one of the mutually beneficial associations in a leading industry the rumor started that similar action might follow with regard to the American Iron and Steel Institute. This has been vigorously denied in authoritative quarters and leading steel men in New York point to the increased activity of the institute in connection with the application of the NRA code and the fact that it will probably entail the leasing of a complete floor in the Empire State Building as the best way to scoth the rumor.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York, in the current issue of the Guaranty survey says events of the last few weeks "seem to support the belief that definite progress has been made and that the normal stimulating influences of the autumn season may reasonably be expected to bring further improvement." The decrease in business activity that began about the middle of July continued this month, although at a slower rate, the survey says. "It has been been most apparent in the basic industries," the publication continues, "but trade in many of its branches continues to expand. Neither the recent reaction in business nor the practical difficulties of the NRA program necessarily indicates that progress toward recovery is not being made."

With stock exchange officials parently bending every effort begin trading in active issues the New Jersey stock exchange the early part of next month, ready a list of the probable ocks which will go over to Jer- is being unofficially compiled. the moment it is reported that t of about a dozen issues has tentatively decided upon, ding steel common, Chrysler, ickel, New York Central Radio, General Motors, United Aircraft, Commercial Solvents, McIntyre Popcupine, Proctor and Gamble, Anaconda and United Corporation.

Members of the Central States Committee to administer the oil code will meet in Chicago early next week to organize and begin duties entrusted to them by the Department of Interior, according to Edward C. Seubert, general chairman, and president of Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Mr. Seubert believes conditions are favorable for the committee to accomplish results beneficial to the industry and the economic situation generally. "With the start the oil industry now has, there is an opportunity for it to lead the way for all American industry in economic recovery," he said.

THE PRESENT P. R. R. STATION IN CONSTRUCTION YEARS AFTER THE RAILROAD STRIKE

The new P. R. R. depot, the one now in use, as it was built on the approximate site of the depot destroyed by flames in the railroad strike. Notice the horse-drawn bus of the Excelsior Express and Standard Cab Company and the overhead bridge, the latter necessary because Liberty avenue was frequently blocked by standing trains. This picture was lent for publication by C. P. Williams, 83 Ingram avenue.

money to go places and do things?" she asked.

"How did you guess that?" he asked.

"I'm a bright little girl," she replied. "I've been puzzling my brains out wondering what you wanted with that ring, and there didn't seem to be any other answer."

Gertie Warned

He tossed her the ring. "Puzzle your brain some more," he advised.

She stared at him. "You could get five hundred on that ring—maybe. In your dresser drawer—I had to find a handkerchief—there are $2,700. My, but you're careless with your jack. But you couldn't have wanted to pawn my ring. Are you going to tell Gertie?"

"Gertie will learn all in good [illegible]," he chuckled. "Want to go [illegible] a dress?"

She made a face at him. "You get more moral with daylight, don't you? Are we going out?"

Durant picked up the suitcases and carried them into the bedroom. She followed him and sat down upon the bed.

"I even found a bathing suit; you can get the tan I promised you. And I'll play a hose on you and you can imagine you're in the surf."

She tucked her feet under her. "That sounds as though we were not going out."

"You're not," he said.

"Would strange men accost me?" she giggled.

"Strange men might do more than that," he replied. "Gertie, you're a great kid. There are two things you can do. One of them is get dressed and go back to your apartment, call up Crelliman, tell him that you've run out on me and that you want to be friends. The other is to make up your mind to stay here for God knows how long. Because if you haven't got in touch with Crelliman within an hour, you'll be put on a spot just as surely as Mimi Montagne was, if Crelliman can find a way to do it. Not that he thinks you know anything but he's taking no chances whatsoever."

The girl paled slightly, but the eyes that met his were unafraid. "Are you guessing, or does that come from the feed box?"

"It's stable information," he answered. "I've seen Crelliman. As a matter of fact, Crelliman came to your apartment while I was there. Don't think it was an accident. I wanted to take a look at Levitoff. You guessed almost right about the ring. I made believe I wanted to pawn it, so that I could have a chat with Levitoff. But he recognized me and would have none of me. Yet, refusing to talk to me didn't save him. He was killed within 30 minutes after I left him. Crelliman or some of his men, must have known I visited Levitoff. So you see what happens to people who are at all mixed up in this case if they run into me."

"You're not dull, Gertie," said Durrant.

Would Bet Life

"He came into your living room just as I was leaving. He offered me $200,000 and a share in some mythical business if I'd take you abroad with me for a year. When I refused he told me, pretty definitely, that you and I would both be killed. But he wasn't in a killing mood at the moment. Not even in a quarrelsome mood. He wouldn't even strike back."

"You hit him?" whispered the girl.

"Knocked him down," said Durant.

"And he didn't kill you?"

Durant laughed. "What do you think?"

The girl shook her head impatiently. "I mean, he didn't pull a gun, didn't do anything?"

"He talked some more, out that was all. So now you see, Gertie, things aren't so bright for us."

"They aren't so dark, either," she replied. "If it comes to a showdown between you and Crelliman, I'll bet on you."

"You're betting your life," he reminded her.

"When I bet, I bet it all," she said.

"That trip abroad sounded delightful as he talked about it," said Durant. "I'm sewed up with other matters, but how would you like to be put on a boat tonight, Gertie? I mean, with plenty of money to keep you until it was safe to come back."

"I kind of like it here," she said.

"It doesn't seem fair, dragging you into this."

"You forget that if your friend Siddall didn't kill Mimi I'll do anything on earth to get the man who did kill her," she said. "If there's anything I can do?"

"You've told me enough to make me know definitely that Siddall has been framed," he told her.

"You pick up things that don't seem to mean anything to me," she said. "Like Levitoff and Mimi hocking her stuff with him. If I only knew the things that would help you to know, I'd spill them in a second."

"I don't even know what I want to find out," he admitted. "For instance, I'd never have thought to ask if Crelliman owned the Oklahoma Building."

An Important Clue

"Is that important? I don't see how."

"I can't tell you exactly what it means yet. It would mean a lot if Crelliman had been in your apartment at the moment Mimi was killed."

"Would it? But he wasn't. He was in his penthouse. Anyway, he wouldn't have been in my apartment. Mimi might have gone for him in a big way, but I never would. I never could see him. I never encouraged the boys to drop in to see me. I know Tim Murtoch thought because I was chummy with Mimi, and Mimi had been close to Crelliman, that he could be neighborly just because he lived a floor above me."

"Murtoch? Haven't I heard his name?" asked Durant.

"Probably. He's one of Crelliman's gunmen."

"And has an apartment on the floor above you?" asked Durant.

He waited for no reply, but picked up the telephone and asked for Tony Gazotti's number.

"That you, Tony? . . . This is Durant. Listen, is there any way you can get Tim Murtoch out of his apartment in the Oklahoma Building? No, never mind getting him out. Just let me know when he is out."

He heard Gazotti whistle softly. "What I want to know, Mr. Durant, is where you pick up your news. Who tipped you off that Murtoch gave the works to Levitoff?"

"Did he?" Durant's voice rose in excitement.

Junior Patrol Mail Box

Fellows, we are still looking for orchestra talent—every member of the Junior Patrol who can play a musical instrument should send in his name and address right away. We want to get the orchestra organized and practice started soon now so that we can have the orchestra play over the radio. We are arranging auditions now.

We have letters from Ametia Recktenwald, of 4917 Kincaid street, who wants to play the piano accordion, and from Arthur Psello, of 5630 Mignonette street, who wants to play the accordion, too. How about some violin and trumpet and clarinet players now?

Pauline V. Bill, of Box 242, Grindstone, Pa., is a new captain today. She sends four pledges and together with the ones she sent in before, she has 10 now. We are sending her an armband right away. And, by the way, she says that they haven't picked a name for their club yet, but that they are going to get a good one. How do you like "Roosevelt Junior Patrol," Pauline?

Today, too, we received a letter with 13 pledges from William Claypool, of North Vandergrift, Pa. He says he is starting a new club, but he doesn't say who has been elected captain or anything else about it. A good club has a captain, at least one lieutenant, a password, and plans for helping others. It's a good idea to know just where you are going to meet a week in advance, too.

Josephine Lazaran, of Box 272, South Brownsville, Pa., sends 11 names but no pledges. If you will send at least 10 pledges, Josephine, we will send the orange and black armband to whomever is elected captain.

Jack J. Hoffman, of 350 Atwood street, writes that he has a dog named "Pooch" and that he likes school. He is in the first grade.

Peggy Rowland, of 527 Midland street, Wilkinsburg, sends a pledge for herself and writes:

"I would like to be a member of the Junior Patrol. Will you please send me a membership card and official emblem? Four playmates and I have a club. We have our meetings every Saturday night."

You must send 10 pledges and elect a captain to have a real patrol, Peggy.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am.
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to study hard and do errands willingly.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member.

Signed .....
Date of Birth ..... Address .....
School .....

Address this pledge to the JUNIOR PATROL, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon its receipt you will be registered as a member of the JUNIOR PATROL and will be forwarded a membership card and an official emblem.

PILGRIMS SIGNING THE COMPACT ON THE MAYFLOWER

September 6, 1620, 102 Pilgrims, members of 41 families, sailed from Plymouth in England with the intention to settle along the Hudson. But a storm carried them northeast and they landed December 20, 1620, at what is Plymouth in Massachusetts today. The "Compact" was their document of organization as a colony. They selected John Carver as their governor. (U. S. History.)

PRODUCTION OF LIQUID AIR

Every gas liquefies if cooled and compressed to a limit, the critical temperature and pressure. These are for air about —140° C. and 39 atmospheres. As above diagram shows, the air is drawn by a pump through a purifier (containing KOH to remove moisture and carbon dioxide) and is compressed. A connected cooler takes away the heat of compression, a separator and drier the rest of moisture. The compressed air expands through a jet and becomes cooled; cold air returns to the compressor and undergoes the same procedure, until it liquefies. (Partington: Inorganic Chemistry.)

POTATOES

They are important as food and as raw material for chemical industry (starch, alcohol, etc.) Some commercial varieties: 1, Early Ohio; 2, Early Rose; 3, Irish Cobbler; 4, Triumph; 5, Burbank; 6, Green Mountain; 7, Rural New Yorker; 8, Peerless. (Doubleday, Page & Co., Grubb, Guilford: The Potato.)

PRODUCTION OF LIQUID OXYGEN

Boiling point is the temperature at which the vapor pressure equals the atmospheric pressure. The boiling point is lower than the critical temperature, the highest, above which increase of pressure will not liquefy a gas. Oxygen has a boiling point of —182.7° C.; nitrogen —195.8° C. and air about —192° C.; hence liquid oxygen can be obtained from liquid air by letting escape the nitrogen. Left: Apparatus was invented by Claude to avoid losses also in oxygen. Partly liquefied air is pressed into chamber A, where it evaporates into B (immersed into liquid oxygen S for cooling). The condensate (richer in nitrogen) collects in C, is elevated to the top of the column D, loses its nitrogen, is cooled by liquid air entering the column at L, which also liberates nitrogen. The remaining liquid oxygen flows down the column D to S. The oxygen evaporating from S is taken through pipe G to a compressor to be pumped into steel cylinders for use. (Partington: Inorganic Chemistry.)

ASSURBANIPAL SURRENDERING NINEVEH

Surrender of its capital to the Babylonians—Medes marked the downfall of the new Assyrian empire (625? B. C.) hardly 100 years after the death of her first king, Sargon II. It is a legend that Assurbanipal (known also as Sardanapalus by the Greeks) himself set the city afire, seeing further struggle would be in vain.

The height of New Assyria was marked by its conquest of Israel (a part of the once mighty Hebrew kingdom of Solomon, 955-925 B. C., the other part being Judea). (World History.)

NEBULAR THEORY
(La Place, 1796)

According to this almost-abandoned theory, the solar system was one rotating hot gas mass changed by gravitation into various forms of nebulae breaking up finally into sun and planets. Steps of formation based upon La Place's theory are visualized by Prof. Heysinger, as shown above. 1. Newton's comet. 2. Comet of Guillemin. 3. Donati's comet. 4. Nebula in ship Argo. 5. Open spiral nebula in Virgo. 6. Partly closed spiral nebula. 7. Spiral nebula in Lion. 8. Developed solar system. (Heysinger: Solar Energy.)

Oldtimer Remembers Good Old Days

Following the course of human events we requested an ultimate survivor to broach a keg of 3.2 with us.

He paraded the elbow, took a snifter of the amber whirlpool and snorted like a bull on a covered bridge.

When we asked what he thought of it, he wrangled his whiskers and said, "It ain't like the good old days."

You would be amazed at the number of people still alive who remember the good old days from 1920 to 1933, including war tax.

"Nope mister," said the good old rememberer. "In them days we used to have drinks that would make your ears slap the side of your head in well-merited applause.

"There was one thing they called a sideswipe which was made with everything within reach of the barkeep who was equipped with a butterfly net and a stepladder.

"You didn't drink the sideswipe. It was poured on a sponge. The sponge was put in a megaphone. The megaphone was placed over your head. Then you took a deep breath.

"While you was unconscious the bartender removed $2 from your pocket. That was the price of a sideswipe and that was the only way he could collect it.

"The nicest thing about the sideswipe was when you awoke. Your room was full of candy and flowers.

"That was sure some amendment juice. They don't have no drinks like that because it ain't illegal no more.

Now, this beer stuff is all right I guess for youngsters who can't take their coal hot off the grate. But, to us good old timers, there must be some snap to our battle porridge. We like to tickle the mule's ankle.

"Talk about beautiful music. One sideswipe was worth a hundred operas. You heard horns, drums and harps. Now, this beer only stirs up the bell on the cash register and it ain't ringing for you.

"I wish they'd bring back the good old days again. I know beer is legal again. They put it in the Constitution.

"And I know all about the Constitution. But don't forget they wrote the Declaration of Independence first."

Speed Public Works!

The Delay in Allocating the Funds Is Delaying the Progress of Economic Recovery.

The days are not yielding the definite and measurable progress toward our industrial and economic recovery which they should.

Great exertions are being put forth. Far-reaching measures have been undertaken. But neither our plans nor exertions are yielding the results in the form of broadening work and disseminated pay which were anticipated.

The keystone, and the foundation as well, of the national recovery program is the prompt and intelligent expenditure of the public works fund amounting to $3,300,000,000.

The appropriation has been made. The fund is in existence and available for use. The good that would instantly flow from its distribution is conceded on all hands.

And yet the fund does not move. Something arrests its expenditure. It seems inaccessible—doomed to idleness. The machinery thus far devised for getting it to work creaks and turns on clumsy hinges.

Up to date this great help-bringing fund has not been allowed to function. It is a slacker in a situation which it was designed to serve and which it has the power to solve.

WHY IS THIS?

Is there some lack of capacity somewhere? Is the task too big for the men in charge of it? Are the means thus far employed and the measures thus far taken inadequate to their purpose?

The primary object of this fund is to start the resumption of activity in the heavier industries—those which are the foundation of broad industrial recovery, and the support of the so-called lighter or secondary industries which are concerned with the distribution of necessities such as clothing, shoes and furniture to consumers.

It is the latter which have accepted with the greatest promptness the NRA codes, assuming the costs of enlarged staffs and increased wages.

But if the basic and heavy industries of the country are permitted to languish, the activities at the surface of industry cannot long continue without slackening.

Equally fundamental with the public works feature of the national recovery program is the farm relief program.

Here again the projected measures of the government are lagging, seemingly for no reason except a lack of skill and energy in starting their operation.

There is reason to fear that ground is being lost and vital time is being wasted in the endeavor to smooth and reconcile relatively unimportant and even petty differences as to method and detail.

That baleful thing in all public effort called "paper work"—in other words, red tape—is tangling the feet of the administration and impeding its progress.

THIS AND ALL OTHER OBSTACLES MUST BE RESOLUTELY SWEPT OUT OF THE WAY!

WE MUST GET FORWARD—AT ALL COSTS, DESPITE ALL DIFFICULTIES AND REGARDLESS OF THE EXTRAORDINARY EXERTIONS WHICH MAY BE NECESSARY.

It is idle to expect that the provisions of the National Recovery Act can be maintained unless the basis of prosperity is laid by carrying out the public works program and the farm relief program.

DELAY IN THESE FUNDAMENTAL MATTERS IS JEOPARDIZING THE SUCCESS OF THE WHOLE RECOVERY PROGRAM.

Saving Children's Lives

The Essay Contest of the Better Traffic Committee Has Proved Its Value.

Observant citizens will learn with pleasure that the Better Traffic Committee has inaugurated another traffic safety essay contest for school children.

This is an important feature of the community's accident-prevention activities and has proved its value.

In 1923 one-fourth of the persons killed by automobiles in Pittsburgh were children. In the meantime six essay contests requiring the pupils in the public and parochial schools to study ways of avoiding traffic mishaps have been held. The ratio of children to adults in traffic fatalities has steadily decreased as a result of this study. Last year only one-seventh of those killed were children.

But of course there is need for much greater improvement.

Too Many Districts

Consolidation of Small Administrative Units Would Improve the Public School System.

One of the benefits of the Greater Pittsburgh plan, on which the citizens are to vote on November 7, is that it would permit the consolidation of administrative units of various kinds and thus reduce the cost of local government.

The school system also would benefit by consolidation of some of the smaller administrative units.

We have too many school districts in Allegheny County. Forty have no high schools, but send their children to high schools elsewhere and pay tuition. Two districts—Ben Avon Heights and Kilbuck Township—have no public schools of any kind, but send their children to adjoining districts.

Yet each of the districts has a school board and various paid officials—a secretary, a tax collector, an auditor, and a solicitor.

It cost $186,939 to collect the school taxes in Allegheny County outside of Pittsburgh two years ago. The same year Pittsburgh, with larger school tax revenues and better schools, paid only $37,306 as the cost of collection. Here is a concrete example of an economy that could be effected by consolidation.

If, as is expected in some quarters, Gov. Pinchot includes the financial relief of the public schools in the program for the special session of the Legislature in November, he might well press for legislation to reduce the number of districts.

With good roads and school buses we no longer need small districts.

Schools Now or Jails Later?

(Copyright, 1933.)

"Build schools today or jails later."

That grim warning was given to Uncle Sam recently on the eve of an emergency meeting of educators in Washington to "discuss means of assuring every child an education."

U. S. Commissioner of Education Zook said:

"It is estimated 100,000 children have been thrown back on the schools by the recovery codes, and the schools must find a way to handle them."

Charles A. Lee, Superintendent of Schools in Missouri, said:

"It costs $300 a year to keep a criminal. A good educational program can be provided at $50 a year per pupil. The government ought to be able to choose the better of these two possibilities."

Having abated child labor, Uncle Sam must keep the idle children off the streets and away from the breeding spots of crime.

The only way to accomplish that purpose is to provide adequate schools—and the public works program provides a medium.

Schools, built now, will increase employment when more jobs is a national objective.

Jails built in the years to come will signify a great national disaster.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Timid Husbands

The more civilized a man is, the more "afraid" he is of women. Particularly of his OWN women!

The savage gives his wife one look in the eye, and pronto she kneels down and ties his shoe lace or bathes his feet. The civilized man gives his wife one look in the eye, and promptly stops whatever he's doing—throws away his cigar, sets down his drink or ceases ogling the blonde across the room.

Why does a big He-man take off his shoes and tip-toe upstairs, when he happens to come in an hour or so after midnight? Why does he send the waiter to the telephone to say he's "just left," when he's sitting in and winning at a game of poker?

Why does he rush home from the office as though the probation officer were at his heels?

Why do men invent "alibis?" Why do they go into a huddle and plot and plan for weeks before a hunting or fishing trip? Why does one man get another to call him up "on important business," when he wants to get out with "the boys," evenings? How did the "sick-friend" story and the "had-to-work-late-at-the-office" story originate—and why?

* * *

Why does a man let his wife throw away all the treasured souvenirs of his college days and bachelor days, as soon as she marries him? Why does he give her the privilege of choosing his hats and telling him when to get a hair-cut?

* * *

Why does he have to invent a "business trip," whenever he just wants to go camping with a few old cronies?

"Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Wife" would be the logical Indian name for lots of perfectly good civilized husbands.

Of course, the truth is that no he-man is really afraid of a woman. He's afraid of a SCENE! He's afraid of hysterics. When he totters home from the office, all he wants is P-E-A-C-E! And peace and quiet. He can't bear the thought of an argument. And a shower of tears would give him the jitters!

If he loves his wife, he's afraid of losing her love. And if he doesn't, he's afraid of having to pay alimony. And the strange thing about it is, that the bigger and better and richer and more successful and intelligent he is, the more he is afraid of his wife.

* * *

Savages are not afraid of their women; racketeers are not afraid of their "molls;" and do-nothings, who live on their wives, are usually petulant tyrants around the house.

It's the successful, worth-while, devoted, he-man husbands who live in fear of their wives, and let some little half-portion woman bully and boss them.

CONCORD DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 25.—This compact city, so neatly approached over toylike bridges and ribbons of macadam, is set down in a leisurely sprawl among New Hampshire hills. A spreading panorama of fat, white hens, yard boxes of big brown eggs, black and white cows and screened side porches.

Orderliness is as spic and span as New England conscience. Streets are wide, residences amply lawned and business blocks of dull brick. On the sidewalks women with black finger gloves and straw-in-the-mouth males, puffing pipes and ejecting sly sprays in the gutter.

Splendor of its shade trees create a lacy shadowiness and soft benison of quiet. The profound tranquility of it all inspires as usual a feeling that much of the hoop-de-do of large cities is irrelevant. Concord attains the perfect provincialism.

The capital yard, too, stipples sturdiness with bronzes to John T. Hale, Franklin Pierce and Daniel Webster. In such sylvestered serenity a stranger is almost shocked by the gaudy red front of a five-and-ten. Life congeals into monotone. The auto horn seems a sacrilege.

Concord courtesy is celebrated. Wasn't it immortalized by James Russell Lowell? At a wayside igloo we halted for ice cream cones. After a 15-cent sale the owner watered the dogs and even wanted to ice-cream cone the gluttons. Departing he presented my wife with a flower and waved us out of sight.

I wanted to look in on a New Hampshire fox farm. But the instant we halted before it, the dogs roused suddenly out of naps, circling on the floor of the car, sniffing furiously and whining. I suspect atavism. Despite their duded up pedigrees, I imagine somewhere back in their miscellaneous lineage were a great grandpappy or so who were just ordinary houn' dawgs. They were so unmanageable we had to push on.

* * *

Pleasant View, fringing the residential section, is a large and stately memorial on the site of the former home of Mary Baker Eddy, founder of Christian Science. There is a background of swelling meadows, yellow with golden rod, and contemplative hills sweeping majestically up from the valley in which the many-winged structure rests.

The most surprisingly attractive town square is at Manchester N. H., a few miles away. Surrounded by an iron fence, painted green, it was so thick with clumps of trees that it offered the plush cool depths of Fountainbleau. Oddly, it was desolated.

New Hampshire hillsides revealed an angry aftermath of recent forest fires. Acres of charred black trees stood gauntly stripped, mute evidence of the searing holocaust. Concord is heart of the state's apple belt, producing 1,125 barrels a crop. And there will remain always a warm flush in memory for a long gurgle of Concord cider out of an earthen jug.

We dined in an ancient auberge near Nashua, Heon's Manor, which featured a venerable stage coach in its yard as signal of welcome. The food, excellent. A sausage with apple rings and bread flecked with raisins. "Bug bread" grandma called it. Further on we slept in a nameless "For Tourists" dwelling. The only break in the night's sanctity was the dawn blast of a hunter's conch. It was not many begats from the first attic room I remember on a Missouri farm.

* * *

The bedroom door was of heavy plank with hand wrought pegs. The roof slanting and the unpaved sidewalk out front revealed a sleeping collie. An old elm with circular bench at 7 a. m. had collected its clot of whittling gossipers. They were discussing the NRA. A parlor organ wheezed the current madrigal. All quite folksey!—and darn depressing if you ask me!

* * *

Best friends cannot be in close communion of touring long without mutual irritation. Harry Silvey, as in his stage days with Fritzi Scheff and Montgomery and Stone, is a handsome silver-haired galoot. But for two days he seems to me a combination of Bull Montana and Jo-Jo, the Bowery waiter. And I wish for Pete's sake he'd do something about that hang nail or quit nibbling at it.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

You have only one person to fear or fight.

"That isn't so!" you cry. "I've dozens; hundreds. All my life I've had to fear and fight people. I could talk all day telling about the people who've been mean to me—who've taken advantage of me—tried to hurt me."

Yes, I suppose you could. And every word which you might tell me would be perfectly true. Yet, I repeat—

YOU HAVE ONLY ONE PERSON TO FEAR OR FIGHT—

THERE IS ONLY ONE PERSON WHO SPOILS YOUR HAPPINESS, PREVENTS YOUR SUCCESS, ROBS YOU OF POWER AND PEACE.

AND THAT PERSON IS—YOURSELF!

You, yourself, are the only person whom you need fear or fight.

Still you don't believe it.

But you can prove it for yourself—if you have the honesty and courage.

Think back. Think back to any incident in your life. To that row you had with your sister-in-law. To the time your best friend double-crossed you—skipped out and left you holding his bad note. To that swell job you lost. To those wretched years of muddled marriage. Put yourself back into that moment, into that misery, again. Now tell me truly—WHOSE FAULT WAS IT?

Instantly you answer, "It was the other person's fault!"

But was it?

Think again. Yes, we'll admit that the "other person" was malicious, dishonest, unfair, disloyal, thoroughly contemptible. But was THAT why you got into that mess?

No, it wasn't.

IT WASN'T THE CUSSEDNESS IN THE OTHER FELLOW THAT GOT YOU INTO THAT MESS. IT WAS SOME WEAKNESS IN YOURSELF.

He or she might have been ten times as cussed, yet left you unharmed. But there was some trait in you, yourself, which involved you; which opened the door to that danger or disorder. And that trait began betraying you long before the actual rumpus started.

Perhaps you were conceited; fell for a flattering line.

Perhaps you were lazy or cowardly, trying to find a way out.

Perhaps you were greedy, grabbing off more than you could chew.

Perhaps you were sappy, alibiing your spinelessness with some sentimental excuse.

Or there may have been a score of different reasons—bad temper, fuzzy thinking, intolerance, envy, spite.

Whatever the reason, it was something in YOU, not something in the other fellow, which betrayed you into that situation.

AND THAT SAME TRAIT WILL BETRAY YOU CONTINUALLY INTO NEW AND WORSE MESSES, UNLESS AND UNTIL YOU WEED IT OUT.

Yes, I know; you don't want to admit it. It's hard to take. It's so much more comforting and convenient to hang the blame on the other fellow. But what's the use of kidding yourself? What is that kidding buying you? Or that blaming? Only more grief. It's no use trying to postpone the payoff. You'll never get your life straightened out until you face and act on one fact.

YOU, YOURSELF, ARE THE ONLY ONE YOU NEED TO FEAR OR FIGHT.

But aren't there circumstances beyond any man's control.

There are. Poverty, corruption, injustices, man's brutality to man, accidents, illnesses, losses, catastrophies, death itself—all these circumstances are largely beyond our control.

BUT THE SPIRIT WITH WHICH WE MEET THESE THINGS ISN'T BEYOND OUR CONTROL.

We can't decide what will happen to us but we can decide how we'll take it! Men may cheat us, life may cripple us, death may rob us—yet still we can live serenely, victoriously.

IF WE DON'T BETRAY OURSELVES!

The Human Side of the News

Lloyds Offers Insurance Against Kidnaping—Willing to Take Risks on All Sorts of Ventures

By EDWIN C. HILL

LLOYDS of London, most romantic and remarkable of all insurance organizations, celebrates this year its two hundred forty-fifth birthday, but remains as up to date as the latest radio tune. With a shrewd eye on American trade, Lloyds tackles the mathematical chances of kidnaping. It offers to bet 100 to 1 that a child will not be kidnaped and 125 to 1 that grownups will escape that misfortune. Policies are limited to $50,000 on children and $100,000 on adults. The insurance is handled in complete secrecy by one trusted agent who cables the names and facts to the new home of Lloyds in Leadenhall street, London.

Ready to gamble on anything in the world except death and horse racing, Lloyds remains today as it has been for two and a half centuries. Dating back to 1688, when Edward Lloyd ran a coffeehouse in Tower street, a tavern much frequented by merchants and seafaring men, Lloyds grew to become an association of underwriters, clubbed together like the brokers of the New York Stock Exchange and gathered under one roof.

It was originally, and primarily remains, an association for underwriting ships and their cargoes, and although other forms of insurance—and Lloyds accepts queer gambles—provide the picturesque and romantic aspects of its activities, the salty air of the sea pervades every nook and corner of the Leadenhall street house. There one may see the countless green volumes which record the name of every known ship for centuries past, and the fate, so far as is known, of that ship. And there, too, one may scan the green book for the current year, and the telegraph board which daily tells the tale of storms at sea, collisions, disablements, groundings and catastrophes, all reported by the 1,500 agents of Lloyds who are to be found wherever a ship's flag whips from a masthead.

Resent Suggestion Of Gambling

THERE are 1,200 underwriters who hold membership in Lloyds, and every man of them would raise an indignant British eyebrow if you so much as hinted that Lloyds ever gambled. Yet no institution the world ever knew has been so willing to assume huge and fantastic risks, or lay any sum from a sovereign to a million pounds against the spinning wheel of destiny.

Lloyds has laid 1,000 to 1 against the likelihood of parents having twins. It insured an innkeeper at odds of 400 to 1 against England ever going dry. In 1930 Lloyds offered the odds of 50 to 1 that Bobby Jones would not win all four of the major titles of golf, the British Open and Amateur, and the United States Open and Amateur. When Bobby came through to sweep the field Lloyds paid more than $250,000 to a group of gentlemen down in Atlanta, Georgia.

The onetime theatrical firm of Cohan & Harris once collected $50,000 from Lloyds when the then youthful John Barrymore took unto himself a wife in the midst of the theatrical year. The smile of a comedian, the fingers of a pianist and of a violinist, the voice of a singer, the chances of static wrecking a radio program—all these have been covered by policies issued by the old house.

One of the strangest policies of all was taken out by a British peer who paid a premium of $5,000 for a $50,000 policy insuring him against his niece eloping within a year. The young lady did not elope and the peer lost his $5,000, but possibly prevented an undesirable marriage. The odds were seven to one against Gertrude Ederle swimming the English Channel, and precisely the same against the stability of the Spanish throne in 1911.

Bell Is Tolled For Lost Ships

THE entrance to the house in Leadenhall street is guarded by an official wearing a red robe and gold-banded hat. Once past this picturesque outer guard, the visitor enters the club in full sight of the raised platform where another official tolls the bell of the long-lost treasure ship Lutine. One toll for an overdue ship that has been reported; two tolls for a ship that is given up for lost.

On the wall hangs the most curious relic in possession of the club, the insurance policy issued in 1813 on the life of Napoleon. The policy ran for a month and carried a premium of $15. But in spite of the Iron Duke and the Prussians the individual who took out the policy never collected, for Napoleon neither ceased to exist nor was taken prisoner during the life of the document.

It is hard to conceive of a risk against which Lloyds will not insure. When King Edward was dying in 1902 Lloyds offered policies on his life for six days at 30 per cent, and for 14 days at 50 per cent. The ostensible reason for such insurance was that the death of the King would be a shock to British business, and might produce international complications of a costly nature to industry and commerce.

At the time of the coronation of Edward, Lloyds wrote policies for merchants and shopkeepers who realized that they would face large losses if, by some untoward circumstance, the coronation festivities should be canceled. Lloyds gave liberal odds, figuring that nothing less than a hurricane would halt the coronation, but the club lost heavily because the illness of the King caused a postponement of the program. Sometimes the losses are enormous. In one year, 1923, Lloyds was in the red for $23,000,000.

One celebrated and amusing instance of Lloyds refusing to take a chance was in 1908, when a firm of New York dressmakers requested a policy safeguarding it against loss on a shipment of Directoire gowns from Paris. But Lloyds said no. It was willing to take chances with acts of Providence. It was willing to gamble with earthquake, fire, flood and storm, or any perversity of Nature. But it would have nothing to do with a woman's whims or eccentricities in fashion. There, said Lloyds of London, was something quite beyond the realm of reason or mathematics.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

A word to middle-aged women!

Gray hair and wrinkles do not provide a very good background for extremes in dress and coiffure, face coloring and a too modern hat.

The markings of age and the years that have passed make your present life a tragedy, and you want to fight the inroads of nature.

You are willing to adopt any means that promises to make you look younger and prettier.

But very often you find the much advertised beauty measure makes you appear ridiculous rather than younger.

Persons who might not otherwise think of or remark about your age and your wrinkles allude pretty generally to your inappropriate costumes and general get up.

Of course it is well to keep young in spirit, and this will do much to retain your popularity, unless it's carried too far.

Crow's feet and kittenish actions do not go well together.

Trying to make a girlish figure out of a middle-aged form only emphasizes the facts you wish to hide.

Intelligent conversation, interest in the things of today and absence of complaints about persons and things will do much to make middle age pleasing.

Isn't It So?

A scheme is merely a plan that fell through.

Prosperity can heal a lot of cuts—salary cuts.

Our virtues are most frequently but vices in disguise.

Usually we praise only to be praised.
